THE LOCAL NEWS

Miss Daisy L. Hard, county superintendent of school, spent part of last and all of this week visiting the schools in and adjacent to Newport.

A team of horses was stolen in broad daylight from C. H. Thomson Wednesday afternoon. A warrant for the arrest of the culprits was issued out of Justice Perkin's court Thursday morning and every effort is being made to locate them.

Mrs. Della Rea and daughter Mabel of Kettle Falls were in the city visiting friends the first half of the week.

H. R. Spedden returned early this week from Olympia, where he was in attendance at the special session of the legislative body.

While he was chopping stove wood Wednesday night a piece of wood struck C. H. Thomson, who lives near Lane & Bronson's sawmill, on the forehead, knocking him down and disabling him to such an extent that he was unable to work for a couple of days.

Mrs. McKinley, aged about 60 years, died at her home at White Mud last week Friday evening. She was buried at the Highland cemetery Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, services being conducted by Rev. G. H. Wilbur.

Miss Georgia Osborn, stenographer for the consolidated abstract offices in Spokane, spent this week visiting with friends in Colville and vicinity. She was accompanied by her sister Miss Lilly.

Elmer Peterson, abstractor, of Spokane visited over Sunday at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Olaus Peterson.

O. H. Gilmore, of the White Lake country, reports that he has a stand of winter barley which is doing exceptionally well. At one time he thought it had been winter killed, but the stand this year is phenomenal. The White Lake section has the soil to produce the best.

Geo. E. Smith, deputy sheriff at Cusick, brought J. James to the county seat last Saturday on a charge of burglary.

Mrs. Annie E. Rock of Wick-cliff, Ohio, arrived last Saturday for a visit with her sister Mrs. E. M. Laury.

Marshal Paradis arrested a vendor of dress goods last Thursday forenoon who was trying to avoid paying the license fee by keeping on the outskirts of town. He willingly paid the fee after his arrest, claiming that he was ignorant of the new law. On Wednesday of last week he was arrested in Springdale by the local marshal and paid the license fee, pleading ignorance in that instance also. It is probable that he is hawking his wares, which are inferior, in the towns north of Colville, where he went Friday morning.

A. F. Crowell, horticultural inspector for district 10, comprising Stevens and Ferry counties, was in Colville Wednesday on his way north. For four years he was inspector in Spokane county, but believes that Stevens county has advantages in raising fine fruit which no other section in the state can claim. He commenced his work June 15, and has headquarters at Kettle Falls.

At the grange picnic Saturday at the fair grounds a very large attendance participated in the festivities, which included an address by the Rev. James Kramar of Spokane. His address, which dealt somewhat with the local option issue, was enthusiastically received, and the petition for the local option issue to be presented to the people was circulated and signed generally. At noon the exhibit building was thrown open and the long tables used for horticultural displays at the fair were laden with viands the full length of 150 feet. In the afternoon there were many amusements, including races on the track, singing and dancing.

The Free Methodist campmeeting came to a close Sunday evening after 10 days of most successful meetings. There were a number of conversions, and those who had the meetings in charge state that it was the best campmeeting ever held in the conference. About $160 was raised for missionary work, $150 or more for school work, and a considerable amount for the pastors and workers. Those who assisted in charge of the meetings were Rev. and Mrs. M. Clark, missionaries returned from Bombay, Indiana; Rev. and Mrs. Beers of Seattle, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Boddy of Spokane, Rev. and Mrs. Clink of Chewelah, Rev. and Mrs. Daily of Daisy, Rev. Debusk of Arden, Rev. and Mrs. I. D. Brown and Rev. A. Bean of Colville. There were 24 tents on the grounds, and about 100 people encamped there.

Lost—Pocketbook, June 28, on street in Colville, $5 bill and about $2 in change. Reward at telephone office.

Mrs. Matilda Peterson has purchased from Charles Adams lot 11, block 13, for $600. This is the lot south of the Peterson home. The sale was made through J. H. Young & Co.

Colville's growth this spring is the wonder of traveling men generally, who predict that Colville will easily reach the 5,000 mark in the next five years at the present rate of increase or even more conservatively than the growth this spring would seem to warrant. "Colville is the best town for business on my run," is the general trend of conversation with any of the "knights of the grip" whose business calls them here. With work on the razing of the old H. W. Silke building almost completed and the owners of several other old frame buildings figuring on the cost of erecting brick and concrete structures in their stead, it would appear that our population will be 5,000 in a considerably less time than the five years allotted.

City Council

At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, Police Magistrate Perkins reported five cases brought before him during June, and $75 assessed in fines.

City attorney instructed to notify the telephone company that all telephone wires within the city limits be raised to a height of 27 feet above the streets. Bid of the Roman Stone and Manufacturing Company accepted to furnish sewer or culvert pipe at 85c per linear foot.

Ordered that the water system be extended to Buckley addition.

Ordered that cement crosswalks be laid on Still street at intersection of Main.

W. S. Prindle made councilman from third ward to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Ed Gibson.

Treasurer Parks reported $500.80 water collections for June.

Water Commissioner Murray reported considerable work done on the water systems during June.

Day Marshal Paradis reported 6 arrests during June, and $41.12 in fines collected by labor; $29.05 collected from impounded stock; $48.85 collected for constructing sidewalks.

Francis W. Cushman of Tacoma, representative in congress from the second Washington congressional district, died early Tuesday morning in New York from pneumonia, following a minor operation performed early last week. Mr. Cushman, who was known as an able orator, was born May 5, 1867, at Brighton, Washington county, Iowa; was educated principally at the local high school and at Pleasant Plain Academy, Jefferson county, Iowa. He assisted himself in securing an education by working in the summer time as a "water boy" on the railroad and attending school in the winter. After completing his education he worked for a period as a section hand on the railroad; later, at the age of 16, moving to the then territory of Wyoming, where he worked for five years as a cowboy, in a lumber camp, teaching school and studying law. He then moved to Nebraska where he was admitted to both the district and supreme court bars of that state. In 1891 he moved to Washington and took up his residence in Tacoma, where he engaged in the practice of law. Prior to election he never held or was a candidate for any office, elective or appointive. He was elected six successive times to congress.
