

ICE-CREAM

Ever hear of the small boy who said he didn't know much about freezing ice cream but that he was great on thawing it?

Little work or knowledge is necessary to use one of our ice cream freezers. An inexperienced person can make ice cream that is deliciously smooth and mellow, and that will fairly melt in your mouth, thus making hot weather a pleasure instead of a discomfort.

We have all sizes from one gallon up.

Make your own ice cream. It is far better and cheaper.

This room in addition to their present store will give the Casey Co. a floor space of 6125 square feet.

The Goetter building, which was erected 16 years ago and was the third brick building in Colville, was built on what was then the official street grade. Since then the street grade has been changed a number of times and now Mr. Goetter finds his building 12 inches above grade. Therefore as a matter of convenience for himself and his customers and the saving of time besides increasing the dimensions of his room. Mr. Goetter is lowering the floor to the level of the side walk.

At a recent meeting of The Colville Rod and Gun Club the question of fishing with prepared salmon eggs was discussed at length. One of the members who is considered authority on fishing stated that aside from being altogether unsportsman like to use this artificial bait, it would eventually deplete the small streams of all game and food fish. He went on to say that with the use of salmon eggs the small fish were being caught by the hundreds in open violation of law, whereas if artificial flies or ordinary bait was used these minnows from three to six inches long could not be caught. An effort will be made to induce all dealers in fishing tackle to refrain from handling this unfair and destructive bait. The various rod and gun clubs throughout eastern Washington are now inaugurating a campaign against the use of this bait, and will use their efforts with the state game commission to draft a bill to be presented to the next legislature making it a misdemeanor to sell or use this or any other prepared bait.

For several months the socialists have adopted the plan of holding every-other-Sunday evening services at the opera house, securing speakers on various subjects, but mostly dealing with economics, and occasionally with socialism alone. Last Sunday evening Editor H. L. Hughes of the Spokane Labor World spoke for an hour and a half on economics, and it was one of the best addresses ever heard in Colville. It was a cool and collected argument on the industrial situation, dealing little with politics, but largely with human beings. He is the secretary of the Spokane charities commission, and one of the brainy men of the city, has had excellent opportunity for studying the economic status. It is the intention of the socialist local to secure the best speakers available for their every-other-Sunday night meetings. Everybody is invited. The lectures are free.

Game warden H. C. Masterson who has just returned from an extended trip through the southern part of the county states that owners of dams, flumes and irrigating ditches are now complying with the law by installing proper fish-ways, ladders and screens. He also reports that the bob-white quail are propagating very rapidly in various parts of the county. The county commissioners are making arrangements to purchase another consignment of these game birds, which will be distributed by the game warden in suitable sections throughout the county. It has been reported to the game warden that the law is being violated by both boys and men by shooting song birds as well as protected game birds. The game warden herewith issues the following notice: "Whereas for the past 30 days I have posted notices and duly warned hunters and fishermen as to the state fish and game laws, I will hereafter expect a strict adherence to these laws. All boys under 14 years of age will be prosecuted for carrying fire arms. All men are required to have in their possession a 1912 hunting licence. And any person violating any of the state fish or game laws will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Signed, H. C. Masterson, county game warden."

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Andrews of South Baisin were seriously poisoned last Monday by eating what they thought were mushroom. Scarcely had they eaten the vegetables when they were seized with cramps and convulsions; neighbors were called but could give no relief. But for the timely arrival of a physician with powerful emetics, both would have died from the effects of the vegetable poisoning.

Miss Edith Cattle, living near Black Lake, when riding on horseback to Colville last Thursday was met a few miles from home by a big brown bear, the animal refusing to give the road. The horse became frightened and went rearing and plunging through the woods. The girl returned on the road to the cabin but found no one at home. She again returned toward town and found the big monster still holding the right of way, but finally walked into the jungle allowing the horse and rider to pass on their way.

When Colville Visits

In speaking of the 4th of July ball games at Chewelah, the Independent thus sums up the Colville people and the Colville ball team:

"Again the Colville bunch have branded themselves as cheap sports. And it has been ever thus from the introduction of baseball into this part of the country. If Colville could not win a game honestly they would resort to various small tricks and in the event they lost, or saw any chance of losing, they would lay down. It shows that they have a well developed yellow streak, and as soon as they recover sufficient courage, the local boys will likely hand them another bouquet of the grapefruit."

Thus Colville gets credit for sending 200 people and 10 autos to the 4th celebration; paying $1 a night each for sleeping three in a bed; paying twice as much for ball team meals as Colville charges; finding cash for gate receipts $30 short; being refused the hotel rooms which had been promised; being jeered for refusing to stay another day when no arrangements had been made for another day's game; having Chewelah declared the "Champions of Stevens County" by winning 1 game out of 6 this year and 2 out of 7 last year.

It looks as though Colville better stay home after this, instead of trying to be nice to its neighboring town. No teams have trouble when they come to Colville, for Colville demands a gentlemanly team, a responsible management of finances, and the most courteous treatment accorded to all visitors. These things have brought the best teams in the Inland Empire to Colville, and the largest crowds of spectators ever assembled at a ball game in the county, and they have gone away pleased. If Colville cannot visit a town without having trouble, the visits better cease until other men have charge of arrangements in the neighboring town.

Mail Carriers Will Fly.

This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air; soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's new discovery for coughs, colds and other throat diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, of Stickney Corner, Me., "after doctors' treatment and all other remedies had failed." For coughs, colds or any bronchial affection it's unequalled. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Frank B. Goetter's.

Orchard Tracts.

Mow is your best time to buy orchard land in 10 and 20 acre tracts, while the market is dull, and prices are low. I have several 10 acre tracts near Colville at $35 an acre for a short time. One 20 acre tract $40 acre. Three 10 acre tracts at $50 acre. One 40 acre tract for $75 acre. A 57 acre tract, heavy with fir and tamarack timber, for $35 acre. These are the biggest bargains you will ever find. See me. M. C. Kelly, Colville.
