

Bank of Colville

Offices: Colville and Kettle Falls
Capital $100,000.00

The business relationship of Bank and customer should become more satisfactory as time goes on. The confidence that is essential to satisfactory business relationship is not won in a moment, but should become stronger as the banker becomes more intimately acquainted with the needs and wishes of his customer.

As ever, at your service

Heed the Cough that Hangs On.
The seeds of consumption may be the cause, and a cough that hangs on weakens the system. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound checks the cough, heals the inflamed membranes and strengthens the lungs. E. D. The Business Outlook

The past three months, making up the first calendar quarter of the year 1913, have been unusually eventful. The presidential inauguration, the Balkan war, the Mexican rebellions, the prospective tariff changes and income tax, the tornadoes and floods with their consequent terrific destruction of life, and the death of Mr. J. P. Morgan, all have combined in keeping the people in an expectant and somewhat doubtful mental condition.

Business has been good, the combined activity in all lines producing a total far above the average and which has been exceeded not more than twice in our business history.

So far business has been in no way unsettled by any move of the new administration. On the contrary, confidence in the sanity of the present administration in the carrying out of democratic promises has increased since inauguration day. The tariff will undoubtedly take up most of the time of the special session of congress and some notable decreases will be made. A large number of decreases in the several schedules will be thrown in for good measure, which decrease will have practically no effect upon the respective commodities. One much talked of and promised reduction affects a commodity which is not manufactured anywhere but in the United States and no shipment of which ever came to this country. It is impossible to say what the effect will be of placing raw wool, lumber, coal, and iron ore on the free list. Such a move must have its effect upon these industries but as any material reduction in the price of these commodities must carry with it a reduction in the wages of the producing laborers, it is not likely that any great change in prices will result.

There are two essentials necessary to success in modern business: First, to have the goods at reasonable prices; and, second, to let the public know it. Many local merchants throughout the country are inclined to consider advertising an expense, whereas, the mail order houses consider it an investment from which they derive big dividends, and they further realize that without advertising they would soon cease to exist. The advantage in the use of advertising is greatly in favor of the home merchant, inasmuch as he should know his own trade better, and as the money he expends for advertising rarely leaves the community and the merchant again receives a considerable portion of it directly or indirectly.

Many a man wants to paddle his own canoe by proxy.

A weekly summary of events of interest to Kettle Falls and the Upper Columbia River Valley, the garden spot of the great Northwest

E. J. Curry and wife left Tuesday for Vulcan, Ariz., where they expect to locate land.

The squirrel hunt being conducted by the Columbia Rod and Gun Club will continue till Monday night. All members of the club have been chosen by Capt. Bowes or Capt. Jacobs and many of the hunters are carrying around squirrel tails in their pockets and have "tales" to tell of dead squirrels that crawled down holes just as they were about to be picked up by the deadly marksman.

O. A. Atwood arrived Monday from the "Windy City" and a strong wind immediately sprang up from the south. We are glad to have the "Chief Booster" with us again, but object to this wind which is stronger than has been experienced by the "oldest inhabitant."

Numerous auto parties visited the falls last Sunday. The scenic grandeur of the Columbia as it pours over the rocky barrier at the Kettle falls, never fails on those who have opportunity to visit this picturesque place. The waters are fast encroaching on the famous "kettles" and 6 weeks more will probably see higher water in the river than has been for years.

Frank H. Putnam and Albert C. Putnam have returned from Denver to their ranches in the neighborhood of Gifford.

H. H. Cole received a shipment of 300 trees from the Hanford nursery of which Chas. J. Webb is resident agent. With this block of trees Mr. Cole will complete his tree planting, having an orchard of some 20 acres. The first trees planted will come into bearing this year. As most of the orchard is above the level of the road, it does not show up what can be accomplished in 4 years when viewed from the front. But a trip over the ranch will satisfy any one that the owner of Overview is entitled to the name, "Fruitgrower."

Larsen & Kelley are out with an announcement that they are changing to a cash basis after May 1st. They say they will sell at a figure that will be attractive to customers who can produce the cash and will continue to reduce prices as fast as the democratic party will make it possible.

I am 7 years in Kettle Falls and no one ever saw me leaning up against a hitching post.—Uncle Heine.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian church was held Monday evening and officers elected for the ensuing year as follows: Trustees, J. M. Williams, I. Garthe, Herm Keyser; elder for 3 year term, A. M. Gill; treasurer, Etta F. Wareing. Reports were received from the several departments of the church. The financial statement showed all bills paid to April 1st.

According to observations made by O. A. Atwood on his trip west from Chicago, the tide of immigration is stopping short of the Rocky Mountains this year on account of the large amount of government land thrown open for settlement in Montana. The railways have agents working among the American settlers in Canada, and many of the latter who just went to Canada to get some land for their boys are returning to Uncle Sam's territory. A special feature is made of the Montana lands.

The largest amount of mail that was ever handled in one day in the Kettle Falls postoffice was on April 19, 1913; There being a total of over 2600 lbs received on the above date.

The man with a poor memory should stick to the truth. All ladies are presumed to always tell the truth.

People living across the Columbia from Kettle Falls are complaining of the nuisances and damage they are subject to on account of some who own stallions and bulls in allowing them to run at large. The animals in question are not only dangerous to children and ladies but a damage to those who wish to improve their stock. It is understood the law prohibits these animals running at large. A notice of this kind was requested hoping it would cause a cessation of the nuisance.

Tuesday evening a yearling heifer was found dead in the woods about one third mile north of the Michael store on the west side of the Columbia. Its appearance would indicate it had been dead two or three days. This item is run for the benefit of the owner who may have missed the animal, at a loss to know what had become of it.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles have yielded to Doan's Ointment; 50 cents at all drug stores.—Adv.

St. Peter's church—Service for 5th Sunday after Easter. Morning prayer and sermon, 11 a. m. Subject "Beyond the Grave." "The beggar died, and in hell he lift up his eyes." Luke 16: 22. Everyone cordially invited to attend this service. Henry J. Purdue, archdeacon of Spokane.

The "Sandtown" high school team played circles around the Colville boys in the Wednesday game. Score 12 to 5 and a half inning to spare. The Sandtown ball track's nine miles long for the Colville lads. In several innings their first man up reached first but failed to get round.

The city clean-up wagon collected eleven loads of boxes and barrels of refuse which was gathered by citizens during the annual clean-up—and yet we are not sanitary enough to suit the eagle eye of our health officer. Dr. Greenwald sees many places where the job could be improved on.

The Woodard livery business in this place has been sold to Fred Knight.

The largest real estate movement in several months at Kettle Falls was on Monday, the 21st.

A young man of questionable reputation suddenly left Kettle Falls one evening last week on short notice. Reports say a poker, or some other game similar was in progress. The young man in question was "the banker." The amount of about $25 was in his hands when he asked a looker-on to "take his hand" a moment while he stepped out. He vanished. His victims are still looking for him. Except his losers no one seems to regret his departure. Kettle Falls has lost one of its undesirable.

Mr. Dewey, a banker of Toulon, Illinois, who owns a large acreage near Sherman creek in Ferry Co., is having about 25 acres prepared for orchard. The leading commercial varieties will be planted. Wm. Jennings is the man behind the plow.

An enterprising young man in Kettle Falls, with an eye for a profitable investment, is advocating the formation of a stock company with a capital of $500,000 for the purpose of extracting the silver from the silver linings of the clouds. There are millions in it if you can save silver enough.

Clothes don't make the woman, especially if the woman makes her own clothes.

The ball game on Sunday was a cause of one disaster. In some way E. M. Fish managed to get his nose in the way of the ball. This necessitated the care of a physician in repairing the damages. The nose was considerably mused up, some bones being broken. The position of the spectator, in this instance, was more dangerous than the player in the game.

William Shakespeare and one of the managers of the Scimitar were born on April 23d. Nothing like fame.

It is mighty hard to stand up for your rights without stepping on somebody's else toes.

Recommended for a Good Reason.
C. H. Grant, 230 Waverly street, Peoria, Ill., says: "Backache and congested kidneys made me suffer intense pains. Was always tired, and floating specks bothered me. Took Foley Kidney Pills and saw big improvement after third day. I kept on until entirely freed from trouble and suffering. That's why I recommend Foley Kidney Pills. They cured me." Carroll Drug Company.—Adv.

The ball game on Sunday between Colville and Kettle Falls was without doubt the most interesting game ever played here. The score of 6 to 6 in a game of 14 innings, neither party scoring after the 8th inning. The boys will try it out again on next Sunday, the 27th, in Colville. The contest promises to be a hard one, and will undoubtedly call out a large crowd.

Rheumatism as a result of kidney trouble, stiff and aching joints, backache and sore kidneys will all yield to the use of Foley Kidney Pills. They are tonic in action, quick in results, curative always. W. S. Skelton, Stanley, Ind., says: "I would not take $100 for the relief from kidney trouble I received from one single box of Foley Kidney Pills." Carroll Drug Company.—Adv.

Kettle Falls or Columbia river subscribers not receiving their paper regularly, or at the correct address, should notify the Kettle Falls management. Sample copies may be secured at this office, and orders for subscriptions or job work will be attended to.

For any pain, burn, scald or bruise, apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil—the household remedy. Two sizes, 25 cents and 50 cents, at all drug stores.—Adv.

All comrades of the G. A. R. are requested to be present at Headquarters Saturday, April 26, at 2 p. m. to welcome our Dept. Comdr., Comrade R. R. Harding and Dept. Pres. W. R. C. Ella D. Zinn as our guests. An open meeting will be held with everybody invited. J. V. Reid, Comdr. Chas. Rimars, Adjt.

Stevens Co. Pomona Grange

The Stevens County Pomona Grange will hold the regular quarterly meeting at Northport on Tuesday, May 6. Let every one come out and enjoy a rousing and instructive meeting. Sam Matson, secretary.

Bluebird vs. Sparrow

A large influx of bluebirds into this region has been noticed by bird-lovers in the past few years. But in the past two years the common English sparrow has also made his advent. Residents who know the sparrow of old in other states say he will in a short time drive out the more desirable birds. No bird is more attractive than the bluebird, and none more active in the lawn or garden consuming bugs and worms. The sparrow is a pest and a nuisance. His chatter and monotonous chirp is a bore. He goes in flocks and so is more than a match in fight with any other small bird. He pesters persistently and even invades the nests of breeding birds. Would that we had a doughty sparrow exterminator in Kettle Falls!

Notice to Farmers

The Department of Botany of the State College of Washington is prepared to do seed testing for the people of the state of Washington. Seeds will be tested both for adulteration and viability.

In order that the work may be as accurate as possible care should be exercised in selecting samples to make the sample representative of the whole lot of seed under question. The sample should be made up of seed taken from several places in the general bulk of the seed.

Samples of small seed such as blue grass, timothy, lettuce, radish, etc. should contain not less than one ounce. Samples of larger seeds such as wheat, peas, beans, etc. should contain not less than four ounces.

Samples should be accompanied by the following information: Name of sender, address of sender; date, name under which seed was sold, name of seller, address of seller, price paid, when grown, where grown.

There are no charges for making the tests. Samples should be securely packed and sent by parcels post to Ira D. Cardiff, State college of Washington, Pullman.
