

The Significance of An Interest Paying Period

JULY 1st, the Bank of Colville credited to the accounts of its savings depositors, a great fund which these accounts earned as interest since the first of the year.

This is done on the first days of January and July of each year.

Such an occasion should be one of pleasure to the thoughtful man or woman—it signifies industry, thrift and most of all it is an absolute assurance of SUCCESS. The only kind of men and women the present-day business institution requires are those with foresight enough to conserve their own resources.
