DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Colville People to Neglect

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they so often get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health will be gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease often follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, which are so strongly recommended right here in this locality.

W. L. Wolter, editor of "Beobachter," Pittville, Wash., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been very satisfactory and I advise anybody who is in need of a good, reliable kidney medicine to take them. My back was so lame and stiff I could hardly straighten after stooping. Sharp pains would seize me in my kidneys, too. It took only two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills to fix up my back as good as ever. That was about seven years ago and I have never had any trouble from my back or kidneys since."

The above is not an isolated case. Mr. Wolter is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Wolter had. 50c all stores. The Tuesday night surgical dressings unit, which is composed of business girls who cannot do the work in the daytime, has an average of eighteen or twenty working at each meeting. The rooms are open each afternoon and workers are urgently needed to complete the large amount of work which lies before the local women. There has been a mistaken idea prevalent in regard to this line of service, some being under the impression that fees were demanded. There are no fees and the work is arranged so that a woman may come in and work any afternoon she desires and there will be supervisors there to show her how to make the dressings. At present there are few besides those in the original class that are giving any time to making the dressings and there is a large order that must be completed soon. "We need workers" is the cry of the few who are making use of the surgical dressings rooms.

Born within sight of the castle of the Hohenzollern family, and a student of German history, Rev. Schlauch of the Baptist church of Colville will give an address on "The Rise of Prussianism" at the union service Sunday night at 8 o'clock, which promises to be of unusual interest. The rise of the family who would control the world is a history full of conquest and annexation by force, and a large audience is expected to be present to hear the story of it told by the Rev. Schlauch.

Rev. George E. Kline, pastor of the Free Methodist church of Colville, left Monday for Walla Walla to attend the annual meeting of the Columbia River Conference which will end April 7. Mrs. Kline accompanied him and Mrs. P. B. Dingle went also as delegate to the conference. The conference area includes the Inland Empire and its membership at large. Rev. Kline states that his charge has enjoyed unusual prosperity during the year 1917-18, many additions having been made to its membership which now numbers in excess of 77. The old church building which was built as early as 1892, has been remodeled—in fact, rebuilt—at a cost of between $1500 and $2000, and a new cottage parsonage added to the grounds at a cost of about $1250. The grounds about the church have also been graded and lawned to harmonize with the other good work of the pastor who enjoys exceeding popularity not only among the members of his congregation but with the people of the city as well.

Do you like to see things improve? Well, just go by St. John's Episcopal church on 5th avenue and see the side yard ready for a lovely green lawn, and the east end of the church lot all put in for a garden. Then wait, for you ought to see how hard work on the part of loyal friends, with willing hands and loving hearts have changed the inside of the church to such an attractive house of prayer and worship.

PATRIOTIC APPEAL

As chairman for Stevens county for the third Liberty loan drive I earnestly appeal to everyone to lighten the work of the committee in your district by either handling or mailing your subscription of bonds to your local chairman. This is not entirely the committee's war any more than it is yours. These committeemen are giving their time and energy without pay or hope of pay. You know how much you should loan to your government to help win this war and it should not be necessary for the committee to wait on you to ask you to do what you know it is your duty to do. I, therefore, urge you, on behalf of the committee in your district, that you hand in your subscription voluntarily during the week of April six to thirteen, which is honor week in this drive.

GEORGE W. PEDDYCORD, Chairman Third Liberty Loan.

FISHING SEASON OPEN.
April 1st opened the season for game fish and all the local anglers have been busy preparing for the big event, in fact, unusual eagerness seems to be manifested this season. It is because they consider it their duty to save bacon that they welcome the fish season, or is it the old hankering to feel the rod in their hands again and the quick strike with its resulting thrill?

That fly-fishing is about thirty days earlier than usual is the opinion of Chauncey St. Clair, who made a few casts in Mill creek Wednesday afternoon. He brought home about fifty small trout, mostly eastern brook and two or three mountain trout. There were many flies on the water, he said, and he caught one trout with a fly, so it would seem that fly-fishing would be somewhat earlier than usual.

Stevens county has many enthusiastic sportsmen and many streams and lakes in which to indulge their fondness for fishing. Early in the season salmon eggs, alewives, etc. are good in the streams. The lakes this year will probably be free of ice early. Cutthroat, rainbow, and eastern brook trout are the principal varieties in the streams. The mountain trout, the native trout which is particularly good eating, is becoming scarcer. Perch are found in the Colville river and bass are found in Loon and Deer lakes. The Dolly Varden, whitefish and silver trout are caught in the Columbia on the western boundary of the county.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.
Warwick Stewart, former Colville high school boy, writes to his mother, Mrs. L. P. Stewart, from Canacao in the Philippines where he is guard at the high power radio station. When Warwick enlisted in the marine corps, he thought that that meant action, but still he says he must swallow his disappointment and console himself with the thought that many of the boys would not even get out of the United States.

"We are about a mile and a half from Covite," he writes. "Covite is a queer old Spanish town. Parts of the old Spanish fort are still in evidence and Dewey's big battle took place near here. Marines and sailors are about the only white people around here. We have a real home here in Canacao now. The first I have slept in since I left Mare Island."

"It costs twenty cents Mexican or ten cents gold carametto fare to go there. Carametto is a two wheeled rig drawn by a Shetland pony. They ramble right along, believe me. My laundry costs me three pesos or $1.50 a month for all I have had and a native shines my shoes, scrubs and polishes my leg-gins and equipment belt, makes up my bunk, fixes the mosquito net on it for two pesos a month. In fact, he is sort of a valet for the bunch of us."

"We finished making a shark net a few days ago and I have a beautiful case of sunburn. Believe me, the sun is some warm here."

SECURES GOOD HOME.
There are two worlds to the boys of the state training school—one called the "inside" and the other is the great unknown "outside." One boy was made happy this week by being taken to the "outside" and given an opportunity of becoming a part of a real home, such as a state institution cannot be.

Charles Curtis was not sent to the training school at Chehalis because he was a bad boy. He went there two years ago because he was an orphan with no other place to go. He has been somewhat of a favorite at the school, but it is not the place for an eleven-year-old boy who is not delinquent. What a boy needs is a home, and Probation Officer Petty has helped Charlie to find one.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chopot who live on a farm near Colville had asked Mr. Petty to find them a boy between the ages of eight and twelve that they might take with a view to future adoption. Mr. Petty wrote to the training school and they recommended Charles Curtis, who arrived in Colville this week.

His attractive earnestness has won him friends from the very beginning and Charles, who has not had a nickle to spend for the past two years, came into the munificent fortune of over two dollars. It would look pretty big to anyone who had not had five cents for that long a period.

Charles will have a fine home with Mr. and Mrs. Chopot who love children and will give him what he has missed. Charles is one of the several boys who have found their way into real homes through Mr. Petty, who has been called the "King of Kids."

Mrs. Arthur H. Kiesling and son Robert of Bossburg were in Colville shopping and visiting friends Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Kiesling formerly lived in Spokane, but recently bought the W. A. Richmond place three miles above Bossburg and will convert it into a modern diversified farm.

Miss Artie McNeil of Boyds and Mrs. Ruby Clawson of Colville were operated for appendicitis this week at the Harvey hospital.

Capt. C. J. Rhode expects to leave the Harvey hospital today, after his operation for appendicitis.

Attorney J. A. Rochford left last week for Chicago on business and to see his daughter Ynez who is under surgical treatment.

The following teachers have been employed for the grades in the Colville schools: Anna Sherwood, Helen Aspend, Mabelle Baughman, Anne Hart and Lillian Boyce. The other teachers will be elected at an early date. There is no shortage of applications and it will be possible to complete the teaching staff with well prepared, experienced teachers.

Mrs. Prudence A. Jones, aged eighty years, died in Colville Saturday, March 30, 1918. She had been born in Illinois and was a widow. The body was shipped to Spokane by undertaker Quinn W. McCord and interred in Greenwood cemetery in the suburbs of that city. The remains were accompanied to their last resting place by a grandson, who is a conductor on the Great Northern railway out of White Fish, Montana. A son of the deceased woman has been station agent for the Great Northern at Marcus and Addy in recent years.

The Colville schools were closed two days and a half this week beginning Wednesday afternoon, owing to the teachers attending the Inland Empire Teachers' Association meeting in Spokane.

Joseph C. Wood, aged eighty seven years, died Friday, March 29, 1918, at his ranch, eight miles east of Colville. He had been born in New York state, and was a farmer. His wife died several years ago. Funeral services in Colville March 30, with Rev. George E. Kline and Undertaker Quinn W. McCord in charge. Interment in Highland cemetery.

Sergeant John May, who has been in Colville on a furlough for several days, left yesterday for duty at Camp Lewis where he is with company B, 316 motor supply trains.

B. H. Rothwell of Colville left for Marble Thursday night to take charge of a Yuba tractor for the Upper Columbia Company of that place. He will remain there all season.

Miss Gazelle Walston, who is home on a vacation from the Cheney normal school, says that the attendance at the normal is very much less than it was last year, in fact, about 200 less. The reason for the smaller attendance is that many teachers have engaged in various war activities. Some have been employed in clerical capacities in Washington. Many have taken the places of young men who have entered the army. The war occasioned calls for a great many different kinds of employees and it has been shown that the school teachers of the country have proven more adaptable than any other class, consequently a great many have been taken. There will not be enough teachers to supply all of the schools of eastern Washington and it will be necessary to employ as teachers, pupils who have not yet fully qualified. The Cheney normal has a representative visiting the various high schools looking for pupils to prepare for teaching. Miss Walston was graduated by the Colville high school after which she took a course at the Cheney normal. In 1917 she was a teacher in the Colville grammar school and was one of the most successful of the faculty. She is now taking an advanced course in pedagogy at Cheney and will return there tomorrow.

A. H. Sperry, president of the Stevens County Power and Light Company, has been here this week on a tour of inspection. He leaves today for his home in Spokane. Mr. Sperry was the first railroad agent in Colville, coming here in 1889.

A daughter was born April 1 to Mr. and Mrs. A. Koffman.

The work of the food administration in Colville has been assisted by Clair Hunt for the last week, he having spoken before the high school and secured the assistance of ten high school girls in the local educational campaign. These are Miss Laura Clark, Sarah McCauley, Nellie Artman, Lauretta Craft, Connie Casey, Edith Cattle, Lillian Leonard, Louisa Worden, Lucie Eilsenhauer, Elda Norman. These girls have distributed the federal food circulars, pledge cards and window cards, making a house to house campaign, and serving as personal representatives of the U. S. Food administration.

A dynamite cap which he had found and attempted to set off by lighting a pile of papers, resulted in an explosion, injuring Fred Ogle, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ogle, Thursday noon. He had stooped down to bowl the fire into a blaze when the explosion occurred. Pieces of the shell entered his face and body, one piece striking near the corner of his eye. Dr. I. S. Clark, who was called instantly, said that it would not affect the sight of the eye. He said that there were from fifteen to twenty pieces of the metal which had struck the boy's face and body. One piece cut a small blood vessel in the throat. The injuries are not serious, however, although they are painful.

Shale is being placed on Main street, being hauled from north of Gater ranch. Auto trucks are used in hauling, and the big road roller will later be used to crush the shale rock on the street.

The McDowell Club met Monday night at the home of Miss Ethel Waddell and the evening was spent in the study of Italian composers. Miss Georgia Jessup played "Tremolo" by Rosellyn and the members practiced their song for their coming recital. The hostess served refreshments of ice cream and wafers.

The following returned from the Cheney normal school this week to spend their Easter vacation in Colville: Miss Jessie Rice, Miss Lela Walston, Miss Hazel Durham, Miss Gazelle Walston and Miss Margie Baughman.

Mrs. M. E. Krueger of Meyers Falls, J. A. Scott of Daisy, J. D. Covell of Orin and J. A. McJunkin of Meyers Falls are medical patients at the Harvey hospital.

The Easter sale held by St. Ann's Woman's Guild of St. John's Episcopal church in Mrs. J. F. Leighton's millinery store, was a great success. Almost every article was sold, and there were some beautiful birthday, commencement and anniversary gifts out of the ordinary provided.
