Listen, Mr. Livestockman:

1349 more cars of livestock passed through our yards in 1918 than in 1917—A gain of 80%.

Doesn't this convince you that we are a live, growing concern and the market you want to ship to.

Consign your next shipment here and help make this a bigger year than last year.

We welcome the small shipper just as heartily as the large one.

Write for our plan of community shipments and our Weekly Market Letter with quotations.

COURTHOUSE AND COUNTY NEWS

Items of General Interest to the Residents of Stevens County

Four applicants were admitted to citizenship Saturday at the examination conducted by Mr. Thomas of the office of chief naturalization examiner, John Steed Smith, in Seattle. Twelve applicants were scheduled to appear at this time for hearing. The four admitted were Frederick Souby Cooper, John Feodor Arrow, Gavin Jamieson and George Webber. The petition of John Albert Peterson was dismissed because his witness had not known him a sufficient length of time. That of Ole Johnson was continued until March for further study. The hearing of Dominick Granby was also continued for further study. Three applicants, Jacob Koski, Erick Waldemar Peterson and Ivan Shovel failed to make their appearance and their hearings were postponed until June. The petitions of Willy Karl Seetzen and William Phillip Thoke were continued indefinitely until the government should grant a hearing to applicants of German birth.

Clifford Waldhess, through his guardian, has begun a suit for $10,000 damages against John Gibson and Minnie Gibson. Complaint states that on the afternoon of January 4, plaintiff was coasting on the Hofstetter hill, his sled going past the intersection of Columbia and Hofstetter streets. It is alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were traveling in their Ford car south and collided with the sled of the plaintiff at the corner of Columbia and Hofstetter, resulting in injuries to the plaintiff. The plaintiff claims that his right shoulder and arm were broken, his collar bone thrown out of place and his skull fractured at the center of his forehead. The defendants are charged with carelessness in not giving warning before crossing the intersection of the streets, in traveling at an alleged speed of 20 miles an hour and in slowing down suddenly at the corner where the accident occurred.

B. E. Kehler, plaintiff in a suit against the Valley Magnesite company, has been granted a judgment of $20,000 with $1,500 attorney's fees. The suit was based on a promissory note for $20,000.

Bertha DeMarce is suing Harry DeMarce for divorce on the grounds of desertion and non-support. Complaint states that they were married in Vancouver, Wash., November, 1914. Plaintiff asks to have her former name, Bertha Frazer, stating that she was the widow of William Frazer and had five children by this marriage.

Bertha M. Godec was granted a divorce from Joseph Godec Tuesday and her maiden name of Bertha M. Pugh restored.

Mattie Hope Ryan has begun suit for divorce from James D. Ryan, charging desertion and non-support. Complaint states that they were married in Spokane in May, 1916, and that the defendant abandoned plaintiff in September, 1917, going to Montana.

Final hearing was held in the county commissioners' room in the courthouse Tuesday morning in regard to the proposed change in the boundaries of school districts 163 and 141. Following a petition duly presented by the directors of districts 163 and citizens of 141, the county superintendent of schools held a meeting at Park Rapids in November. The petition called for the setting over of several sections of district 141 into 163, including a valuation of $5,000 assessable property. After the investigation and viewing the land, the superintendent compromised by setting over lands valued at $3000. District 141 was not satisfied and appealed to the commissioners. A hearing was set for February 4 and on this date both districts were represented and the case reviewed. The decision made by Miss Stannard was upheld by the board of commissioners.

The sheriff's office received word Saturday that Monte Cole, who was committed to the Eastern Washington Hospital for the Insane January 2, had been released as able to be at large again. Mr. Cole arrived home Saturday night.

A. J. Baldwin is petitioning for letters of administration in the matter of the estate of Jean Paul Baldwin, deceased.

Through a change of venue from Spokane, suit has been commenced in Stevens county by the Diamond Carriage Co. versus Fred Draper of Aladdin for the collection of $172.50.

Miss Elizabeth Stannard, county superintendent of schools, left Wednesday morning for Springdale and other points in the southern part of Stevens county to visit schools. Her regular schedule was broken into by the flu epidemic.

Sheriff Graham paid official visits in Northport and Springdale this week.

County Clerk W. H. Butler and Mrs. Butler left Saturday for Spokane and Seattle, the trip being necessary because of the ill health of Mrs. Butler. It was thought that Mrs. Butler would have to remain on the coast, but they are expected to return in a few days.

Home talent in the neighborhood of Marble is to compose the cast for a patriotic play, "Humanity," to be given Saturday night, March 1, at the Flat Creek schoolhouse. The production is given under the supervision of Miss R. Helen Jefferson, teacher of school district number 110. Miss Jefferson is also the playwright. The cast is made up of pupils of the school and others in the community with dramatic ability.

Additional on the Armenian fund in Stevens county have been received by Chairman Sax as follows: Aladdin, $3.25; Brucecreek, $1; Chewelah, $3.97 in cash and over $50 in pledges; Loon Lake, $75; Middleport, $6; Northport, $182.50; Rice, $40.70; Summit Valley, $42; Threeforks, $9.50; White Lake, $45. On February 3 Mr. Sax sent a check for $1750 into headquarters at Spokane. The district treasurer reported to Mr. Sax that the Sunday schools of Stevens county contributed $213.75 to the Armenian relief fund.

That the mine belonging to the Valley Coal company about two miles southwest of Valley is being developed into a genuine coal mine, is a statement made by the Northport News. The incline tunnel penetrates the hill on a 31 per cent degree a distance of 197 feet, which is on a solid vein of good coal, which for a distance of the last 90 feet, varies from 3 to 6 feet in thickness, and the indications from the outcrops are that the vein extends a distance of 3700 feet all along the crest of the hill. "The enterprising prospectors of this district should get busy, as the geological formation around here is similar to that at Valley," states the News.

During the recent flu epidemic, the Red Cross has done a wonderful work in helping care for families who were ill and in need of help. The story is told of one family in the northern part of the county where the Red Cross came in and helped to nurse them through the influenza and made clothes for the numerous children in the home. When the mother had recovered from her illness and was able to be about, it is said that some material was given her to make into a garment for some member of the family. She looked at it for a minute and then said, "I'll be darned if I will! The Red Cross is doing my sewing."

E. C. Dowel will hold a public sale February 20 at his place 5 1/2 miles east of Bossburg, 1 1/4 miles north of Bruce creek schoolhouse. The sale will include 10 head of horses, 16 head of cattle, farm machinery, a Ford car, and household furniture. Buckley is auctioneer.

Joe Turner, who has been attending the western livestock show in Denver, writes to the Examiner that he saw F. W. Harding, secretary of the American Shorthorn Breeders' association, and that he promised the association's usual support to the Stevens County Livestock show next fall, and in addition the association will give a cash prize of $25 for the best Shorthorn bull, any age. Mr. Turner says that purebred cattle are moving very freely at good prices, and that cattle suitable for the western trade are very scarce and hard to buy.

Colville Valley Grange No. 469 met Saturday night, February 1, in the Wigwam with a good attendance. After the closed session a program was given in an open meeting. E. C. Durdle, county agriculturist, made an address on the county farm bureau and its purposes. In order to work with more efficiency, he has appointed committees in each community or grange to represent the neighborhood on the projects undertaken by the bureau. The personnel of the committee for the Red schoolhouse district includes: G. W. Lockie, beef; P. H. Stewart, dairy; A. Huguenin, silos; H. C. Gates, marketing; S. I. Underwood, grain; F. A. McCaslin, squirrels; Mrs. W. H. Burden, home economics; G. W. Lockie, boys' and girls' clubs; J. A. Newcomb, sheep. Prof. E. E. Elliott of the Colville high school made an interesting talk on the purposes and opportunities for education in the grange organization.

Good Times Ahead

The battered old world freed at last from the scourge of war, is slowly swinging back to normal. A year of wonderful possibilities lies before us.

Signs innumerable point to good times ahead. And we shall have them if, individually, we keep this simple formula in mind:

Stay on the job and continue to practice those economies which grim war has taught us; work, earn, save, avoid extravagance in every form.

The First National Bank Colville, Washington

Mrs. E. C. Durdle sang two solos which were much enjoyed and readings and talks by various members of the grange contributed to the evening's program. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Minnie Gibson. Committees for the year were appointed as follows: Executive committee, H. C. Gates, John Gibson and M. H. C. Allen; finance committee, J. A. Newcomb, Ellery Potter and C. H. Brooks; work committee, Mrs. Mary Lockie, Mrs. Effie Gates and Miss Frances Robinson.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME" IS EASILY EXPLAINED

The correct spelling of our county school superintendent's name has been a matter of controversy—that is, among outsiders. In the office there is no controversy, for the county superintendent spells her name Stannard, and her father (her deputy) spells his name Stanard. Each states the reason for the particular spelling, and lets it go at that. But it has been a matter of supposition among many of the Examiner readers that this paper was not correctly reading proof when these names were spelled differently. And recently, in the Baptist church news, it did look rather queer to see Supt. L. E. Stanard in one line, Leader Miss Elizabeth Stannard in the next.

But the Examiner was correct in both cases, and if any argument arises, it may have to be settled by the Stanard ancestry (or Stannard). For it was along about 1800, when the grandfather of the present L. E. Stanard was an innkeeper in Madison county, York state, that the change of spelling originated. It seems that the innkeeper had ordered a sign for his inn, as was the old custom, and the signboard was of a certain size, and the lettering was also of a certain size. The lettering proved too long for the board, hence to adjust matters the sign painter simply left out one n from the name—and behold a nice sign, perfectly proportioned.

The innkeeper, to keep matters straight with his sign, then had to drop an n from his name, and he did so, although his three brothers did not. The succeeding generations of the innkeeper have maintained the name Stanard, but all the other relatives use Stannard. The present county superintendent desires to retain the original spelling, but her father says he was born Stanard, and Stanard he will remain. So each has a name, and a reason for the name, and the Examiner's proofreader is not to blame when a different spelling appears.
