James and Winifred Angus, aged 11 and 13 years, arrived Monday from Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire, England, to make their home with their mother Mrs. Homer E. Miller, who met them in Spokane. They left Liverpool Sept. 17, and sailed to Quebec, where a lady passenger took advantage of their youth to make way with their funds. Telegrams from Colville instructed the immigration authorities to send the children to Colville, and money was wired for that purpose, but the children finally found themselves in Vancouver, while the mother was in Spokane trying to locate them. The Red Cross at Vancouver supplied them with spending money and saw them safely on their way to Spokane, where they were met by their mother.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS

The cast for the farce-comedy which the seniors will contribute to the all-hi school vaudeville is as follows: George, the iceman, Harold Silke; Lucile's father, Con Durland; Lucile, almost engaged to George, Lillian Yeakey; the cook, Mary Allin.

The class in commercial English have organized as the Wantmor Candy Company. A committee on design has evolved a company letter-head which will be used for all correspondence sent out by the firm, and also for that deemed worthy of a place in the school exhibit. The house will also soon launch an advertising campaign to promote the sale of their wares at the company booth in the opera house, on the night of the all-school vaudeville. The proceeds from this sale, as well as the box-office receipts, will go to the library fund.

In the report made to the state high school inspector by Mr. Putnam it was announced that Mr. Durdle had 428 pupil hours work. Miss Van Devanter had 700 pupil hours work; Miss Hunt, 370; Miss Hendrickson, 562; Miss Schroeder, 750; Miss McGinnis, 585; Mr. Lindahl, 505; Mr. Scarborough, 312; Miss Stephen, 435. These pupil hours are obtained by multiplying the number of pupils in the class by the number of recitations a week and finding the total hours of each class.

There are three new enrollments this week. Harold Baird is enrolled as a freshman and his sister, Mary Baird, as a sophomore. Baird and his sister have been attending school at Vancouver during the first part of this term. Ruth Mantz is enrolled as a post-graduate and is taking a business course. This makes a total of 192 enrolled in C. H. S.

Don't forget the football game with Hillyard next Friday, 24th. It's going to be some game by the way the fellows are working and training. Hillyard is going to be left in the dust. Hillyard has recently played Deer Park and was defeated 24-0.

Although basket ball practice has not started yet, a good schedule is being formed. Six games are already scheduled, two with Hillyard, two with Valley and two with Republic. This will be the first time Colville and Hillyard have ever met in basket ball and they are going to find out something. Although Republic was played two years ago, we did not play them last year. The two games with Valley are going to be very interesting, for it will run off the tie. Of the two games with Valley that were played last year, one game was won by each town and the tie has not yet been played.

Mr. Twitmeyer, the state high school inspector, addressed the student body on Tuesday. He was received with welcome applause because everyone knew how interesting he was when addressing a school. He compared the different schools as to teachers, principals, and students. Mr. Twitmeyer emphasized four main points that are important in the making of American citizens. These are health, honesty, education and work. He also added one of his own, thrift.

An address was also given by Mr. Cummings. Mr. Cummings noted the familiarity of the school from the times when he was superintendent at Colville. He told us of some of his amusing experiences which took place while he was connected with C. H. S. He concurred, heartily, in the substance of Mr. Twitmeyer's speech. He is the first local man to address the school this term. The students hope that Mr. Cummings will address them again in the near future.

The football team is developing rather slowly on account of the scarcity of men to buck the line. Mirian Williams has stopped turning out for football. McKern is still out on account of his hand. Kohlstedt and Captain Cherryholmes' ankles are coming along good. The average attendance of football has dropped.

The football squad is to be excused from physical training for the rest of the first semester after the season is over. Physical training for the boys is soon to be started twice a week, because once a week is quite inadequate.

The all-hi mixer was held at the gymnasium a week ago Friday evening at which all of the teachers and most of the students were present. The first part of the evening was spent in playing games; a signature contest followed, a box of candy being awarded to Bernice Dupuis, who had the greatest number of signatures on her tag. About ninety all joined in a grand parade, after which were served cider and doughnuts. Hazel Emery and Jack St. Clair furnished music for dancing until 11:30. The evening was enjoyed by all.

The Boy's and Girl's Glee Clubs met Monday at the high school building at seven-thirty for an evening of practice. The meeting lasted until about nine-thirty. The clubs are being trained for some public singing.
