FESTIVITIES OF HARVEST TIME

Centuries ago it was the custom in England to mark three of nature's periods by fitting festivals—planting time, May 1; the equinoctial, June 21, harvest time, Oct. 31. The latter date, being the most important so far as visible results were concerned, gradually received more attention, and the guardian spirit of the harvest time became multiplied into many mystic characters, until Halloween, with its ghostly array of fancies, was handed down from generation to generation as a time of celebration.

Many corruptions of this observance have crept into the modern interpretations of the date, but the real spirit of harvest time, the good fellowship and the rejoicing, are remembered by many today in the observance of this ancient festival date. In Colville a number of interesting gatherings fittingly marked the 1919 Halloween.

Enjoyable Masquerade

Miss Evelyn Loucks and Miss Susan Lammel entertained at a masquerade party at the Loucks home on Maple street on the evening of Oct. 30. The house was beautifully decorated in orange and black crepe paper, also many black cats, pumpkins, jack o'lanterns, etc. A real fortune teller was also an attraction of the party. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing. The guests unmasked about 10 o'clock and supper was served at 1. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. R. Ostrum of Addy, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Milberg, Misses Mildred Campbell, Irene Seal, Alma Hendrickson, Mary Schroeder, Frances Briscoe, Susan Lammel, Evelyn Loucks, Messrs. George Seal, Joe Rogers, A. Johnson, Tom Loucks, Jack Loucks, David McMillan, Emery Tremblay.

Halloween Dancing Party

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. McFarland entertained Halloween eve at a dancing party. Guests were met at the door by a white robed figure, and other figures similarly robed conducted the guests to the dressing rooms upstairs, and then to the basement, which to the amazement of the guests had been converted into a most comfortable living room for the occasion. Decorations appropriate to the harvest time and to the prevalent spirit of the evening were tastefully arranged, the cement floor was covered with rugs, and apples and cider found prominent place on the tables.

A part of the evening was enjoyed in dancing on the main floor, which had been cleared of furniture, leaving four rooms for dancing. At midnight a delicious luncheon was served, consisting of wieners, sandwiches, pickles, doughnuts, coffee, apples and cider. The host and hostess were assisted by Mrs. Lillie Rice, Mrs. Clara Shaver, and Bertha and Emma Hofstetter.

Guests invited were Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Ledgerwood, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Dittenbacher, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harrigan, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lavigne, Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Kirk, Misses Marguerite Ferguson, Alma Weigelt and Nellie Morris all of Kettle Falls, Loretta Craft, Mildred Campbell, Erma Wingham, Jean Hartwell, Margaret Waddell, Henrietta Gohman, Frances Briscoe, Connie Casey, Velma Exley, Irene Seal, Mary Mantz, Messrs. Clyde Ferguson, Dwight Smith, and Harry Smith of Kettle Falls, Ed. Raftis, John Raftis, John Walsh, Fred Ide, Emery Tremblay, William Waddell, Burr Winslow, David McMillan, Horace Rice, Joe Rogers, Glen Crewse, Theron Lynch, Clare Hansen, Myron Hickman.

Pep Club Entertains

The members of the Pep Club gave a masquerade party Halloween night at the home of Miss Ethel Waddell. The rooms were fantastically decorated in orange and black and a myriad of black cats perched everywhere. The most fascinating feature of the evening was the weird witch who ushered the guests into the presence of the hostess. The evening was spent in dancing and fortune telling with Miss Gladys Casey at the piano. Many unique and clever costumes were worn. Those present were Misses Bernice Stoltz, Ethel Waddell, Mary Jackson, Mildred Maurer, Gloria Munger, Edith Walston, Dorothy Anderson, Hazel Spedden, Vida Norman, Margaret Ferris, Mary Allin, Messrs. Gaylord Stoltz, Con Durland, Harold Silke, Harold Baird, Martin Wilken, Harold Kohlstedt, Jack Rice, Howard

Casby, Don Foster, Virgil DeGreif, Clarence MenMuir, John Huggins, Wallace Buckley, Fleetwood Warren, Howard Duncan.

Dancing at Jackson Home

Judge and Mrs. W. H. Jackson extended their hospitality to about thirty friends on Friday evening for an informal dancing party. One is always assured of a good time on receiving an invitation from the Jacksons and this occasion was not an exception to the rule. The guests visited, danced and dined, enjoying every minute of the evening. Mrs. J. M. Williams of Kettle Falls favored with several pleasing selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. O. E. Leiser of Kettle Falls. Luncheon was served during the evening. Those invited were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams of Kettle Falls, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Leiser of Kettle Falls, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Girls Play Cards

Miss Margaret Waddell entertained five of her friends at her home Thursday evening. The evening was spent in playing cards; refreshments were served at 10 o'clock. Those present were Misses Gladys Stephen, Mary Mantz, Connie Casey, Lotts Deuber and Margaret Waddell.

Teachers Entertain Pupils

On Saturday afternoon Miss Jessie Rice and Miss Esther Denchler, teachers of the 4th and 5th grades of the Colville schools, entertained their pupils at an afternoon Halloween frolic at the L. M. McFarland home. About 60 young guests were present and needless to say they enjoyed to the limit the hospitality of their instructors. Refreshments were served during the afternoon and games of all kinds were played.

Miss Wilken's and Miss Baughman's rooms gave a Halloween program last Thursday afternoon after which they played several Halloween games. The prizes were won by John Acorn, Hazel Waltenburg, Herbert Casey, Ada Smith and Ruth Lawson.

Miss Noe's and Miss McConnell's rooms enjoyed a Halloween party at the gymnasium last Thursday. The second grade gave a little sketch of Rumpelstitskin. Halloween games were played and light refreshments served.

At the Ide Home

On the afternoon of Oct. 31 a very attractive party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ide when Mrs. John J. Ingle, Mrs. Warren B. Lane and Mrs. Enos Lavigne entertained at cards for about fifty of their friends. The rooms of the Ide home had been darkened and were converted into a bower of black and orange ribbon streamers, black cats and witches. On arrival each guest was presented with a gay Halloween dunce cap in orange, black and red crepe paper. The effect was very pleasing when the fifty ladies donned these tall caps, and every one responded to the hilarious mood thus started, making the afternoon an exceptionally jolly one. Dutch whist was played at twelve tables, the first prize, a beautiful silver bread plate, being won by Mrs. Hugh Waddell.

At five o'clock the guests found their places at small tables decked in black and orange crepe paper table covers and were served a delicious luncheon consisting of chicken croquets, hot rolls, jelly, potato chips, ice cream, assorted cakes and coffee. Little pasteboard dunce caps filled with salted nuts were given as favors to each guest.

The occasion was an exceptionally pleasing one, all being loath to bid their hostesses good bye. Those invited were Mesdames George W. Seal, Wm. Ketchum, T. N. Ledgerwood, I. D. Sill, H. R. Spedden, O. E. Leiser of Kettle Falls, Alex Sinclair, Louis Strauss, R. E. Lee, C. R. McMillan, A. B. Sansburn, Earl J. Strong, L. M. McFarland, M. R. Strong, Geo. Stenger, O. F. Football

With a score of 12 to 0, Chewelah won a hotly contested game from the local team at the ball park, Friday afternoon.

Outweighing Colville about ten pounds to a man, the Chewelahites made the most of the advantages by plugging the line throughout the entire game. Chewelah made big gains this way. A spread play was attempted by Chewelah in the third quarter with a loss of a few yards. This, with the exception of short end runs, was their only variation from line bucks.

In the second quarter MenMuir intercepted a forward pass on Chewelah's twenty-yard line and carried the pigskin to Colville's five-yard line before being downed. From this point Colville managed to get the ball within a foot of the goal, but lost it on downs. Again in the third quarter the ball was less than a foot from Colville's goal but was again lost on downs before Chewelah's defense could be penetrated.

An inch of snow and water covered the field which made the game slow and errors plentiful. Five forward passes that would have netted big gains for Colville were lost because the ends were unable to hold the snow-covered pill.

Silke's passes were features of the game. Only once did he drop a pass he was attempting. All that he made went high and true to the man who was to carry them. Chewelah made their first touchdown during the first five minutes of play but despite their superior weight Colville made them fight for every inch of ground, keeping the ball well within Chewelah's territory during the second and third quarters. Chewelah's last score was made in the last period and only time saved Colville from having their line crossed again as the ball was carried over the line just as the final whistle blew.

The ticket sale before the game netted $46, and the gate receipts were $58 making a total of $104.

The lineup for the game was:

Wilken	LE	Day
Dowling	LT	Cox
Warren	LC	C. Hutchinson
Duncan	C	Turk

The Lyceum Course

The senior class of this year is presenting four numbers of the El-lison-White Lyceum Bureau, which will hold interest and entertainment for all and promise to constitute one of the best series of lectures and musical numbers ever heard here.

The first will be "The Old Fashioned Girls," a charming number by four equally charming girls. This will appear on November 27. In January Harold C. Kessinger will be presented at a lecturer on present day industrial questions. On February 23 Dr. Frank Bohn will discuss reconstruction problems, a subject which he has closely studied at home and abroad.

The Welsh Glee Quartet will entertain with splendid musical selections on April 24.

In addition to these four numbers the senior class will give a play May 7, which will be a fitting close to this entertainment of 1919-20.

The Old Fashioned Girls soon to be heard on the lyceum course are entirely unique on the American platform. The four charming girls have a program which is distinctly out-of-the-ordinary. Dressed in the costumes of a half a century ago, they feature the delightful old songs and stories of the south. The entire program has been arranged by Bess Gearhart Morrison, noted lyceum coach and entertainer.

A musical treat is in store for you in the coming concert. The entire program is presented with a snap and life without a single dull minute. There is enough variety, too, so that every taste will be satisfied. Vocal and instrumental solos, duets and quartets, costumed songs, sketches and readings comprise the program to be given by these talented and versatile young ladies.

A game is scheduled with Cheney for November 21 at Colville. This game is optional, each team having the right to accept or reject it.
