Haying and harvest is abundant and in full swing. But if you are planning to camp in our pastures as usual after huckleberries, we are sorry to say the vines were frozen last winter and are not bearing. There is also some talk of brown bears and bear berries and "No hunting allowed." Please don't think we are politely prevaricating.

Mrs. Jackson and two sons of Owosso, Mich. are guests for a few days at the McDonald home. They are very enthusiastic over this country and may return to make their home. They stopped on their trip to Helena, Mont., and are starting Friday to Yellowstone Park and other points on their way home.

Mrs. Jackson was a former schoolmate of Mrs. McDonald. She is interested in amateur photography and will show her Eastern friends how we look in the West. The boys have a rare collection of souvenirs picked up in Montana and Washington and will always remember their trip to Kettle Falls.
