COLVILLE TIRE SHOP

Among the Social Events of the Week

The regular twice-a-month card and dancing party of the Klatawa Club, an organization of young society couples of Colville, took place Saturday night at the Odd Fellows hall, with Mrs. Ross Culver, Mrs. J. S. Sperry, Mrs. Frank Oberhansly and Mrs. Lester Cohrs as hostesses.

The timely Halloween scheme of decorations were used very effectively against the bottle green of the lodge room. Pillars against which corn stalks, with corn on ear and tassels, leaned, an uncanny booth, on which humped up bristling cats, whiskers a-bristle, and witches on broom sticks, lured one to the doughnuts and cider. Electric bulbs were covered with black tissue paper with fringes of yellow. Each window pane was covered with cats, bats, goblins in accordance with the old Celtic calendar's belief of Witche's night, at which time supernatural influences prevail.

Card devotees played 500 at Cat 1, Cat 2, instead of table 1 or table 2.

Dancers wore witches' hats of crepe paper; the ladies chose black while the men wore yellow. Little Dee Oberhansly in a yellow frock and Gladine Lavigne in black pelted the dancers with yellow crepe paper sachet bags in which the Finger of Destiny had written unrevokable fortunes. Gentlemen's dancing programs were owls with an accommodating flap while the ladies utilized paper pumpkins.

The music consisted of three pieces, Chas. Elwood on an ukulele and tenor banjo, Chas. Van Tuyl a banjo and steel guitar and "Dick" Brown, former colored minstrel, a base guitar.

One of the features of the evening was the moonlight waltz, danced to Mrs. Glenn Crewse's song, "Dick" Brown also sang "Garden of my Heart," "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," and a jazz number.

Members of the club numbering fourteen couples are Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Ingle, Messrs. and Mesdames E. J. Strong, W. B. Lane, E. A. Sperry, P. Keron, S. E. Barnes, J. Walsh, L. Cohrs, R. Culver, F. Oberhansly, M. J. Sullivan, H. E. Villock, E. Lavigne, J. S. Sperry. Their invited guests were Messrs. and Mesdames W. E. Ketchum, Vinton Baird, Dale Jones, H. R. Spedden, L. Wernli, E. C. Durdle, P. Friday, G. G. Graham, L. G. Keller, Carl Buchanan, L. Dannheiser, Irving D. Sill, H. Wade Bailey, J. C. Harrigan, H. R. Williams, L. E. Jesseph, Glenn Crewse, L. B. Donley, H. J. Plumb, Drs. and Mesdames W. F. Diefenbacher, R. S. Wells, O. F. Vinson and Senator and Mrs. W. Lon Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson of Spokane, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ostrum of Addy.

Misses Jessie Rice and Ruthemma Sturman gave a Halloween party for their pupils at the schoolhouse on Monday afternoon. They had a program after which each student was given a paper napkin decorated with witches and pumpkins. Then popcorn and apples were served to them. Among the other grammar school teachers who had programs on Friday of last week were Miss Marjorie Frazier, Alice Seeley and Mrs. Thomas.

Eva Coons and Cleo Scholes were hostesses to a dancing party in the Baker Studio Saturday. Consistent with the interior work of the studio and date artistic decorations of Halloween—black and orange crepe paper, Jack-o-lanterns, glowing grate, together with the very joy of youth, made the occasion a memorable one.

The programs deserve special mention for their originality—conceived by Eva Coons—in which she described the "Spookie Hop," leaving blank spaces for partners, names and cleverly wound in the numbers.

Invitations were issued to: Virginia Noble, Jessie Parsons, Nettie Dupuis, Dorothy Diefenbacher, Gladys Casey, Margaret Taylor, Beth Lane, Josephine La Plant, Velma Foster, Ruth Houghton, Christine Kimple, Katherine Millren, Cleo Scholes, Eva Coon, Miss Agnes Roberts, John Huggins, Henry Parsons, Edward Dowling, Gerald Exley, Monty Dorman, Donald Foster, Thomas Rusch, Osee Noble Jr., Harry Eslick, John Offutt, Gaylord Stols, Clayton McKern, Faye Baker.

Mrs. Joanna Jones returned from Tacoma on Friday, after having spent several months at the home of her son, Waldo Jones.

Miss Clara Hutchinson of Spokane is a guest at the home of her sister Mrs. M. J. Sullivan.

W. E. Ketchum and family have moved from the LaPlant house on north Main street to the Hall property on Third and Wynne.
