CHRISTMAS AT GLENDALE

(By F. B. Schmid)

Amidst one of the largest gatherings at a public place in this district, Xmas was celebrated at Glendale school house under the auspices of the Norwegian Lutheran church. The program which was so carefully worked out, and rendered without a hitch, was due to the efforts of Mrs. N. Haugness. Even the new school house with its roomy and cheerful appearance helped to make everything a success, and one that will long be remembered by all living around Glendale. The countless gifts that were exchanged that evening witnessed the good will that prevailed on this day that we commemorate; the numberless little eyes that sparkled and were dazzled with the equal number of sacks and packages of candy and nuts, would soften the most pessimistic heart. Not one left the school room that did not carry something in hands or pockets, and a smile on their face, which gave evidence that the promoters of this Xmas event had conquered the day.

The new Glendale school house is situated nearly centrally in Dist. 120. All the main roads branch out to all parts of the district from there. The location is an ideal one; the ground is nearly level, facing one of the finest farms in the district, the surrounding foot hills give the school house a picturesque background, while Huckleberry mountain in plain view, rises more than 6,000 feet above sea level, and is the highest mountain in the western part of Stevens county.

The school house is a frame building, built of the best of material, and combined with exquisite workmanship; the most critical eye can glance in and around the school, and cannot find a resting place; as for the size of the building, it is second to none in the county.

It was a little strenuous on the already overburdened taxpayer, but I do not think that anyone will regret his special school tax, who has had the welfare of the children at heart, and considering the advantages that are gained by a modern and up to date school house, compared to a temporary structure that was erected 18 years ago.

We all anticipate not only to enjoy many more Xmas days in the new school house like the one we
