MARCUS SCHOOL NOTES

By the Juniors

On Feb. 9, the Marcus girls first team defeated the Kettle Falls girls at Kettle Falls by a score of 25-9. Marcus played without the use of her regular forwards as they were given a rest for the coming championship game. After the game a delicious chicken supper was served to the visiting team.

The Marcus junior high school girls administered a sound drubbing to the Colville junior girls Saturday afternoon, walking away with the long end of a 20-3 score. All this in spite of the fact that Colville was out for sweet revenge and bolstered up their junior high school team by bringing over Julia Bair, star guard from the first team. The score at the end of the first quarter was one to one, due to slight nervousness on the part of the Marcus forwards, but after this slight exhilaration had worn off the Marcus forwards began to cage baskets with a regularity that was appalling to those Colville rooters (?) who still maintained hopes that they might prevent the Marcus junior high school from "bringing home the bacon."

Whenever one of the basket ball teams leaves on a trip Mr. Lee has never failed to order them to "bring back the bacon." The junior high school girls thought that it was time some one fulfilled this command and on Monday morning before the assembly, Mr. Lee was presented with a slab of bacon by the captain of the team Onata Flint.

The high school and the junior high school basket ball teams met on Monday and decided on the official letters to be awarded the junior high school teams. These are to be M. J. H. letters of scarlet and black.

Valentine day was fittingly observed throughout the grades and the high school by having Valentine boxes.

"The Case of Smith vs. Smyth," the fourth of a series of entertainments given by various classes of the high school was presented Monday to the enthusiastic students of the high school and some of the grades. The parts were well taken and the sophomores succeeded in putting over the play in a very comical and entertaining manner. The cast was as follows: Lawyer Pro-for-it, Leslie Denman; Lawyer Con-agin-it, Marion Shepherd; Judge Wishead, Leslie Sullivan; court officer, Allan Shoemaker; editor of "Weekly Creeper," Dean Kennedy; Plentiful Smith, Lena Gregory; Widow Rebecca Smythe, Kate Cornwall; book agent, Frances Beagly; Jury—Deaf man, Olive Kifer; Irishman Muldoon, Georgie Cornwall; strong minded woman, Edith Matson; Hiram Hoecake, Vera Henshaw; tramp, Ellsworth Strommen.

Reporting the events about town

Mrs. A. L. Swanson, Representative

Friday night of last week was Greenwood grange's regular meeting. It was a bad night, cold and snow, but 52 of our members and 9 from Pingston creek grange made us a call that evening. They came in two sleighs with smiles and cheeks red from the cold. We also had 2 from Colville Valley grange and 2 from Ft. Colville grange, making 13 visitors which with our 52 made 65 in attendance. The regular grange work was done. Bro. Fred Cooper was installed as secretary. When the business session was over our worthy lecturer, Sister Gerking, had a big program prepared for the evening. Bro. Plumb sang two solos, and at the end of the program gave a fine talk on seed potatoes, showing what can be done in this line for the farmers. Brother and sister grangers get your heads together and see what you can do. Do not let every chance slip by. Sister Fretwell of Pingston gave us a nice little talk. One brother from Colville Valley was a little bashful but did his share at the midnight lunch table. After the brothers and sisters had given their parts of the program grange closed. Then Sisters McDermid, E. Lynn, S. A. Lynn, J. Lynn, Norton, Miller and Swanson and Brothers Gartner and Burcham served lunch, seating all the party at one long table. That's one part that the grangers seem to enjoy. After this was over and the dishes and tables cleared away, came the time for the fiddlers and other music to start. We only danced until 3:30. Every minute was enjoyed by those present. May we have more of the grange gatherings. It is good for friends and neighbors to meet and spend the evenings.

C. H. Gerking is on the sick list this week.

Lute Vanasse has a new gray team. Now you will see some speed.

Meyers Falls certainly has a deep covering of snow, and those who have wood, poles and other things to haul are very thankful.

Friday night, Feb. 17, the grange had the program which was in last weeks paper.

The Meyers Falls Ladies Aid meets at the home of Mrs. Joel McDermid March 3.

Monday, Feb. 13, the sad news came to Meyers Falls that Mrs. Virginia Vanasse had finished her journey on this sphere and had taken up her abode in another bright and fair sphere. Mrs. Vanasse, or Grandma Vanasse, was loved by all in Meyers Falls, and the news of her death darkened the clouds for awhile but now we can see it must be for the best. Mrs. Vanasse passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. Julia Becket in Seattle at the age of 72 years 11 days. She was born at East Dubuque, Wis., 1850. When 9 years of age she moved to Cherry Grove, Minn., where she lived until she was 12 years old, moving again to Wisconsin at the age of 15 years. She joined with the Methodist church of which she was a member until she came to Meyers Falls, then she put her letter in the Congregational church of which she was an ardent worker. At the age of 16 she married Peter Vanasse and moved to a new farm and began life on the farm. She resided there until 18 years ago when she came to Meyers Falls. Seven children were born to bless her home and all live to mourn their mother's death: Mrs. Julia Becket, Seattle; Mrs. Josie Keller, Meyers Falls; Thomas H. Vanasse, Seattle; John L. Vanasse, Seattle; Lute V. Vanasse, Meyers Falls; Wm. P. Vanasse and Geo. N. Vanasse, still in Wisconsin. She also leaves a sister Mrs. John Biddle of Meyers Falls, and a brother Wm.

Acres, besides 18 grandchildren, 8 great grandchildren, and the many friends, who could only show their love for her by helping those who are left to make life just a little brighter. The flowers, which were beautiful, showed the love of those who still remain. It was also a symbol of Grandma Vanasse's life which was a fine Christian life. Rev. Whitten of Colville spoke the comforting words, taking his text from Rev. 14:13. Quinn McCord directed the service. Mrs. Mark, Miss Hazel Phillips, Ernest Mathews and Mrs. Ray Campbell furnished the music and songs which were Mrs. Vanasse's choice. Pallbearers were Messrs. E. Hale, Spencer, Miller, Gardner and Burcham.

Hunters Happenings

Things that are doing in our hustling sister city. Reported by our special correspondent

The Ground Hog sure did tell us we would have six weeks more winter. We have more snow now than we have had all winter. We have also received zero weather again.

Mrs. Thomas visited at the home of Mrs. Beardsley one day last week. Fred Hamilton is hauling lumber; he is intending to build a new number one chicken house.

The ladies of the Greenwood park grange had a quilting bee last Thursday afternoon. All the ladies of the grange made a block for the quilt. Tuesday night is grange meeting, and they will then decide when they will sell it.

Vernon Cooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cooley of Upper Hunters, was taken with appendicitis Feb. 10. He was taken to the Hunters hospital Monday morning for an operation which was performed by Dr. Cartright and Dr. McRae.

COLVILLE R. 1

At Mrs. Albert Keough's Wednesday there were three tables for the pitching dinner, to which the crowd did ample justice. The afternoon was given to a business meeting, visiting and crocheting. The Misses Alice Keough, Irene Burse, and Leone Keough came from Colville, where they are attending school, for part of the afternoon.

Luther and Mable Burden gave a sleigh ride party to a number of their high school friends Tuesday. They attended the junior class benefit featured by the DeMaro Co.

Mrs. Glen Skiles returned home from Mt. Carmel hospital Saturday very much improved in health.

Farmers marketing their hogs in Colville this week received 9c live weight.

Mr. Johnson of White Lake has purchased the Ernest Allen place adjoining his place.

The ranchers are still putting in a few more logs as the sleighing holds good.

Wm. Griesmeyer of the South Basin has been spending a few days with Horton Christman. A coasting party was given in his honor Friday evening.

If you did not attend the recent Social club meeting, you missed some good times at the home of Mrs. J. Diehl. There were 22 ladies present. Guests of the club were Mrs. Alice Peterson, Mrs. Metzger and Mrs. Elmer Gilbert.
