Barmans store has instituted the Bargain Balcony plan of offering to patrons an opportunity to save money in many lines by doing their own selecting of goods. The big balcony in the rear of the store has been arranged with tables on which are offered all classes of goods at Bargain Balcony prices. Broken lines in all departments will be found in the balcony, priced and displayed so that the customer may do his own buying. It is not intended to offer any particular clerk service in this balcony, the idea being that the bargains will do their own selling, and that prices and goods, rather than clerk service, are features of the balcony offerings.

The 1922 Skookum, the annual publication of the senior class of the high school, has just been issued. The book is embellished with red covers and gold tassels, the class colors, and in the 60 pages are photographs of faculty, graduates, juniors, sophomores, freshmen, and the various organizations for literary and athletic pursuits. A pleasing feature of the senior class presentation is the autobiography written by each of the 32 seniors, with space for the writer to sign the name in presentation copies. The book is dedicated to Miss Eleanor Wilmer of the department of English and dramatics. The Skookum staff comprises Harry Eslick, editor; Hubert Page, assistant; Wilbur Copp, business manager; Heyward Mosher, assistant; Wesley Hoefft, Charles Carey and Lucile Kimpel are the athletic committee, and Howard Casey, and Christine Kimpel are the athletic committee. The Modern Woodmen will hold a social session the third Friday night of each month hereafter, leaving the first Friday night for initiation and business. Next week Friday night there will be a smoker, dance and lunch, to which everybody is invited. Admission to the smoker will be 50 cents, to the dance 50 cents, and 25 cents for the lunch.

On information filed Thursday by Prosecuting Attorney O. W. Noble, George Edwards age 23, Darrell McQuown aged 24, and Vernon McQuown aged 15, were placed under arrest by Sheriff W. H. Graham and Deputy C. A. Ledgerwood on the charge of second degree burglary. The principal charge was that of entering the cottage of A. B. Willett at the Pend Oreille lakes, and taking bedding, groceries, and household goods. The cabins of Dr. J. W. Henderson, Sig Dilshemer, E. C. Conner, H. O. Bair, W. G. Hartwell and H. W. Heritage had also been despoiled of various articles of furniture and supplies. On being brought into court yesterday noon, the boys confessed their guilt. Judge D. H. Carey sentenced George Edwards and Darrell McQuown to 6 months to 15 years at the state reformatory, but suspended the sentence under good behavior. The case of Vernon McQuown, who becomes 16 years of age today, was transferred to the juvenile court. The boys all live near Middleport, and because of their previous good character and some mitigating circumstances, Judge Carey gave them a chance. The thefts were discovered some weeks ago, but not until Thursday was Sheriff Graham able to get any one to swear out a search warrant or go out with him to identify property.

Why the Farmers Join

(From Farm Bureau News)
Hon. Sydney Anderson, chairman of the Joint Agricultural Commission of inquiry recently appointed by the U. S. congress, has made public a statement, based on the preliminary findings of the committee, which lays bare the shocking waste and inefficiency of our present system of distribution. "In general," says Congressman Anderson, "37c of the consumer's dollar represents the cost of producing the article and the cost of all materials that went into it." The remaining 63c of the consumer's dollar represents the middlemen's fees for bringing the article from the farm or factory and delivering it to the ultimate consumer. This includes not only profits, but overhead expenses. Recently Senator E. F. Ladd, one of the foremost agricultural experts in the country, declared that the farmer gets only 30c, while the middlemen absorb 70c of every dollar paid by the consumer.
