Marcus Happenings

Reporting the Events of this Thriving Town

The much looked forward to fourth of July celebration has come and gone, and from the writer's observation, it was a very safe and sane celebration, no one hurt, killed, no fires or real bad accidents. The surrounding country from far and near was well represented, and from all appearances all enjoyed the 4-day celebration. Thanks should be extended to those who so untracingly assisted in making this celebration a success.

Misses Clara and Molanir Zwang of Spokane are spending their vacation at the home of their brother Saul Zwang.

Misses Alice and Sylvia and Master Paul Haggard left for an extended trip in the east. They will visit their aunt Mrs. Fred Gedbo in New York City and Mrs. Thomas Nelson of Philadelphia, Pa., they will also stop at St. Paul, Chicago, and Washington, D. C. to see the sights and visit with friends in those cities. They expect to be back in time to start school in the fall.

Little Miss Jeanette Shores of Spokane is visiting her friends here. Jeanette was a former resident of Marcus.

Mr. and Mrs. Frances, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Roch, Mrs. Garner of Spokane, but formerly of Marcus, are renewing old acquaintances here and they also attended the celebration.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Wayland E. Smith is recovering nicely from a recent operation.

Mrs. Leman Gifford of Spokane is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lair this week.

Meyers Falls Chronicle

Reporting the events about town

Mrs. A. L. Swanson, Representative

Many from Meyers Falls attended the ball game in Marcus Sunday. Marcus was beaten by a larger score than Meyers Falls was the Sunday before by Marcus. The umpire of last Sunday was more conservative than the one the day Marcus played Meyers Falls.

The young folks of Meyers Falls went to Marcus to many of the dances during the celebration and they report a good time.

The J. B. Miller, Mark, Bender, and McDurmid families and Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Fagan of Bellingham spent the fourth of July at Swanson's swimming pool. They brought their lunch baskets and spent the whole day in the cool.

Grandma and Grandpa Richardson spent the fourth at the home of their daughter Mrs. Perry Brown near Kettle Falls.

Mrs. Kerneer is in Portland visiting friends and also with her daughter Helen.

Glen and Trueman Higginbotham of Chewelah spent several days in Meyers and Marcus.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Swartout and children, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gerking and children, Marcel Rutherford of Rose Lake, Idaho, spent several days at the lakes where they had such a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Clair and children and Mr. and Mrs. Snowden of Colville spent the afternoon of the fourth at the swimming pool.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesh and children of Tacoma, Mrs. Brigham and Mrs. Rose spent the afternoon of the fourth at the swimming pool.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Miller and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Lute Vanasse and daughters brought their dinners and spent the fourth with A. L. Swansons.

The fall grain is ripening so fast it will not be long until the binders will be in action. The spring grain does not amount to much. Mr. Swanson has a nice piece of Hybrid 128 wheat and Mr. Pedder has a good piece of Forty Fold. The corn looks pretty good.

There were 5 cars of poles shipped from Meyers last month.

Summit Valley News

Almost everyone is busy making hay at this time.

Miss Marian Stenger of Colville spent last Thursday and Friday with Nathalie Noble at Brookwood farm.

George Hague Jr., Edwin Graham, Hugo Nord, Theodore and Arthur Graham and Alexander Habura went to the Marcus celebration on the fourth.

K. T. Toll, for many years a resident of this valley, was married a few weeks ago, and will live in the suburbs of Seattle. He still owns his homestead north of Mr. Duff.

Nearly everyone here attended the celebration in Addy this year and report a very good time.

Halmer Alby went to Spokane to spend the fourth.

Nils Brohaldin transacted business in Colville Thursday.

Marble Valley News Notes

Mrs. C. H. King, Representative

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Nickerson of St. John came up last week Thursday to visit with their son Dan Nickerson and daughters Mrs. A. J. Scholert and Mrs. Vernon VanDyke. They attended our fourth of July picnic and reported an enjoyable time. They left for their home on the 6th, taking with them Paul and Iva Van Dyke. Another son, John Nickerson, lost his house and contents by fire after they had started on their visit, so they shortened their visit on that account.

The Sunday school will take a three-months vacation during the hot weather and will not meet again till October.

Miss Katie Roberts, who taught our school last year, came up for a visit among her friends and attended the picnic and dance here on the fourth.

Miss Ruth Erickson came home from Cheney Saturday and returned Tuesday afternoon.

Robert Stachel spent a couple of days in Spokane the first of the week.

Cherries are ripe and many people are helping the birds to gather them. W. R. Goss went to Colville Saturday and Monday in the interests of the fourth of July stand.

H. T. Skeels went to Spokane on Monday, returning Tuesday.

Miss Iva Naff is home from Spokane to spend her vacation.

The Misses Nora and Freda Giles are visiting their sister Mrs. Dan Nickerson.

Mrs. Augusta Russell and two children are visiting at the home of Fred Fast. Mrs. Russell is a sister of Mrs. Fast.

The fourth of July picnic was a success in every way. It was a nice warm day, so we could enjoy any shade. There were between two and three hundred people present and all seemed to enjoy themselves. The dance in the evening was well attended and all report a good time. The flag drill by the children went off nicely, and everyone enjoyed the talk by Attorney Rafitis.

Dan McMillan took a truck load of people to Deer lake Sunday and came back Tuesday afternoon. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan and family, Olaf Rosen and Archie Rosen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dowty and son, Mrs. Shoner and J. Loveland. They report a fine time and a big catch of fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Skeels and children attended our picnic and visited old friends.

Rudolph Streit and family of Colville attended the dance and picnic here the fourth.

'FOR LOVE, NOT BY PURCHASE'

New Attitude Toward Marriage is Seen to Be Awakening Among the Women of China.

Closely related with the new home idea in China is the new idea on marriage; that is, individual choice rather than family choice; "for love, not by purchase."

Like the new home this will be a matter of slow evolution. For in China the individual is not thought of or looked upon as an entity; he is but a part of a family which is the unit, the entity and which at all costs must be preserved and perpetuated. Hence, individual desires must be subsidiary to the wishes or the benefit of the family.

The practice of this principle throughout the long centuries has instilled in children a submissiveness to parents, to family, that is engulfing of personality, though it is the steel that gives strength and form to the structure of the Chinese nation. The submissiveness is more than a conscious obedience; it is involuntary surrender.

Consequently, though the new young woman may advocate the theory of personal choice in marriage, only the most radical really desire it or would dare wholly to follow it, Emma Sarepta Yule writes in Scribner's. In matters touching the soul centers, inheritance and tradition are always stronger than imported ideas, no matter how forcible their appeal to reason. Miss China still feels that in the matter of a mate the parents' judgment is the better.

For Religion's Sake.

The confirmation class slowly filed into the pews. Angelic little faces of erstwhile mischievous youngsters bore rapt expressions, partly due to the serious occasion and partly to fright. Little gasps of pleasure and delight were uttered by fond parents and friends.

"My dear, I thought we were a half hour too early and here they are beginning the service! Something is amiss." My curious friend sought an usher.

"Yes, madame, the bishop was kind enough to come earlier to officiate. One of the youngsters being confirmed is due at the theater by eight. She is a mermaid."

"No, I was not perplexed," she told me afterward, "but, 'The world do move.'"—Chicago Journal.

Pelican Ate Golf Ball.

A pelican, one of those huge, long-beaked marine birds that poise themselves a hundred feet above the water, close their wings and with beaks open dive head foremost into schools of small fish, finished a golf game in St. Petersburg, Fla., recently "one down." The coffee pot course is along the shore of Tampa bay and on the eleventh hole is a small brackish lake forming a water hazard, which must be crossed to reach the green.

One member of a foursome drove from the tee and a strong wind carried the ball into the lake. A pelican flying lazily above the lake evidently took the ball bobbing on the surface for a new variety of fish, for he suddenly closed his wings, dropped with terrific speed and gobbled it.

What Counts.

There was a gleam of triumph in the young man's eyes as he gazed at the woman he loved.

"I'm going to write a great novel that will make me famous," he said.

The beautiful girl remained seated and made no reply.

"Then I have a scheme to bring peace and happiness to the world," he continued.

She still remained seated.

"In order to carry out this scheme I needed money," he went on, "so I played the market and won over a million."

She jumped up and fell into his arms.

PUREBRED SURELY PAID WELL

Lambs From Registered Sire Brought More Money Than Those From Scrub in Missouri.

In the sheep flock the purebred sire is a money maker. In one experiment at the Missouri College of Agriculture the lambs from a purebred ram brought 63 per cent more money than lambs of the same age fed in the same way but sired by a scrub. The lambs from the purebred ram weighed more at three months of age than the lambs sired by the inferior ram at four months of age.

WHEN SELF-LOVE IS WOUNDED

Then is Called Into Play the Ugliest of All Human Passions, That of Jealousy.

Jealousy is the ugliest of all human passions—and the one which makes the greatest misery in the world. It is the outcome of egotism, the twin sister of vanity, and its brood are all the sorrows of the human race.

But what is jealousy when analyzed? It is the bitterness which arises either when someone else possesses that which we desire and cannot obtain, or the fear that what we possess may be taken from us by another.

The very fact of our feeling fear shows that we know this other possesses a power stronger than our own—and this is a reflection upon our personal merit, and therefore a wound to our self-love, says Elnor Glyn in the London Times.

Men and women are jealous when another approaches one they love—their natural egotism is wounded by the inference that this other has not realized their own worth, and dares to dispute their sway—jealousy being roused to fury should the one they love respond to alien glances, because the wound to self-love is deeper still in that case, and the poison sinks into the very being.

But jealousy between the sexes is a more pardonable fault than any other form of the virus, because it goes back to the instinct of self-preservation, and in the broader sense, race-preservation, and although its indulgence produces misery and crime, its origin is not altogether base or wholly egotistical.

'ANGEL' WANTED THE MONEY

Evidently Backer of Show Was Tired of Its Making Nothing but Good Impressions.

The manager of a burlesque show told the following incident of his theatrical career:

"Fifteen years ago a certain Chicago 'angel' staked me to a small repertory show, instructing me to make one-night stands in Kansas. Our show was terrible, indeed, but finally we left Chicago.

"Our first step was Topeka. After the night's performance I sent a telegram to my 'angel,' saying: 'Topeka receipts $92.50. Made a good impression here.'

"The next night we played in Hutchinson. After the show I wired: 'Hutchinson receipts $52.50. Made a splendid impression here.'

"The next night found our troupe in Chanute. My telegram that night read: 'Chanute receipts $21. Made a wonderful impression here.'

"Several hours later I was at the Chanute depot with my troupers when the telegraph operator handed me a telegram. It was from my 'angel.' The message said: 'Make one more impression—then come home!'

Electioneering Expenses in France.

Whereas electioneering in Great Britain is nothing like so expensive as it used to be, the tendency in France is all the other way, for there is no limit imposed on the amount a candidate may spend. In an article advocating the need of a law to restrict election expenses M. Jean Bernard remarks: "My old friend Floquet told me that in 1891, when he was first elected for the Eleventh arrondissement of Paris, the election cost him only 1,500 francs. At the general election of 1891, when he was defeated, Floquet spent 25,000 francs, and I had to spend even more than that when I stood for the same constituency in 1910. My opponent's victory on this occasion is said to have cost him 200,000 francs, and I believe that estimate to be by no means exaggerated."—Manchester Guardian.

To Tell If She Loves You.

Some one has invented an instrument by which the quality of love may be measured by observing the exaggerated effect of the lover's presence on the heart action of his lady.

Such was the announcement of the Society for Electrical Development in describing the workings of the "telegraphone," an instrument by the use of which, its inventor declared, unhappy marriages would be prevented.

All that is necessary to insure results, the inventor explained, is for the doubt-torn swain to adjust the device over the heart of his intended, whisper a well-calculated word into her ear and watch the indicator. If it flutters violently, then all is well and the bans may be published, but if not, beware!

Improved Pumping Machine.

On Little Isle, the municipal playground of Detroit, there is a peculiar pumping machine which was improvised for the purpose of draining the water from the canals on the island. These canals are drained and cleared of refuse each year in preparation for the skating season. The machine, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, is a box, three feet wide and twenty feet long, open at the ends and mounted on two wagon wheels at the center. At each end are two sprocket wheels. Endless chains pass over these sprockets and through the box. On the chains, at intervals of 14 inches, paddles are attached.

He Wasn't Saying.

"You want a big army, battleships, submarines and airplanes merely for self-defense?"

"Of course," said the diplomat.

"And you have no thoughts of aggression against any other nation?"

"None to speak of," replied the diplomat, slyly.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Napoleon Relic Stolen.

The sofa on which Napoleon I rested on the day before the Battle of Jena has been stolen from the Grunnenbaum inn by Germans. This is not the first time that relics of the great captain tempted the cupidity of "collectors." In 1864, the saber presented by the city of Paris to Napoleon on the occasion of the birth of the king of Rome was stolen from the castle of Stolzenfelds. This saber had been found, it is said, by the Prussians in the imperial coach after the Battle of Waterloo. The hilt and scabbard were of solid gold, encrusted with precious stones. At the same time the robbers made away with Prince Murat's saber, which was also very valuable, and several other souvenirs, including Blucher's sword.—From Le Petit Parisien. (Translated for the Kansas City Star.)

The Right Way.

Motorists on the highway between Greenfield and Pendleton have been having considerable difficulty in getting through a certain bad spot in the road. A few days ago an automobile sank to axle depths, but, after a titanic struggle, succeeded in backing out. The destination was forward, however, so the driver went to a farmhouse near by and asked a boy whether there was any other road he could take to Pendleton.

"Only road to Pendleton," the boy answered. "Ain't no other way."

"Oh, there must be some other way," the motorist insisted.

"Nope, no other way. Just go on into the hole and pa will be along in a little bit an' pull you out for $4."—Indianapolis News.

Jews as Farmers.

Gabriel Davidson, general manager of the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid society, has issued a report concerning its work. The society's goal has been, to quote the report, "to build up a substantial, progressive and permanent Jewish farming class in this country." Twenty-two years ago, when the organization began to function, there were 216 Jewish farm families in the United States. Today the number exceeds 60,000. In 1900 the total acreage owned by Jewish farmers was 12,029. Today more than 1,000,000 acres are farmed by Jewish hands, and the real estate and personal value of these holdings are above $1,000,000.

Dressing Asparagus Bed.

Give the asparagus bed a good dressing of manure. It will hasten the appearance of the "grass" and make it more tender. The custom of salting the bed may be omitted. It does not produce any noticeable results one way or the other.
