WALLA, WALLA STEAM LAUNDRY

WRECKED HIS OFFICE.

Editor Allen of Kernal Had Been At War With Blind-Piggers.

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 17.—One of the most dastardly outrages ever perpetrated in the state occurred at Kernal yesterday when a gang of lawless characters entered the office of the Kernal Journal and, after demolishing the fixtures, took all the type and threw it in the street. Much of the type went into mud holes and cannot be recovered. The loss amounts to $400. Editor Allen has been making a fight on blind-piggers and other crooks and the gang tried to force him out of business by starting another newspaper. He continued to publish his paper with the support of those in favor of law and order, and the hard cases decided it would require a bolder effort to cause his removal. The authorities are making an effort to locate the offenders and punish them. Four arrests have been made at Kernal, the men being suspected of wrecking the Journal office. They are charged with burglary and malicious mischief and their names are Harold Hartley, Jack O'Leary, William O'Leary and William Ray. The two first named were put in jail and the latter secured bonds. The men are transients.

THUGS HUNTED UP PETRIE.

An Anonymous Letter Writer Comes Into Murder Case.

Spokane.—The latest development in the Petrie murder case is an anonymous typewritten letter which was received by the Spokesman-Review. The letter is as follows: "Spokesman: Clue in Petrie murder case. Thugs went direct to car the boys were riding in, directed by parties who knew they were there. "A RAILROADER." The police have been shown the anonymous letter, but can throw no light on the case. No arrests have been made, not even of suspicious characters, and the case threatens to take its place with the unsolved mysteries, three of which have developed in the past four months. Petrie's body was shipped yesterday to St. Cloud, Minn., for interment. His people live there.

HOPKINS IS THE LATEST.

United States Marshal is "Mentioned" For Governor.

Now that it is becoming the fashion for republican politicians to be "mentioned" for governor, possible candidates are springing up on every hand, says the Spokesman-Review. The latest addition to the list of possibilities is United States Marshal Charles B. Hopkins. Anyone acquainted with Mr. Hopkins' modesty will understand without being told that he denies the "soft impeachment" with as much vehemence as his gentle nature and retiring disposition will permit. Still the gossip is floating around. Local politicians are getting pretty tired of having candidates sprung nearly a year in advance of convention time, and the signs are good for a lull in the political storm. Politicians all agree that it is impossible to get any idea of the situation now, to make any possible combination for the future. Combinations are impossible except where somebody can deliver something, and with a fight on every large county in the state nobody can do business with any prospect of being able to deliver the goods.

DROVE OUT THE CHINESE.

Heppner, Ore.—Heppner no longer counts Chinese in her population. They were all ordered out of town Thursday by a citizen's committee and left that night. The city is now free of Orientals, Chinese restaurants and wash houses. The 15 celestials who have long made their homes here are seeking pastures new, where the citizen's committee is unknown. The recent murder for which Gong Lee was tried and acquitted, is what prompted this action. At the time the trial was had and the verdict of guilty returned, the citizens were so wrathful against the Chinamen as to believe that, despite the veto of Gong Lee was the guilty party, he was taken to the city limits after release and told to never again show his face in Heppner. Things went along slowly after this for the Chinamen as the people were prejudiced against them. At the beginning of the week the movement to expel the Orientals was agitated and culminated in a committee composed of responsible citizens and members of the city council waiting upon each Chinaman in person and reading the riot act to him or the "hike" act as it proved to be. The Chinamen were told to go and never return to the city of Heppner.

MACKEY AND M'LEOD FREE.

Men Who Fired Upon Stranahan On Nez Perce Reserve.

San Francisco, Oct. 19.—Through a blunder of a federal law officer, two men under sentence of imprisonment were released by the court of appeals. The prisoners are Charles Mackey and J. Archie McLeod. They were convicted of having, on July 26, 1902, fired with a revolver and a shotgun upon C. T. Stranahan, superintendent of the Nez Perce reservation in Idaho while Stranahan was making a search for spirituous liquors which had been unlawfully introduced into the reservation. The prisoners were prosecuted under section 6 of "Act to further prevent smuggling for other purposes."

Judge Gilbert, in rendering the opinion of the court of appeals, said:

"It is as clear as words can make it that the act refers only to offenses committed against officers of the custom, their deputies and persons assisting them in the execution of their duties, and that it has no application to an act done in resistance of an Indian agent in making searches or seizures upon an Indian reservation."

HIS DOG DIES OF GRIEF.

Collie Refuses to Leave Young Master's Grave.

Astoria, Ore., Oct. 19.—A short time ago Elliott Henry, the 24-year-old son of Chris Henry of Pillar Rock, was accidentally shot and killed while out hunting. With him at the time was his collie dog. His dog began to act queerly immediately after the boy's death, and followed the funeral to the grave and would not leave after the casket had been covered up. The next day the dog was found there and was driven home, but he returned to the grave at the first opportunity. A bed was made for him there and some food placed near, but this he would not touch, and kept up a constant moaning. The attention of the neighborhood was attracted by the action of the dog and many means were attempted to persuade him to leave the grave, all of which were unsuccessful. The dog either starved himself or died of a broken heart, as his dead body was found by the grave one morning about 10 days later. It was buried beside his master.

MUCH GAMBLING IN LA GRANDE.

Fourteen Saloons Run Tables Which Have Nightly Play.

La Grande, Ore.—There is more gambling going on in La Grande than in any other city of its size in eastern Oregon. There are over 20 saloons, and at least 14 of that number contain from two to three gambling tables, which are in operation every night. This is conducted in direct violation of the state law, which some of the attorneys say is strong enough to suppress gambling in every form. The officers pass up the violation. The officers will even go in and watch the games in progress. Music is rendered during the entire night shift in nearly all of these places in one business block, in the center of town, there are seven gambling yards. All of these are within 150 yards of each other. It is said the mayor is an anti-gambling man, but that he can not get the backing of his councilmen.

ONE PRISONER GETS AWAY.

Exciting Running Fight in Umatilla Streets.

Umatilla, Ore.—A running fight between two suspects and Deputy Sheriff Blakeley Saturday evening caused excitement here. J. D. Gladney was captured and L. M. Howard made his escape. They are wanted on complaint of a man named Van Hook, who alleges they buncoed him out of a small check. Both were under arrest, but Gladney escaped through a hotel window and was recaptured after several shots were fired. Howard made good his escape while the other chase was on.

THE NOVEMBER PEARSON'S.

The cover design of the November Pearson's is a dainty little maiden reproduced from one of Mrs. Adrian C. Hope's pastel portraits of children. A well illustrated article on Mrs. Hope's portrait work opens the number. The special articles are numerous and interesting—Life in Metals is a description by A. Sarath Kumar Ghosh of a remarkable discovery which Professor Bose, a Hindu philosopher, claims to have made, that peculiarities of animal matter are exactly reproduced in the case of metals, indicating that metals are "alive" in the same sense that animals and vegetables live. The Marvels of Fruit Breeding, by Marcus Woodward, tells of the results obtained by the crossing of various fruits. An interesting bit of American history is recalled by Mr. David S. Barry's article on The Electoral Commission, which was appointed in 1877 to settle the Hayes-Tilden election dispute. Edward Harrigan contributed an article on the methods which have led to his great success in portrayal of East Side types, and Mr. William P. Symm has an excellent character sketch of Cardinal Gibbons, the greatest Roman Church dignitary in America. Sir Henry Morgan—Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady's fierce old Buccaneer—reaches in this number the beginning of the end of his infamous career. There are several bright short stories—The Pariah, by Captain T. Jenkins Haines, a growsome tale of a sea-devil; The Ivory Casket, by Mr. James Workman, a pretty little romance of the time of Cromwell; Her Right to Choose, by Mr. J. P. Setoun, a little romance with a hint of underlying tragedy; Lady Ella's Marriage, by Owen Oliver, a ship-board dialogue; The Duel of Don Q, and the Dark Brothers of the Civil Guard, by K. and Hesketh Prichard, and the Biograph Theater, by Gelett Burgess, and Will Irwin one of the Pizarro stories. Two short poems, Another, by R. A. H., and A Mother's Song, by L. B. Durrant, complete this number, which, like all preceding ones, is generously illustrated.

LITERARY NOTES FROM THE CENTURY CO.

The November Century will contain the first published account of the difficulties and dangers being successfully overcome in the construction of the Hudson River tunnel. One of the most puzzling problems confronting modern engineering skill has been the necessity of tunneling not under but through water. How the problem was solved and at what risks and cost will be the subject of H. Addington Bruce's "Fighting the Hudson." Work is going on also on a twin tunnel, immediately to the south of the first. This second tunnel runs parallel to its mate, both entering the river at the foot of Fifteenth street in Jersey City and emerging at the foot of Morton street in New York, between the piers of two steamship companies. It is thought that within a year both may be available for the purpose for which they are being built—trolley-car transit between Jersey City and New York.

THE YOUTH OF WASHINGTON.

The Century will publish during the coming year what seems likely to be pronounced a daring and unique piece of historical writing, "The Youth of Washington: Told in the Form of an Autobiography," by S. Weir Mitchell, LL. D., author of "Hugh Wynne." Dr. Mitchell imagines Washington sitting down at Mount Vernon in his old age and recording, solely for his own eye, the story of his "youthful life and the influences that affected it for good or ill." It is promised that the author has so fully entered into the habit of mind of Washington that it will be impossible for the reader to separate in the text the passages taken out of his actual writings from those which Dr. Mitchell imagines him to write.

TO FIGHT THE TRADE UNIONS.

Meeting is Called for Final Organization of National Federation. Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 19.—A call has been issued by David M. Parry for a meeting of the representatives of manufacturing employers and trade organizations, to be held in Chicago, Oct. 29 and 30 for the purpose of completing the organization of the National Federation of Employers. A part of the plan is to raise a fund of $1,500,000 which is to be used in defending members of the new federation from the strike and boycott. Mr. Parry says he has been in correspondence with manufacturers and he is convinced that the federation will be formed along the lines suggested at the New Orleans meeting.
