

It matters not what may be said, the real questions nowadays are, "How does it look?" and "What is the style?" Sack suits, of course, but what about the cut? Sack suits have even more character this season than ever. We want to say to you that the most clever and artistic clothing that our men and young men have ever seen is now in our store. Coats quite some longer, straight athletic shoulders, long shapely lapels, eight-inch fly-button vent in the side or center seams, sleeves with imitation cuffs, trousers very roomy at the thigh, two-inch facings at bottoms, quite "peg top" shape—all the new ideas for Spring and Summer, Nineteen-Five. You'll see new and interesting things about our suits this season.

HUNDREDS OF FRIENDS AND FORMER SCHOOLMATES ATTENDED SERVICES.

Popularity of Young Man Attested—Services Conducted by President Penrose and Rev. Griffiths.

The popularity of George Raymond Sutherland, who was drowned in Lake Washington, near Seattle last Monday evening while bathing, was fully attested this afternoon when fully 300 of the young man's friends and former schoolmates assembled at the Sutherland residence at the corner of Second street and Eagan avenue to attend funeral services over his body, which were held at 2 o'clock. A large number of students of Whitman college attended in a body while many others, friends of the dead boy and his parents, assembled. The services were conducted by President S. B. L. Penrose, president of Whitman college and Rev. Griffiths, chaplain at Fort Walla Walla. Many beautiful floral offerings and wreaths completely covered the casket.

At the cemetery a large concourse of friends assembled to pay their last respects to the young man. The following were the pallbearers: George Thompson, Jr., Rudolph Rupp, Ridgway Gillis, Charles Robertson, Carl O. Retzlaff and Alman H. Fuller of Seattle.

TROUBLES STARTED IN GARDEN
Seattle Real Estate Man Convicted of Common Law Offense.

SEATTLE, May 31.—C. D. Hillman, owner of the "Garden of Eden" is facing the penalty of one year in the county jail and a fine of $500 or both, as the result of a verdict of guilty by a jury in the superior court. The charge on which Hillman and his right hand man, Laurence S. Forrest, were tried, was that of having conspired to defraud J. H. Cann out of $150, on a pretense of taking the performance of duties as foreman in a warehouse, which position the young man was promised at a salary of $100 a month.

Former Prosecuting Attorney John F. Miller, who conducted the case, stated that Hillman is accused of defrauding many persons by similar methods, and that numerous other criminal charges will be brought.

Hillman has operated as a real estate dealer in Seattle for many years. He laid out and sold several additions before he bought the "Garden of Eden" tract at the foot of Lake Washington. As an additional means of securing purchasers he advertised that he needed many men to clear away brush, lay sidewalks and act as foremen in warehouses. He usually failed to state that the purchase of land was a necessary condition to employment, that a deposit would be required and that a large portion of the compensation would have to be taken in land.

Many persons were actually employed under these conditions, but Hillman has been constantly involved in suits brought by people who claimed to have been defrauded. A numerous body of his customers formed a society known as the "Hillman Victim Association."

There being no statute particularly defining the acts of Hillman as an offense, the charge against him was made under the common law. Cases of that nature have rarely been before the courts in recent years.

ORAL WILL IS VALID
Marie Carrau Will Get John Sullivan Estate of $500,000.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—That an oral will is valid under the laws of the state of Washington has been decided in the supreme court of the United States.

The case in which the decision was reached was that of Hannah O'Connor and Edward Corcoran against Terence O'Brien, administrator of the estate of John Sullivan, Marie Carrau, William Russell and S. F. Combs.

Sullivan, who resided in Seattle and owned an estate valued at $500,000, died September 26, 1900 four days before the date set for his marriage with Marie Carrau. On the night before his death he called in several persons and requested them to witness that he devised all of his property to Miss M. Carrau.

Sullivan's declaration was offered for probate in King county in the shape of a noncupative will, witnessed properly and admitted. Its validity was attacked by the plaintiffs, who were the nearest relatives of Sullivan, and resided in Ireland.

The lower courts all declared the will valid, and these concurring decisions have been affirmed by the supreme court.

JAPS SHOW PATRIOTISM

Slash Themselves With Knives in Honor of Togo's Victory.

SEATTLE, June 1.—Because of the success of Togo's fleet, R. Yamamoto and J. Snorora, two Japanese, decided they would celebrate. They imbibed freely of American whiskey, after which Snorora suggested that as they were not permitted to shed their blood on a man-of-war, it would be a very praiseworthy act if they allowed a little to flow from self-inflicted wounds.

Out came the knives and the man who suggested the sacrifice soon had a scarlet stream flowing from a gash in his arm. Yamamoto followed suit, but in the mind of Snorora the wound of his companion was insignificant, and he attacked him with his fists and all the available furniture he could lay his hands on.

Yamamoto, closely followed by the bloody patriot, rushed from the room and into the arms of the police. Both were taken to jail. When the case came up for trial Yamamoto was discharged. Snorora was fined $10.

WALLA WALLA DEALERS WIN

BEAT OUT PORTLAND AND SOUND DEALERS FOR FURNISHING FORAGE FOR FORT.

Awarded Contracts Aggregating $20,000 by Quartermaster's Department at Vancouver.

Contracts aggregating nearly $20,000 have been awarded to Walla Walla dealers by the quartermasters department at Vancouver for furnishing supplies for the Fourth Cavalry at Fort Walla Walla. Robert H. Johnson, proprietor of the Electric Feed Mills was awarded the contract for furnishing 1,410,000 pounds of timothy hay and 800,000 pounds of oats. John Alhelt secured the contract for furnishing nearly a half million pounds of straw and 200,000 pounds of oats.

Mr. Johnson's contract stipulates that one-fourth of the hay is to be delivered at the fort by July 1 and the remainder during September. The oat contract will be filled after harvest. Keen competition marked the awarding of the forage contracts, Portland and Sound contractors entering the field against the Walla Walla dealers. Mr. Johnson only secured the hay contract by bidding 20 cents per ton less than any of his competitors.

PROMOTION FOR GRISCOM.

Minister Will Be Promoted to Assistant Secretary of State.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Lloyd Griscom, the American minister to Japan, is to be recalled and appointed assistant secretary of state. The transfer will not take place until fall, when a number of diplomatic changes will occur. Mr. Griscom will succeed Francis B. Loomis, who is to be given an appointment as ambassador, not to Mexico, as has been anticipated, but probably to Brazil. Mr. Thompson, minister at Rio de Janeiro, will be transferred to Mexico in succession to Minister Conger, who will retire in September or October.

In bringing Griscom to Washington, President Roosevelt is actuated by a desire to have in the state department an official who is congenial to Secretary Hay, and who thoroughly understands the far eastern situation.

Griscom has done splendid work in Japan, far better than was expected, in view of his youth and his inexperience in Oriental affairs. It is no secret that when he first arrived in Tokio the Japanese were astonished that the American government had not sent an older diplomat, but the Japanese government has let it be known that it regrets Mr. Griscom's departure, but it has not made nor will it make any effort to retain him. That is the province of the president of the United States. But Japan feels that it will be particularly unfortunate if the American minister who has proved so peculiarly acceptable should be withdrawn in such a critical moment.

By leaving Tokio Griscom suffers a pecuniary loss, as his salary will be more than cut in half.
