

THE EVENING STATESMAN

E. E. FALL, Owner and Publisher. Seth Maxwell, Managing Editor. D. W. Ifft, Advertising Manager. TELEPHONE 123

Entered at the Postoffice at Walla Walla, Washington, as second-class matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

Daily— One Year in advance, by mail ...$3.00 Six Months in advance, by mail...$1.50 One Month, by carrier ... 25c Weekly— One Year in advance, by mail ...$1.00 Six Months in advance, by mail... 50c

Copy for advertising should be in the Business Office not later than 10 o'clock a. m. to insure insertion on that day.

The Complete Telegraph News Service printed in these columns is furnished by THE UNITED PRESS And is By Far the Best Report Published in Walla Walla.

The Evening Statesman's motto: "Greater Walla Walla."

WEATHER FORECAST.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 24.—Walla Walla: Fair tonight and Thursday; Walla Walla and vicinity: Fair tonight and Thursday.

Weather Conditions.

An immense area of high pressure covers the western half of the United States and fair weather has prevailed in nearly all sections west of the Mississippi. The disturbance over the middle west has drifted to the St. Lawrence valley and rains, mostly light have occurred from eastern Texas to the lower lakes. In Oklahoma and Arkansas the rainfall was heavy. Yesterday was another warm day in the middle west and the Atlantic states, but it is cooler this morning in most places in the eastern half of the country. West of the Mississippi it is generally warmer. The conditions favor a continuation of the present fair and warm weather in this vicinity tonight and Thursday. JOHN GROVER, Observer.

DEMOCRATIC CITY TICKET.

For Mayor—EUGENE TAUSICK. For Marshal—EMIL SANDERSON. For Street Commissioner—DION KEEFFE. For Assessor—M. TONER. For City Attorney—T. A. PAUL. For Councilman First Ward—C. J. BOWERS. For Councilman Second Ward—C. M. TAYLOR. For Councilman Third Ward—C. H. CUMMINGS. For Councilman Fourth Ward—M. E. CROSSEN.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The eleven years that have passed since Grover Cleveland left the white house have served to efface the bitterness which characterized the closing months of the second Cleveland administration, and the fierce partisan spirit of a decade ago is today forgotten as a nation pours out its tribute to the "sage of Princeton."

The busy life of Grover Cleveland can be looked at from many points of view. Whatever else may be said of him he was a man of unflinching courage. He had none of the braggadocio which we have, in these latter years, been accustomed to associate with courage. It was that sublimer courage which showed itself most of all in its utter disregard of popular opinion. The most ardent enemy Cleveland ever had—and he had perhaps more than any other public man in our history—never said Cleveland flinched in the face of danger.

What was more, the man never lived who dictated to Grover Cleveland. Whether as mayor, as governor, or as president, Cleveland was his own boss, and he did not hesitate to take the responsibility for any of his official actions.

As men are measured, Grover Cleveland was a great man. He arose from obscurity to positions of great power, and his life will stand as an inspiration to struggling young manhood.

It is not unreasonable to expect that history will deal kindly with the man who was our only living ex-president.

IN PERSIA.

Big politics are being played in Persia. It is the politics of rulers to whom the lives of men and of women and of children count but little. The nations of Europe have long had their eye on Teheran, and the events of yesterday and today but foreshadow events of greater import.

The news dispatches tell us that Russian troops are being mobilized along the border, and put in readiness to move upon Persia at any moment. Demands have been made upon the shah that he release all political prisoners and restore order at once.

Russia's eye has been on Persia for years, and Russia has looked with suspicion upon the development of the shah's dominion by English capitalists.

When the truth is told it will be found that Russian and English diplomats probably precipitated the revolution which has already resulted in so much bloodshed, and the next few days will probably prove that the shah is unable to stem the tide of blood he has let loose upon his country.

After that Russian troops will enter upon Persian soil and behind them not very far will come the Englishmen.

When England and Russia both seek the same prize, and that prize is Asiatic territory, war clouds are not far beyond the horizon.

Big politics are being played in Persia.

GUARANTEEING BANK DEPOSITS.

The more that is said about the subject of finance and banking and panics and currency legislation and clearing house certificates and currency commissions, the more Mr. Average Citizen comes to the conclusion that the best preventative of panics is confidence in the banks.

Mr. Average Citizen doesn't interpret confidence in the banks to mean that the banks must make money. He is willing to trust Mr. Banker to look after that end of the transaction. What Mr. Average Man means by confidence in the banks, is confidence that when he and his friends, Mr. Business Man, Mr. Farmer and Mr. Wage Earner, put their money in the banks they will be able to get it out when they want it.

Mr. Average Citizen knows that Mr. Banker isn't going to keep all of his deposits in his vaults. He knows that this would not only deprive Mr. Banker of his opportunity to make a living out of his calling, but he knows also that this would be hoarding, and he is broadminded enough to know that hoarding, either in a safety deposit vault or in his mother-in-law's old stocking, isn't the best thing for the development of the country. He knows that the money is needed in the channels of trade and he is willing enough that his money should be used in legitimate enterprises, providing the bank will adopt some method of insuring him that his deposit will be returned when he wants it.

And another thing: Mr. Average Citizen hasn't wasted much time in studying the new currency law, but he knows that it contemplates the issuance of wild cat currency and he knows that if the banks undertake to use this new law, Mr. Average Citizen and his friends, Mr. Business Man, Mr. Farmer and Mr. Wage Earner, are going to demand gold and that gold will go to a premium.

Mr. Average Citizen is watching events pretty closely these days, and the indications are that he is going to insist that the government adopt some form of guarantee for deposits. He knows something about the Oklahoma plan, and what he knows is good. The chances are that Mr. Average Citizen is going to insist on the adoption of that plan in the state and in the nation.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

The Fourth of July is a national holiday because on that day the nation's independence was declared and it is considered as the birthday of the republic. Patriotism would suggest an appropriate celebration in every community—a celebration at which the people would gather to bestow merited praise upon our forefathers; to discuss the fundamental principles of methods of government; to review the achievements of the past; to consider the dangers that menace the future; and to lay plans for the perpetuity of a government of the people, by the people and for the people, says the Commoner. Amusements can be introduced in the program but the amusements ought to be incidental and not the main feature of the day. Is it not possible for the people to lay aside for at least one day out of the year their interest in material prosperity and consider the questions vitally concerning our national life and our national destiny?

When the parents commemorate the Fourth of July as they should, it will be easy to prepare the children for the duties of citizenship. We are all imitators to a greater or less extent and the children are quite sure to be impressed by the actions and conversations of their elders. The best way to prepare our children for the discharge of the high duties of citizenship is to be scrupulously careful ourselves about the discharge of the duties of citizenship. If parents are indifferent to the observance of the Fourth of July, their children are apt to be. If the parents prefer amusements on that day, the children are apt to prefer amusements, too. It is not necessary that there should be an elaborate address by a distinguished speaker, although an impressive address by one who enjoys the confidence of the people is entirely fitting. The declaration of independence should be read, national airs ought to be sung and those who are leaders of thought in their community ought to be for a day free for the exchange of sentiment and for the stimulation of thought about public questions and interest in public affairs.

The indifference with which some now speak of the vital principles set forth in the declaration of independence ought to lead to more zeal on the part of those who defend the declaration of independence. Colonialism would not have been accepted so complacently by so many had there been the interest there ought to have been in the constant discussion of the principles of free government. Imperialism would not have found the reception that it did and the Fourth of July been observed as it ought to have been observed, and the advocates of imperialism and colonialism will grow less in proportion as the people take an active interest in the perpetuation of the ideals of government that led the patriots of 1776 to promulgate the declaration of independence and pledge to its support their lives, their property and their sacred honor.

What Mr. Cain should have done, or Mr. Hurspool in his absence, was to refuse, when asked by the city council, to pass upon the question, and suggest that the city employ, at his expense, some capable, disinterested member of the Walla Walla bar to decide the mooted question in his stead. To the fair minded voter, it looks too much like a "star chamber" proceeding; too much like petty, cheap politics.

From my point of view, Mr. Cain missed an opportunity, not only to play good politics, fair politics, but to show the people that he was big enough and broad enough to consider another's rights and that he was willing to go

A GOOD STANDBY.

Is good, nutritious Bread and upon this bread the foundation of a happy, healthful life can be built. You can get this bread at THE MODEL BAKERY, Phone 38, No. 3 First Street.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

- D. W. Bailey is up from Pendleton on business. H. G. Rore is in from Eltopia on a brief business visit. John Sproule, of Pomeroy, is a guest of friends in the city. W. F. Anderson, of Two Rivers, is a visitor in the city. J. P. Winter, of Pendleton, is transacting business in the city today. J. L. Hodges, of Prescott, is in the city visiting friends for a few days. Miss Lorene Rivers is down from Pomeroy visiting with friends in the city. Miss Marie Niedergall has gone to Portland to visit friends for a few days. C. E. Nelson, of Pendleton, is up for a few days looking after business interests. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boyer, of Page, are visiting with friends and relatives in the city today. J. M. Moore, a well known Touchet farmer, is in the city on business and pleasure this afternoon. Mrs. Mary Smith and daughter, Mrs. L. C. Marcellus and Mrs. Marcellus daughter, Miss Naomi, of Oakland, Oregon, are in the city visiting Mrs. R. E. LaDue for a few weeks.

Editorials of the People.

The Evening Statesman will be glad to print communications from its readers on all topics of popular interest. All communications should be accompanied by the name of the writer not necessarily for publication, but simply as an evidence of good faith; they should be written on but one side of the paper, and unless other arrangement is made with the editor, should not be over 500 words in length. The publication of all communications will, of course, be subject to the prior demands for space on this page.

Tim Paul and Oscar Cain.

Editor Statesman, The writer of this communication is not a lawyer and is therefore not qualified to express an opinion as to the legality of Mr. T. A. Paul's claim to the democratic nomination for the office of city attorney. The city council has refused to canvass the vote and from present indications it looks like Mr. Paul's name may not appear upon the official ballot at the July city election. Be that as it may, it looks to an unprejudiced observer like there was a disposition to quibble and take advantage of a mere technicality in the law, in the hope that the present incumbent in office, Oscar Cain, might go before the people without opposition.

It is nothing to Mr. Cain's credit, that the written opinion that was submitted to the city council, was not over his own signature. It is to be presumed that Mr. Hurspool, Mr. Cain's law partner, and the acting city attorney in his absence, advised with his principal before submitting an opinion upon a question in which he (Mr. Cain) was so vitally concerned. If Mr. Cain had any desire to be fair and to accord to a fellow practitioner the courtesy, which I always supposed the ethics of the profession demanded, he would have refused to pass upon a question, the decision of which might be to his personal advantage.

What Mr. Cain should have done, or Mr. Hurspool in his absence, was to refuse, when asked by the city council, to pass upon the question, and suggest that the city employ, at his expense, some capable, disinterested member of the Walla Walla bar to decide the mooted question in his stead. To the fair minded voter, it looks too much like a "star chamber" proceeding; too much like petty, cheap politics.

From my point of view, Mr. Cain missed an opportunity, not only to play good politics, fair politics, but to show the people that he was big enough and broad enough to consider another's rights and that he was willing to go

NOT CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.

Secretary Metcalf Says He Will Resume Law Practice.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—That he will retire from public life and resume the practice of law after the present administration is finished, is the statement made today by Secretary Metcalf, who has returned from Washington.

"I am going to return to the Pacific coast and resume the practice of law," he said, "I do not intend to be a candidate for the United States senate and have no idea where the rumor has started that I would try to succeed Senator Perkins."

Railroad Men Meet.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 24.—What promises to be the most interesting session in the history of the association of transportation and car accounting officers will be opened tomorrow morning at Niagara Falls, Ont., and is attracting delegates from scores of cities.

Commercial Travelers.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 24.—The before the people on his own merits. It looks very like Mr. Cain was looking for a cinch and that he was not willing to go in and win or lose against his opponent, as the other candidates for election are doing.

It is not, however, by any means certain, that Mr. Paul's name will not be on the official ballot, despite the present filibuster. Steps are being taken to lay the matter before the higher authorities.

There are many good and valid reasons why it would be for the best interests of the city to elect some one other than the present incumbent. I do not intend to call into question Mr. Cain's ability as a lawyer. He is able enough, but I am reliably informed that he neglects or leaves to others much of the important routine work of the office; that he is too much inclined, as is too often the case with men who make a profession of politics, to look upon his office as a mere sinecure.

On the other hand, Mr. Paul is a young man who has spent the greater part of his life in Walla Walla. He is well known and is a clean cut, honest, upright, able fellow, free from all political and factional entanglements. Such a man is sorely needed at the head of the city's legal department and such a man, I believe Mr. Paul to be.

Mr. Paul was a candidate for prosecuting attorney at the 1902 county election, against Lester S. Wilson, and while he failed of election throughout the entire county, because of the fact that he was not so well known as his opponent in the country, it will be remembered, that he carried the city of Walla Walla.

The coming election has to do with Walla Walla only and it is reasonable to suppose that he is as strong now as he was then.

He is young, energetic, and of undoubted integrity and will carry into his work a lofty sense of obligation to his employers, the people.

Don't forget to cast your vote for Tim Paul.

—OBSERVER.

RANSOM BLOCK Corner First and Alder Sts. Business Directory.

SECOND FLOOR. E. D. MATTINSON, LOANS, INSURANCE, Surety Bonds, Notary Public. Rooms, 206-207. Phone Main 250.

THIRD FLOOR. RADER & BARKER, ATTORNEYS and Counsellors at Law. Phone 714. Rooms, 313, 314, 315, 316.

DR. A. E. BRADEN, PHYSICIAN AND Surgeon. 304 to 307, Ransom Bldg. Office Phone Main 1443; Residence Phone, Main 1444, Walla Walla, Wn.

FOURTH FLOOR. WEATHER BUREAU—ROOMS 412 413. F. Newman, Observer. Telephone, Main 514. THE VIAMI SYSTEM OF TREATMENT cures in Nature's own way. We surely save you from the knife. Parlors, 216, 217. Telephone 606.

WANTED. WANTED—BOY WITH HORSE TO carry paper. Inquire at this office. WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL household. Family of two adults and one child. Phone 1764.

FOR SALE. FOR SALE—ONE McCORMICK Header and four header boxes; all in good condition. Address Statesman, or call up phone Main 16. (38)

OLD PAPERS FOR SALE AT THE Statesman office. 15c per 100.

FURNISHED ROOMS. FURNISHED ROOMS—AT 244 Marcus St., Phone 1486.

COURT REPORTER. STENOGRAPHER; GENERAL REPORTING; any kind of work requiring the "winged art." S. A. Scott, Room 319 Denny Building, Phone Main 901.

FOR RENT. FOR RENT—NICELY FURNISHED front rooms, strictly modern. Gentlemen preferred, with or without board. 519 S. Second St.

FOR RENT—THREE ROOMS FURNISHED for light housekeeping. $10 a month. No children, 906 W. Poplar St. (34)

FOR RENT—A MODERN 5-ROOM cottage, all conveniences, plenty of shade, 2 1/2 wks from street car. Phone 960 (34)

TO EXCHANGE. WALLA WALLA BUSINESS LOT, for Portland property. See Chas. Worth, Brechtel Bldg. (26)

GENERAL. WHITE FRONT, WALLA WALLA Junk Shop—Wholesale and retail dealers in all kinds of Hides, Wool, Scrap Iron, Brass, Copper, Rubber, Lead, Zinc, Bottles, Old Rubbers and Second-Hand Sacks, and Second-Hand Furniture, Stoves and Carpets. M. SHANK, Telephone Main 879. 105 East Main street.

TREO RONDEMA FOR ALL KINDS OF DRESSED POULTRY, FLOUR and FEED. Telephone 2139; 426 W. Main street. (40)

VETERINARY SURGEON. DR. J. J. MURRAY, VETERINARY Surgeon and Dentist; graduate of American Veterinary College, N. Y. Office, Star Livery Barn, corner of Fifth and Alder. Phone 52. (37)

UNDERTAKERS. J. W. COOKERLY, UNDERTAKER and Embalmer, 7 1-2 First street. We are licensed by both Washington and Oregon Boards of Health to ship bodies. (25)

SUITS PRESSED. STROLLERS PRESSING CLUB—Cleaning of Ladies' and Gentlemen's garments. Hats blocked and cleaned. 14 North Third street.

TAILORS. LDAY & LANG—PRACTICAL TAILORS. Come in and see our up-to-date patterns at lowest prices. Corner of Fourth and Alder streets.

I have a large list of wheat, stock, alfalfa, and fruit ranches for sale that are money-makers. Write for price list. A. O. JOHNSON, The Real Estate Man, FREEWATER, ORE.

SACRIFICE SALE. Fair three-room house and large lot for the next three days to be sold for $475.00 $50 down balance on easy payments. Frankland & Brown. Real Estate, Loans & Insurance. 106 East Alder St. Phone 1534

J. H. Timmons, Transfer. All manner of freight, goods and musical instruments handled with care. All orders promptly attended to. Forwarding freight a specialty. Office Hedger's Jewelry Store. Res. 1597 Telephone, Main 265.

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER. OREGON LUMBER YARD. JOHN W. MCRITE, Mgr. 121 W. Main St. Phone Main 194

Dry Fir, Slab and Pine Wood. Diamond and Rock Springs lump and nut coal.

D. W. MILLER. Phone 167. Yards—East Summach St.

Schneller OPTICAL SPECIALIST. 18 EAST MAIN ST. PHONES—OFFICE 553—RESIDENCE 592 EYES TESTED GLASSES GRIND—FITTED

Modern Bottling Works. E. D. Nicholson, Prop. Phone 1421 465 Sprague Ave. Manufacturers of everything in soft drink line. Dealers and family accounts solicited.

Don't neglect your eyes now while you are thinking of it; make up your mind to come here for glasses. We are careful—you should be. CLISE OPTICAL CO., exclusive optical specialists 30 years' practice fitting glasses. 23 1-2 E. Main St. Phone 256.

THE EVANS CHEMICAL CO. U.S.A. Use Big 48 for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes, Painless, and not addictive or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles $2.75. Circulars sent on request.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS. THE DR. DISCOVERED BY CHICHESTER'S PILLS, and sold in all parts of the world. Take one other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHICHESTER'S DR. HENRY'S PILLS for 22 years' record in Best, Satisfactory, Always Reliable. Sold by Druggists every where. Chichester Chemical Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The New York Dental Parlors. High Grade Dentistry. Third Between Main and Alder. PHONE 494.

Eugene Lennon. An energetic man to sell lots in my addition as I am going away June 23. It will be necessary for him to live on the place. The location is the best and close in, fine rich soil, no rock; grass three, feet high; many new buildings going up at this time. Lots all sizes up to 140 by 314. Price from $450 up. Special inducements for the next eight days. Small payments down others monthly to suit your convenience. Lennon's Addition on Boyer Ave, Phone 1929, or call at place.

John W. Sawyer Suits and Shirts made as you want them made. 222 E. Alder. Phone 1464

Wholesale Retail ENVELOPES. If you are looking for envelopes, we have them just received a carload lot. All Tints All Sizes All Grades. FICTION NEW EDITION: "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" The Corner