LYNDEN HIGH SCHOOL COURSE NOW IS THREE YEARS

School Prepared to Instruct in Eleventh Grade—Teachers Are Assigned

School begins Monday, Sept. 7, with a full corps of teachers. A perfect attendance the first day will greatly assist the principal and teachers in planning their work.

A new physical laboratory has been planned with a standard equipment of apparatus that will make the teaching of physics, botany, zoology and physical geography practical. The order for the apparatus was placed with an Eastern firm six weeks ago. It is hoped that the supplies may arrive soon so as not to delay the science work.

This new department makes it possible to teach three of the four courses outlined by the state for high schools: the classical which has been taught and two more, the English and the scientific. The state course will be followed closely.

Several months ago a library fund of $27.03 was raised by the teachers. This fund will be invested in new grade and high school books for the school. The number of volumes will be increased from 165 to over 200. This library together with the 50 volumes of the state circulating library kept at the post office ought to go far in aiding both teacher and pupil. A good working library is indispensable to efficient school work.

The following are the teachers employed and the assignment of work:

Miss Ruth Sears, Bellingham, first grade; Miss Maud Wallace, Ferndale, second grade; Miss Juanita Ambrose, Bellingham, third grade; Miss Sara Jones, Lynden, fourth grade; Miss Gladys Kreter, Bellingham, fifth grade; Mrs. Laura McClean, Ferndale, not assigned; Miss Pearl Crabtree, Lynden, not assigned; Mrs. A. N. French, Lynden, supply; Miss Pearl Gilkey, Seattle, high school; Mr. A. N. French, Lynden, principal.

Miss Sara Jones is entering upon her sixth year of successful teaching in the Lynden schools. All the other teachers though experienced are new to the work in this place. The eighth grade will be under high school supervision and the supply teacher will assist in the teaching of this grade. One new teacher has been added to the high school, Miss Pearl Gilkey of the University of Seattle. Miss Gilkey is a specialist in her line and will teach foreign languages, English and history.

There will be no change in the list of adopted text books of the grades or high school. In the high school only such books will be new as are made necessary by the adding of two new courses.

The school board has taken more than the usual pains to put the school buildings in order and good repair. A new room has been furnished with modern desks, a teacher's desk, blackboard, curtains, etc. The seats in other rooms have been repaired. The windows and school yard fence have received the needed attention. All the walls of the old part have been treated with a coat of kalsomine. A year's supply of wood is on the ground.

Is there any reason why Lynden should not have a large attendance in each of the three grades offered above the eighth? It is up to the patrons to have the pupils of this and adjacent communities embrace these opportunities—a laboratory, library and teachers are at your disposal. Any pupil of the eighth grade who is thinking of taking a course in mechanics, drafting or engineering at a scientific or trades school is asked to consult the principal now that a new physical department has been added to the high school. All eighth grade graduates of other districts are encouraged to enter the schools of Lynden.

No Blame on Management

After the accident at Waple's shingle mill last week by which Ward Staigh lost three fingers of his right hand, the works was closed down until an inspector arrived. The inspector investigated the plant and relieves the management of any blame for the accident.

The unfortunate workman hurried to the saw and missed the trip lever with his foot, falling with his hand on the saw. In arrangement of the saw the inspector found no fault and says that the accident could not have been avoided.

C. R. Holmes, the manager, has operated the mill for 160 years and this was his first serious accident. There isn't a shingle mill in Whatcom County that is as safe to workmen and the record proves it.

An Unpleasant Thought

Selected

I cannot bear to think upon
The fact that winter's coming on,
I love to coast and hitch the sled,
But there are other things beside:
The dentist, singing school and sums
Begin when chilly weather comes.
And worse than all, I cannot bear
To put on winter underwear.
I love the cold, I love the snow,
But woolen things do itch me so!

Death Claims a Pioneer

Mrs. Chas. Runyon, 21 years a resident of Lynden, passed away after a long illness Saturday afternoon. She was 65 years of age and a member of the Women's Relief Corps. The funeral took place Monday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. A. J. Whitfield of the Methodist Church conducted a short service at the home and the last sad rites at the cemetery.

Amanda Smith was born Feb. 16, 1843, and was one of a family of six boys and four girls all of which are still living except herself. Two of her brothers live in South Dakota and the other four and two sisters in Iowa.

Mrs. J. S. Harding, the other sister, who attended her during her last illness, lives at New Port, Wash.

After the Civil War, Miss Smith married her soldier lover, Chas. Runyon, in 1867 at Horton, Iowa. Three children came to bless this union all of whom survive her, Mrs. Henry Slade, Mrs. Walter True and Joe Runyon all of Lynden.

Twenty one years ago the family moved to Lynden and established their home. So besides her brothers and sisters and husband and children, Mrs. Runyon leaves a host of friends in Lynden who mourn her death.

W. R. C. Notes

At the last W. R. C. T. U. meeting, Miss Pauls and Mrs. Hay were elected to attend the State Convention at Everett Sept. 25 to 29.

The next regular meeting of the Lynden W. R. C. T. U. will be held in the M. E. church, Sept. 10 at 2:30. The program will be as follows:—Devotional Exercises, Mrs. N. J. Bostwick; Paper—Fresh air and sunlight, Mrs. C. E. Wheeler; Paper—Sanitary details about the house, Mrs. Florence Jacobs; Paper—Hereditary intemperance, Mrs. A. J. Whitfield. M. M. Sights, Secretary.

Items from Wiser

Charlie Davis has taken contract to fence a piece of land belonging to Mr. J. L. Dixon.

Miss Bessie Constant is visiting her sister Mrs. Clymer this week.

Barns, fences, gates and trees which are in sight of the road are covered with the announcements of the different candidates for office.

Walter Maupin, Ruby and Clarence Dahlquist passed the August exam.

New Dramatic Company

A Lynden Dramatic Company was organized Monday evening at the home of Dr. Mulder. The following officers were elected and the first performance decided upon: manager, Geo. Hall; director, Jack Gale; stage manager, Fred Saxauer. The play will be "The Pride of Virginia," a comedy, to be given some time this month for the benefit of the members of the Relief Corps. This is a good move and the people will give the performances of the company a good house.

Good Story on Seattle

From the pulpit in a Lynden church recently a visiting minister perpetrated a minstrel joke on Seattle which brought a hearty laugh from his audience and a ready pardon for the digression from his sermon.

A man died and applied at the gates for admission to heaven. St. Peter asked his name and could not find it on his list. "There must be a mistake somewhere," said the man from Seattle, "You surely have it." Failing to find the name, St. Peter waved him on below where a similar dialogue occurred with Old Nick. Here also the name was not upon the list and he was refused admittance. The condition was stated to Old Nick and he obligingly accompanied him for a conference with St. Peter at the gate.

It was plain that the name was on neither list, so the devil proposed to flip a dollar—heads, he goes to heaven; tails, he goes to everlasting torment—to which St. Peter agreed. The dollar was flipped. The man grabbed it. At once both St. Peter and the devil exclaimed, "Let's send him back to Seattle."

No Promises Made

If to be a successful politician means to promise one thing to one community, another to another and so on and to be all things to all people—in short, to sacrifice honor, to betray trust, then McBride will never be governor of this state but will always remain a highly respected citizen too honest for the game of politics the way it is played.

The following is a quotation from his address at Fremont August 26:

"It is being charged by the P.-I. and by what is generally known as the Perkins Press and other supporters of Governor Mead that my candidacy has been endorsed by the Royal Arch at Tacoma and at Seattle. I have had no communication of any kind or character either directly or indirectly from the Royal Arch or any member thereof. I have no knowledge or information about the Royal Arch, its members or its objects and aims, except as gleaned from the public press of this state. I am assured by friends in Tacoma that the statement that my candidacy had been endorsed by the Royal Arch at Seattle and Tacoma, or any other place, is absolutely false. If any such endorsement has been made it has been made without solicitation on my part or on the part of anyone connected with my campaign, and is contrary to my wishes and desires, and is without my consent or my approval. (Applause.)"

"I have not made any promises of any kind, character or nature whatsoever, directly or indirectly, either to the saloon forces of the state or to the anti-saloon forces of this state, except as contained in my public utterances, nor will I do so. I do not desire the support of anyone connected with the saloon forces or anyone connected with the anti-saloon forces, nor do I desire the support of any other voter in the State of Washington who is not in accord with the position I have taken or that I may take upon any question of interest to the people of this state. (Applause.) If I cannot be nominated without combination and if I cannot obtain and retain the confidence of the people of this state by an open and frank statement of my position upon all public questions, then I would much prefer to remain in private life. Neither will I—influences, innuendoes nor political hostility, nor the howling of the pessimists nor the charges of newspapers that are seeking to compass my defeat cause me to swerve a single iota from this course. I stand squarely upon the Republican platform adopted by the convention recently held at Spokane. (Applause.) As far as I am concerned, if nominated and elected governor of this state, both the saloon forces and the anti-saloon forces must be content with an honest and straightforward attempt upon my part to help redeem the pledge given to the people of this state. (Applause.)"

W. R. C. Notes

The W. R. C. had their regular meeting Aug. 29 with good attendance. Mrs. Runyon was reported as being very low.

Mrs. Randall being somewhat indisposed was a little late getting to Corps.

It was reported that Mrs. Will Storey's absence from Corps was due to her children all being sick with measles or breaking-out of some kind. We are sorry for we always miss her pleasant face. She has the sympathy of the Corps.

We were very much pleased to see Mrs. Stafford at Corps again after an absence of several meetings—also Mrs. P. A. Clark.

Mrs. Mary Jones has been quite poorly but was able to be at Corps.

Several of our members attended the reunion at the White City and came back looking as though they had had an enjoyable time.

PAID ADVERTISEMENTS

ANNOUNCEMENTS

To the Voters of Whatcom County. The public and private record made by Henry McBride in this state for honesty, integrity and capability, has convinced us that he is far the best candidate for the nomination of Governor on the republican ticket.
