The Scrap Book

A Delicate Distinction.
An Irish farmer was particularly fond of sausages, and one Friday the parish priest, calling unexpectedly while Michael was at dinner, found his parishioner enjoying sausages. "Michael," said the priest, "you must not indulge in meat on this day." "Sure, father, it's not meat I'm eating; it's sausage." "But, Michael, sausage is meat." "Oh, no, your reverence; sausage is not meat!" "Well, Michael, you know better, so I'll say no more, but I am in need of firewood, and you may bring me a load." The next day Michael appeared at the priest's residence with a load of sawdust. "Michael, I did not want any sawdust," said the priest. "It was wood I wanted." "Sure, father, it was wood I brought," replied Michael. "No, it was not; it was sawdust," answered the father. "But, father, if sausage is meat isn't sawdust wood?" asked Michael.—London Express.

Thus Spake Zeroaster.
Pollute thou not my spirit; keep it pure, And let thy pathway be the way of truth, For truth is loftier than an earthly crown, Yields honor and nobility to kings, Raises the lowly born to Virtue's throne.

Pay fervent homage unto nature's laws And all the wondrous works of God admire. The oceans that reflect the dying sun, The mountains where ye place departed friends, The stars, the skies, the earth, the waves, the air.

And these last do thou evermore keep pure, For from the earth spring forth the needed fruits; The balmy air contains the breath of God; The waters that ye drain support all life. So from pollution keep all these secure. —A. E. Ardessler-Heeramaeck.

Mr. S. H. Lewis Editor The Tribune, Lynden, Wash.

My dear Mr. Lewis: I notice in the last issue of The Tribune an announcement of the Klatawa Club dance. The article states that the money raised will be proffered to the local charity committee to be used in its work, and names the writer as chairman of this committee.

Every statement of the article is true. I think however that a mistake was made in using the name of a member of the committee in a way that infers that he is a patron of the social event announced. Our friends the generous Klatawas understand that such is not our attitude, and I think it best for the Charity Organization and for myself that this statement be made.

Most cordially yours,
PAUL H. ASHBY.

CARD OF THANKS
