WASHINGTON STATE NEWS OF INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Briefly Sketched for Information of Our Readers.

The O-W. R. & N. company is excavating for a new $25,000 depot at Bolles Junction.

A Chehalis county athletic league, comprising nine schools of the county, has been organized.

Twenty silos have been built this season on the Tieton project and 12 are planned for next year.

Box cars are being used in great numbers by fruit shippers in the Yakima valley in moving fruit to market.

The government bar dredge Colonel P. S. Michie is to be sent to Grays Harbor for work on the Grays Harbor bar.

The 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Dickerman, of Selah, was drowned in a lateral of the Selah canal.

Dr. W. E. Cass, of Vancouver, charged with illegally issuing a prescription for whisky, was found guilty by a jury.

The university of Washington opened her 1916 football season with a 37-to-6 victory over Whitman college at Seattle.

Expenditures for public improvement in Pomeroy and Garfield county have exceeded $200,000 since the first of the year.

John Hildebrandt, aged 36, who was shot by a policeman at Seattle September 5 after he had robbed a man on the street, has died.

The safe of the O-W. R. & N. station at Grandview was blown by yegmen and completely demolished. A small sum of money was obtained.

The annual session of the Oregon-Washington mission conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church was held last week at Walla Walla.

The Pacific Fruit & Produce company of North Yakima has an 80-acre field of potatoes on the Tieton project from which it will take this year a minimum crop of 500 tons.

The movement to secure a pardon for C. S. Gilchrist, former manager of the United States National bank in Centralia, has been vetoed by the federal department of justice.

"Tex" Vernon, well-known north west boxer, was arrested at Aberdeen by Deputy United States Marshal Sechrist, of Tacoma, on a warrant charging him with white slavery.

As a result of the bite of a kitten which he was trying to drown, J. W. Mawson, a well known farmer of Chehalis, is in a Chehalis hospital at the point of death, suffering from blood poison.

Wells hall, the new $17,000 dormitory to be erected for St. Paul's school, an Episcopal institution at Walla Walla, will be started soon. It is planned that the structure be completed by winter.

Nearly 200 logging operators of the Pacific coast were guests of Hoquiam last week. It was the closing day of the annual session of the Pacific Logging congress, and the delegates arrived in Hoquiam on a special train from Portland.

The Warren Construction company is laying from 350 to 400 feet of pavement daily on the interstate bridge approach at Vancouver, working south from the plant set up on the south bank of the Oregon slough. There is 12,000 feet of approach to be paved.

Spokane and the inland empire are facing the most acute fuel famine in history. A 10-day cold snap would place thousands of people in a position of actual suffering, according to Spokane fuel wholesalers, and the pinch will be felt most in the towns outside of Spokane.

Legal difficulties encountered by promoters of the plan for a joint tuberculosis hospital for Yakima, Kittitas, Benton and Klickitat counties are likely to cause the project to be dropped. It is declared illegal for any county to appropriate funds to be spent in another county.

Yakima apple growers and shippers feel they have at least a half million dollars in the balance in the issue that has been raised concerning the shortage of refrigerator cars to handle the crop. It is conceded that if there is no substantial relief soon that 1000 carloads will never be marketed.

With prices for potatoes holding steadily around $1.40 and $1.50 a hundredweight farmers of Kelso and vicinity are getting their spuds out of the ground as rapidly as possible. Many carloads of potatoes have already been shipped from Kelso for middle west and California delivery.

Last week's rain put an entirely new expression upon the countenance of the Walla Walla valley wheat farmer. Coming after a 47-day drought, during which practically no precipitation occurred, the downpour served to put ground in condition for fall plowing and seeding operations, and in fields where the seed had been sown in the dust, gave the growers cause to hope for a successful harvest next fall.

George H. Ceell, district forester at Portland, has begun advertisement for bids on a sale of 20,500 cords of shingle bolts on the Washington National forest. The tract of timber which is put on the market at this time covers 700 acres on Bacon creek, a tributary of the Skagit river, in Whatcom county.

Prune growers in the Felida section of Clarke county are receiving large returns for this year's prune crop. C. J. Nichols has an orchard of five acres and from this he harvested 36,000 pounds for which the French packing plant at Ellsworth paid $2340.19. Others have realized much more for their prunes.

The Seattle Construction & Drydock company has awarded to the McAlee Shipbuilding company the contract at a cost of $225,000 for constructing the first four hull sections of a 12,000 ton floating drydock addition to its big shipyards plant at Seattle. Later two additional sections are to be added, giving a total capacity of 20,000 tons.

The third annual state grade and pack association meeting will be held at Spokane November 25, to set the grading rules for 1918 as provided by the state law. The total number of delegates to the conference will be 178. The districts and the votes given are: Wenatchee, 80; Yakima, 80; Walla Walla, 80; Spokane, 10, and White Salmon, 2.

The government biological survey will make war on the timber wolves of the Olympic peninsula this fall and winter. The action is taken primarily as a means of protecting the elk and other game animals of the peninsula, but also to prevent the wolves becoming so numerous as to be a menace to people and livestock of the peninsula settlements.

A celebration unique in the history of the northwest took place at Walla Walla on Wednesday. The bodies of William H. Gray and his wife, the famous missionaries of 1836, have been removed from Astoria, Or., to Walla Walla, the Whitman mission, and have been buried by the side of Dr. and Mrs. Whitman, thus, after 80 years, reuniting lifelong friends.

With more than 20,000,000 salmon eggs in the hatching troughs, the Kalama river hatchery at Kelso has completed one of its most successful takes of spawn in the history of the plant, despite an exceedingly light run of salmon this fall. Last year 27,000,000 eggs were procured, but that was the record run, and this season's work has been the second largest in the history of the hatchery.

One of the largest deals in orchard land in the Wenatchee district in some time was the sale of the Golden West place, owned by George S. Merriam, of Peshastin, to W. H. Lanphere, of Wenatchee. The orchard comprises 40 acres of land in full bearing ten year apple trees, the crop from which this year was about 12,000 boxes. The consideration was approximately $1000 per acre, according to report.

The Yakima Valley Fruit Growers' association is sending a circular to the trade and brokers saying that, on account of the car shortage and the fact that bookings are so heavy, it will be impossible to accept more orders. The circular says that buyers will have to accept the assortments available and the association reserves the right to cancel orders and extends to buyers the privilege of canceling previous orders if they desire.

A nonpartisan election initiative bill which is practically a duplicate of one filed last spring, but which did not contain sufficient signatures to give it a place on the November ballot, has been filed with Secretary of State Howell. Oliver T. Erickson, Seattle city councilman, representing the direct legislation league, the nonpartisan league and the Washington referendum league, made the filing. The measure will be known as initiative No. 28. The measure proposes to do away with partisan elections for all offices but congressional offices, presidential electors and party committees.

The Washington Educational association at the final session of its annual convention at Spokane voted in favor of raising the requirements for school teachers in Washington. The state educators decided to ask the legislature to repeal the state law requiring 12 consecutive weeks vacation between July and September. The teachers want to lengthen the school year beyond the present eight and a half months. The legislature will be asked to repeal the law making school districts liable for accidents occurring on school playgrounds. Tacoma was selected as the next meeting place of the association.

The industrial welfare commission concluded a two-day session at Olympia at which one question discussed was the matter of fixing minimum wages for fish canneries, cider factories, clam canneries, the hop-picking and cranberry picking industries and the fruit industries in general. Investigations have been carried on during the last five months of working conditions in these industries, and written reports were submitted to the commission. The nature of these reports will determine whether the commission will recommend future conferences for the purpose of fixing minimum wages.

NORTHWOOD

Mrs. A. N. Stallard went to Bellingham Friday to be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. A. Stoddard, for a few days.

Preaching services were conducted at the hall Sunday evening by Rev. Gilbert of Nooksack.

Prof. Warrick and the School Clerk of Greenwood District were Northwood visitors Tuesday.

Effie Turner was an over-Sunday visitor at Clearbrook.

Chas. Schelin and family took six o'clock dinner with C. C. Singer's Friday.

A bicycle belonging to Harold Wampler was stolen from the school ground Tuesday. The fellow that committed the theft displayed unusual boldness considering the fact that there were so many teams on the road.

Frances Bloom came up from the Normal and spent Sunday with her parents.

Bellingham visitors were Chas. Schelin, Mrs. F. M. Bloom, Harry Hamlin and Mrs. Geo. Rothfus.

The Willing Workers were entertained by Mrs. D. Buckley Wednesday afternoon. All present enjoyed the meeting.

YOU MUST DECIDE

It is up to you, and every one of you, citizens of Washington, to help next Tuesday in fixing the course of your nation and your state for the next four years. You cannot shirk your duty. You know the difference between Prosperity and Hard Times. You know the difference between what history has proved to be Right and what experience has shown to be wrong. You know the difference between National Honor and National Disrepute. You know the needs of your state, your community, your home. You must not be swayed by falsehood, fluent oratory or silly sentimentalism. This is a serious business. You must act upon your knowledge of the facts.

HERE ARE JUST A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT BEFORE YOU VOTE: THE TARIFF:—Every industry of the state has been hit by the Democratic tariff. Labor and capital, the farmer and the business man, the producer and the consumer in every line, all have been made to suffer by having everything that the state produces on the Democratic "free list." There is no hope of change except by the election of Hughes and a Republican Congress.

THIS STATE HAS NEVER PROSPERED UNDER DEMOCRATIC RULE—NOR EVER WILL!

THE EIGHT HOUR DAY:—Everyone now knows that the so-called Eight-Hour Law was forced through Congress by Wilson in order to give—AT THE EXPENSE OF ALL SHIPPERS—a 25 per cent increase in wages to certain favored workmen, thereby inducing these favored ones to attempt to herd the whole Labor vote of the nation to Wilson in vain hope of similar favors.

DEMOCRATIC RULE HAS ALWAYS LESSEned THE CHANCE FOR WORK—AND ALWAYS WILL

WAR:—Has Wilson "kept us out of war?" American lives and property have been needlessly sacrificed in the European war. American lives and property have been ruthlessly sacrificed in the Mexican war. Our soldiers and sailors have invaded Mexico, obeying Wilson's contradictory orders, and bloody battles have been fought on that foreign soil. The judge advocate of the United States army says we are at war.

So far from keeping us out of war Wilson has kept us on bad terms with every nation on earth. And what of the future? In Cincinnati last Thursday, Wilson himself declared, "This is the last war that the United States can keep out of." The business of neutrality is over."

IS THE FUTURE SAFE UNDER THE GUIDANCE OF SUCH A WEATHER-COCK?

You know these men; you have shown your confidence in their integrity, good faith and sound judgment.

READ WHAT THEY HAVE TO SAY TO YOU:

I am thoroughly convinced that Mr. Hughes should be elected President. The people of the State of Washington have everything to gain by the return of the Republican party to power in national affairs. MILES POINDEXTER.

I earnestly hope that all my friends in the state will work for the election of Hughes and vote to restore the reins of national government to the hands of the Republican party. The state's Republican representatives in Senate and House will be tremendously strengthened by the co-operation of a friendly and progressive Republican president. WESLEY L. JONES.

I urge my friends everywhere to support the Republican national ticket. This state has been hard hit by the Underwood bill. For the benefit of our wage-earners, for the safeguarding of our interests and for the development of our resources, a protective tariff is essential, and this can come only through the restoration to power of the Republican party. HENRY McBRIDE.
