

Stop Buying Expensive Tin and Bottles!

Tin, and cardboard, and bottles, and pretty printed matter are all right in their place, but they are mighty expensive these days. So expensive, in fact, that a lot of Lynden people are saving lots of cash monthly by coming here and buying bulk groceries. Every penny they spend goes for the groceries they are buying, and not for a fancy tin can or a heavy bottle!

That's real economy, we believe. Why don't you save, too, by coming here for Bulk Groceries. All our bulk goods are guaranteed to be fresh. We keep them carefully, and they are absolutely clean!

Save by coming here for the following:

- Bulk Oatmeal, per lb. 7c
 - Bulk Rolled Oats, per lb. 7c
 - Bulk Hominy 3 lb for 25c
 - Bulk Pearl Barley 2 lb for 25c
 - Bulk Peanut Butter, per lb. 25c
 - Bulk Crackers, per lb. 20c
- (You get double the crackers here by buying in bulk than if you paid for a package. A 1/2 lb package of crackers costs you 20 cents! And besides, our bulk crackers are fresher!)

Bulk Cookies, per lb. 25c to 40c
Bulk Gingersnaps, per lb. 25c
(A pound package of gingersnaps costs you 40c. Why pay 15c for a little cardboard and red paper?)

Bulk Vinegar, per gallon 50c
Bulk Coffee, per pound 40 and 45c.
(The most delicious coffee you ever tasted, too!)

TELLS ABOUT NEED FOR THE CONSERVATION OF GASOLINE

That there is urgent need of conserving the supply of gasoline if the ever increasing demand is to be met, is pointed out elsewhere in this issue in an announcement by the Standard Oil Company. Everybody interested in gasoline including the oil refiners, automobile engineers, and the Government itself, is giving a great deal of thought to this problem. The war called the attention of the people to the drastic need of avoiding waste. What the Food Administration did to conserve food is still vividly in the memory of everybody in the country. What the Fuel Administration did, while just as valuable, was not so spectacular, and there are many facts about the conservation of gasoline and other petroleum products which have not hitherto been brought out.

For the past few years the petroleum and automobile industries have both been making great efforts to keep the supply of gasoline up to the demand. The oil producers have been stimulated to find new sources of supply and have sunk many new wells. Oil refiners and chemical engineers have been improving processes of refining, which have made the crude oil yield more gasoline than was thought possible ten years ago. Automobile engineers have constantly improved the efficiency of engines and the methods of carburization, so that the gasoline used will give the greatest power and mileage.

In spite of all that has been done the War made it necessary to take still further measures to keep up the supply. The demand had become so great that the Fuel administration was forced to prohibit in Eastern States all non-essential use of passenger automobiles, and for a time this request was so extended that only automobiles in Government, emergency or war service were in use on Sunday. Fortunately the motorist of the Pacific Coast was not required to undergo this hardship. Enough gasoline was produced in California for all Pacific Coast needs and its distribution did not require the use of transportation facilities needed for War purposes.

However, so great was the need of conserving gasoline in all parts of the country that President Wilson appointed a Government committee last summer to determine on and adopt standard specifications for gasoline and other petroleum products. This committee consisted of the U. S. Fuel Administration and representatives of the War and Navy Departments, the U. S. Shipping Board, the Director General of Railroads, the Bureau of Standards. It was assisted and advised by technical experts from each of these Departments, cussions, tests, and experiments this and bodies. After extended dis-Committee adopted specifications for gasoline, not only for aviation purposes, but also for general motor use. They were drawn up with a view to providing a grade of gasoline that would meet every requirement and yet allow the greatest production.

True coffee economy means figuring your coffee bill by the satisfaction and enjoyment you receive rather than by the price you pay. Many consumers buy sufficient coffee to supply their requirements for several months but unless that coffee is packed in vacuum cans it will become stale and lose its satisfying fragrance.
