Services at the Baptist church next Sunday evening will be quite in keeping with the New Year season. Good, special and collective singing together with an address by the pastor on "The Meaning of the Red Letters on the Calendar," being a New Year's sermon.

Following the regular service, beginning at 11:00 P. M., a watch-night service will be held in the church here, jointly with the Laurel church at which service the communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed and new members received.

Young People's service will largely obtain at this service and as a consequence their regular meeting at 6:30 P. M. will not be held. A large and helpful service is expected and an urgent invitation is extended to all, and especially to young people to attend. There will be an intermission between the two services with special musical numbers interspersed. Come in at any time.

The leading thought for this service will be "Into the New Year With Christ."

Next week being observed generally throughout the Christian world as the "Week of Prayer," will be observed in particular by the Baptist church here with a service each evening. The services will take the form of prayer and praise together with not more than a fifteen minute address from the following subjects:

Monday, Life's Programs? Be sure of them.
Tuesday, Life's Fevers? Quit them.
Wednesday, Life's Deformities? Shape them.
Thursday, Life's Enemies? Starve them.
Friday, Life's Connections? Follow them.

The general topic of the above talks being "The Business of Life for 1923."

The pastor of the church urges as good attendance as is possible at these services on the part of his own people and an urgent invitation is extended to all. Services begin at 8:00 P. M.

The workers of the Sunday school of the Baptist church were rewarded beyond their most sanguine expectations for their labor under almost impossible conditions, by the attendance and entertainment at the Christmas concert last Thursday evening. The program was replete with numbers with wide variation of character and given in real splendid fashion. The program was a little lengthy owing to so many details having to be attended to on the spot through weather conditions preventing proper collective preparation, which however was fully appreciated by a full house, emphasized and expressed in a good offering. The offering together with some class offerings amounted to about $25.
