WHO THREW THE SPOKE?

To the editor of the Gazette: I wish to rectify a statement made in your paper in the issue of January 5. It must be said that your local correspondent at Clear Creek has been wrongly informed.

The "sermons" which was spoken of in regard to a young married couple, were not such as should be practiced by a sensible and civilized lot of people; but rather an act which heathen would scorn to perform. In regard to a wagon spoke being thrown by some occupant of the house, that is a mistake. If any one was injured that night, it was done by some one other than the occupants of the house. Had the boys kept in the bounds of reason, nothing would have been said, and they would have had their expected treat. Boys, take the advice of one who loves peace and abhors trouble, and be careful what you say.

Help the Orphans.

How to help in the great work of rescuing and training Armenian children left destitute orphans by the Turkish massacre. There are 40,000 orphans in care for. Think of it! Only 6,000 of these have been brought into Christian homes and Orphan Homes during the four years since the Turks slaughtered their fathers, and often their mothers also. Christ goes out to seek the one lost sheep, but who is seeking these uncounted thousands who are perishing in the mountains of Armenia? As children we sang, "Happy New Year to all," but are you doing your best to make that true? How about those orphans? Shall they be happy in the homes, or shall they be slaves in a harem, or wander from house to house? Only $25 sent to Brown Bros. & Co., 59 Wall street, New York, will make some orphan boy or girl happy a whole year.

If you cannot do it alone, get others to help you. Have an Orphan club.—Helping Hand Series, Barre, Mass.
