

PLACE FOR THE FRUIT

Big Evaporator Will Soon Be in Operation.

Perishable Orchard and Garden Products Will Be Handled at Colfax.

Colfax is to have a large fruit and vegetable evaporating and drying plant which will furnish a safe and handy market for the various orchard and garden products of the Palouse country...

It will give to the small orchardist a market and to the larger grower a safe place to put at least that part of their orchard and garden products which would stand evaporation, but not shipment.

by the northwest failure. The items given undoubtedly had some influence. Longs were profit takers Saturday, and they were ready for more today.

For a time following the opening, the market held steadily over 87c. The hammering by holders shortly before noon, however, began to tell. July sagged to 85c and then, all in a few minutes, broke down to 83c.

Chicago, June 26.—The wheat market might be likened to a "second sober thought." It was active but not wild, and traders in a more leisurely manner re-adjusted to a degree the prices which broke loose and went soaring last week.

There was no change in the northwest section. The Dakotas and Minnesota renewed their pitiful cries of distress over the ruin of their crops, but generally the cries fell upon deaf ears.
