SMOKELESS STACKS.

Pittsburg Man Gets Patent For a Valuable Invention.

Latest in the field of smokeless stacks is a Pittsburg inventor, L. E. Tucker, who has taken out a patent. Any stack of any size six feet or more in height can, he says, be made smokeless and sparkproof. The stack is equipped with collars and drip plates running off from the edges at varying intervals for about half the height of the stack. Water is forced half way up the stack by inspirators on small boilers and by donkey pumps on large boilers, the pipes in size being regulated by the size of the stack. The drip plates and collars start from the bottom. Water flows on the drip plates, running over the edges of the collars, which drop about half an inch toward the center, then passes through a smoke box into the funnel at the bottom with a screen to prevent the sparks from going into the pipes. The water is to be carried off into barrels or tanks and can be used again and again. The continual water flow on the drip plates prevents rust, which was first thought to be an obstacle to the usefulness of the invention. Smoke in attempting to pass through the flowing water sheets is turned into soot, which falls to the bottom of the smoke box and is carried off by the water to the barrels, where it rises to the top of the water. The water of course prevents the escape of any sparks. It is thought, says the Brooklyn Eagle, that this device will permit the use of bituminous coal in establishments where anthracite has been exclusively used. Sawdust or other waste material might be used, and this would result in a saving of millions of dollars in and near cities where smoke is prohibited nuisance.

UNIMPROVED ROADS.

How They Affect the Cost of Transportation.

F. H. Hitchcock, chief of the bureau of foreign markets, gave an interesting address at the North Dakota good roads convention. The subject of transportation is one of the most important matters that have to be considered by Mr. Hitchcock's bureau, and in the course of his remarks he stated that it was of as much interest to his department to have the cost of transportation between the farm and town reduced to a minimum as it was to reduce the cost to the coast or from Boston to Liverpool. Poor roads from the farm to the market figure in foreign competition, and it is a known fact that taking the average haul of ten miles to market at 25 cents per ton per mile, the cost being $2.50, the amount is twice that charged for transporting the same produce from Boston to Liverpool. Thirty years ago it cost 30 cents for transporting wheat from Chicago to New York, while it now costs 9 cents, and where it formerly cost $10 from New York to Liverpool it now costs $1.50. The cost of transportation has been reduced very materially in every way except from the farm to the market, which still remains the same as thirty years ago, and all because of unimproved roads.

Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aid digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get this reliable remedy at Stuart's Cash Drug Store. Price 25c and 75c.

Save the Loved Ones!

Mrs. Mary A. Vliet, Newcastle, Colo., writes: "I believe Ballard's Horehound Syrup is superior to any other cough medicine, and will do all that is claimed for it, and it is so pleasant to take. My little girl wants to take it when she has no need for it." Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the great cure for all pulmonary ailments. 25c, 50c and $1.00 at Elk Drug Store, Colfax.
