

DEUCE OR ACE?

BEING THE CARRIER'S ADDRESS FOR 1904
BY
JOE LINCOLN
COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY JOE LINCOLN

CARRIER sat by the sounding sea,
By the sad sea waves he sat,
And he watched the skip of the frisky flea
And the swoop of the nimble gnat,
And the breakers chanted in chorus there,
With never a pause or truce,
A sorrowful song that seemed to bear
A burden of "What's the use?"

"The rich man rides in his auto fine,
You hobble on shank's mare;
He tastes his banquet and sips his wine,
On liver and tea you fare;
And he is the real high ace of trumps,
While you're but a lowly deuce
Who sits and mopes in the doleful dumps
And ponders on 'What's the use?'"

"What is the use of toiling hard,
Of tramping a daily beat,
A round that ends in the same front yard
In the same old dusty street?
Of carrying papers day by day,
With never a chance ahead?
Oh, the world would surely be just as gay
If carriers all were dead!"

The carrier heard what the breakers said,
And he wept by the lonely shore.
On a hummock of sand he laid his head
And whistled a weary note;
And the Fates that rule o'er the lives of men
Looked down from their heights supreme,
And, pitying, spoke to his fancy then,
And the carrier dreamed a dream.

He dreamed that a mighty financier
Came close to his seaweed bed
And, stooping, spoke in his drowsy ear,
And these were the words he said:
"Oh, I can manage a syndicate
And pilot a merger through,
But who would know of my talent great
If 'twasn't for men like you?"

"For when I travel the foaming brine
Or toy with a Wall street deal,
The papers give me the crimson line
And the lambkins read and squeal;
But if those papers were never read
Or never were carried out,
My plans would fall in a moment dead
And I should go up the spout."

And next there stood by the carrier's side
A man with a leader's charm,
A statesman great who could "point with pride"
And "view with a keen alarm,"
And he whispered softly behind his hand,
And his words were terse and few.
"Old boy," he said, "I may rule the land,
But I owe it all to you."

"For I might speak to the public dear,
With glittering phrase galore,
And wave the banner and drop the tear
For patriots gone before,
And whoop her up till I split my throat
Expounding the people's views;
But where would I be on the final vote
If you didn't spread the news?"

Then up there sauntered a pugilist,
A knight of the "punch" and "jab,"
With a giant frame and a nimble fist
And a wondrous "gift of gab."
"Oh, I can settle the hash," said he,
"Of anything drawin' breath!
The blokes what hunts for a scrap with me
Must fight or be talked to death."

I shout defis to the human race,
And the small boy loves my name,
And the papers bustle to print my face
And to boost me up to fame.
But say, old boss," and he made a bow,
"I'm givin' it straight and true,
I'd have to be swingin' the pick right now
If 'twasn't for men like you."

And then there followed a lengthy line
Of persons of every trade—
An actress pretty, a great divine,
And a general, gay with braid;
Authors and merchants and engineers,
Coming to there confess
The debt they owed through the changing years
To the carriers and the press.

The carrier woke from his gorgeous dream,
And the sky was clear and bright,
And breaker's bellow and sea gull's scream
Were chorusing, "You're all right!"
And he said: "Oh, never a deuce am I!
By George! I'm game and jack,
And low besides, and likewise high,
And every trump in the pack!"

Oh, it doesn't pay to have doleful dumps,
And ponder on "What's the use?"
Perhaps you may be the ace of trumps
And think you're a simple deuce.
Don't sit and grumble by Life's sad seas,
But cheerily plod your way,
And think of the carrier's dream—and, please,
Just think of HIM, too, today.

Loretta Holmes Pease to Town of Tekoa, lot 7, blk 5, Tekoa.....	75	Frank G Leonard to J K McCormack, tract in Garfield.....	3500	Mrs. Johanna Soderholm of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others.
