Bryan on the Wane.
St. Louis, July 5.—An interesting feature of the day's proceedings of the pre-convention caucuses was the development of the waning of Mr. Bryan. The national committee selected four years ago by a convention following his unquestioned leadership, today turned away from him in settling the Illinois contest. Mr. Bryan had made the fight against Hopkins his own, and the unanimous action of the committee indicates clearly that he no longer wields his old time marvelous control. Many times during the past few days the suggestion

NO CHEERS FOR BRYAN

Democratic Convention Gives Him a Klondike Smile.

Frigid Enthusiasm is Only Melted by the Mention of the Name of Grover Cleveland.

St. Louis July 6.—Exactly at noon Chairman J. K. Jones, of the national committee, called the democratic convention to order. His appearance on the platform and the sound of his gavel brought forth a cheer from the floor and galleries.

Chairman Jones directed the sergeant-at-arms to procure order. He continued rapping the table with his gavel, but it was some time before quiet reigned. California's appearance with a huge silk banner and silk American flag and a yell, "California! California!" "Hearst! Hearst! Hearst!" caused cheering. Just as the California delegation reached its reservation after marching up and down the center aisle, W. J. Bryan, who had come in unnoticed, arose in his place and was given a cheer. Then an enterprising member of the Montana delegation created a diversion by vigorously ringing a cowbell.

Again Chairman Jones demanded that the convention be in order, and at once directed the secretary to read the call for the convention. Applause followed the reading of the call. After quiet was restored, Chairman Jones announced that the convention would be opened with prayer by Rev. John E. Cannon, pastor of the Grand Avenue Baptist church of St. Louis.

Enthusiastic cheering greeted the chairman's announcement that he was directed by the national committee to appoint John S. Williams temporary chairman, C. A. Walsh, temporary secretary, and John T. Martin temporary sergeant-at-arms.

The chairman appointed Colonel John M. Guffey of Pennsylvania, and M. F. Tarpey of California, to escort Mr. Williams to the chair. As the platform was enclosed by a railing, it was necessary for the committee and Mr. Williams to climb over the railing. The committee lifted Mr. Williams safely over, and the entire convention burst into cheers as he ascended the platform.

"I have the honor to introduce to you John S. Williams as temporary chairman," said Chairman Jones, and again the convention cheered.

A great part of Mr. Williams' speech was delivered under great difficulties for the speaker and those of his hearers who were supposed to be most directly interested in his remarks. The aisles leading past the delegates were packed by dense throngs, who kept up a constant hum of conversation that smothered Mr. Williams' voice. Several times the speaker stopped and asked that the talking cease, in order that he might make himself better understood.

He mentioned the name of Mr. Bryan in discussing the price of wheat during the first Bryan McKinley campaign. The utterance of the name called forth a little applause and some cheers. A second later he mentioned the name again, and the applause was not repeated.

A mention of the name of Grover Cleveland was cheered lustily. A moment later the first scene of the session occurred, Mr. Williams declaring that it was brazen-fronted for the republican party to attempt to seize the laurels of Grover Cleveland. A genuine outburst of applause followed, cheer after cheer was heard in the hall, and although the chairman used his gavel the convention was soon beyond his control.

After Mr. Williams concluded his address the convention adjourned, until tomorrow, and the delegates are visiting the exposition.
