

PALOUSE WENT WILD

Shortstop McFarren Wanted to Punch the Umpire.

Baseball Game Between Palouse and Colfax Ended in a Row—Home Team Given Decision.

The Palousers came down Sunday to skin Colfax, by fair means or foul, but their game wouldn't work. They started the fireworks in the first inning when McFarren, shortstop for Palouse, was running from first to second. Hollingsworth happened to be on the line and McFarren grabbed him and attempted to throw him to the ground, instead of butting into him. After that, however, the game went smoothly until the last half of the sixth inning, Palouse holding the edge.

In the first half, Palouse sent four men to bat, but did not score. In the second half, Colfax sent eight men to bat and three crossed the home plate for scores, two men dying on bases. Palouse run up a pretty bunch in the first half of the second, nine men going to bat, four of whom reached home, two dying on bases. In the second half of the second, five men went to bat for Colfax, but only one reached home. In the third Palouse lost two men on the start, the third man scratching for a score, the fourth chancing when the fifth fanned out. The fourth inning was faster. Three Palousers fanned in succession. Colfax brought four men to bat, but none were able to get home. The fifth was similar to the fourth, save only that the table was reversed. Palouse scored one in the sixth, four men going to bat. At this stage of the game the score stood 6 to 4 in favor of Palouse.

Then came the beginning of the end. Gilpatrick singled, made first, and Hollingsworth came to bat. He sent the ball to left and shortstop McFarren delivered it to first, the decision being close. Umpire Binnard called the runner safe and the whole Palouse team went up in the air. McFarren then the umpire a vile name and struck at him, but the blow fell short. Umpire Binnard immediately planted a right upper cut on the point of McFarren's chin, which sent the Palouse toward the ground. Binnard followed his advantage and was about to floor his antagonist, when the second baseman for Palouse, struck him a glancing blow in the back of the head. In a moment there were a hundred men in the diamond and the fight was stopped. The Palouse team left the diamond. Umpire Binnard took out his watch and gave the visitors five minutes in which to be in their places ready to play, but the first baseman refused to respond and the decision, "nine to nothing," was given to Colfax.

The largest crowd that has witnessed a baseball game in Colfax this season was present. Considerable money was up, it being estimated that $1000 was ready to change hands. Most of the bets were called off. The Palouse sports made a provision in all their bets that they would not be played. They undoubtedly came down with the intention of precipitating a riot, for they attempted dirty work at every opportunity. McFarren, the man who started the trouble, poses as a fighter and all round bad mark. He has been ruled off from a number of diamonds because of crooked work. It is said that he has caused all of the trouble that the Palouse team has had this season and last. He ran up against the wrong man, however, when he attempted to put Dan Binnard out of commission, and as a consequence returned to Palouse with a sore head. Nickels, the Palouse catcher, plays ball, but thinks he is a funny boy. His bows to the grandstand last Sunday didn't win any bouquets. Colfax would like to cross bats with Palouse sometime when McFarren is out of business. He can't play on a Colfax diamond.

COLFAX "CALLS" PALOUSE.

Baseball Game is Being Arranged Between Rival Teams.

As a result of the breaking up of the baseball game Sunday between Colfax and Palouse, after six innings had been played, Manager Gritman of the Palousers issued the following challenge through the Spokesman-Review Tuesday morning:

Palouse claims to have the champion amateur baseball team north of Snake river, and as evidence of our fearlessness of the Colfax lineup, we challenge their same lineup of last Sunday, excluding their umpire, to play us on Moscow or Spokane grounds, for any purse up to $1000. This challenge is to be accepted within three days, the umpire to be chosen from the Spokane league.

When Colfax fans red the challenge they proceeded immediately to raise a purse with which to call Palouse. Within a short time more than $1000 was raised and Manager Gritman of the Colfax aggregation was notified that Colfax was ready to call his bet and would select Spokane grounds to play upon. A committee went to Palouse yesterday to close the contract and it is quite probable that the two teams will settle the matter with a red-hot game in Spokane Tuesday. Great interest is being manifested both in Colfax and Palouse and if the committees representing the two teams come to an agreement and the game is played in Spokane, large delegations from both towns will go to the city to "root" for their respective aggregations. If the game is scheduled, there will probably be much more than $1000 a side bet, as Colfax and Palouse sports have great confidence in their respective lineups.

In all probability the money will be placed in the hands of the sporting editor of the Spokesman-Review, who will select the umpire. Neither team must know who the umpire is to be until the game is called. The Blair Business College is offering to challenge the winner.

His Hand Mashed.

While hauling rock from the quarry south of town Thursday morning, T. J. Casserly met with an accident that may cost him his right hand. The wagon brake slipped and the team ran down hill with a heavy load. Mr. Casserly was thrown in such a manner that his hand was terribly mashed, several fingers being almost severed.

A FILTER TO BE BUILT

Wm. B. Scaife & Sons Co., Pittsburgh, Successful Bidders.

Work Will Commence as Soon as Machinery and Material Can Be Placed on the Ground.

After considering several bids for the construction of a filtration plant at the water works station for several days, the city council on Thursday evening of last week accepted the bid of Wm. B. Scaife & Sons Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., as being the lowest and best. That company agrees to install a filter according to certain plans and specifications submitted by them, for $33,545.

The city is to furnish a building for the filtration plant, build the clear water well and bring the water to the precipitating tank and take water from the filters to the clear water well; also furnish and connect sufficient pressure from discharge line of pump to high pressure line on the filters for washing the same. That work will incur an expenditure of several thousand dollars.

The company proposes to furnish two mechanical gravity filters, 12 feet inside diameter by 10 feet high, with a combined capacity of 600,000 gallons every twenty four hours. They also propose to furnish one precipitating tank, 25 feet long, 8 feet wide and 10 feet high, so built and arranged as to work perfectly and give entire satisfaction. They will also furnish all of the mechanical devices necessary to the installation and successful working of their plant, using the very best material obtainable.

This company builds its own plant, places it in operation, and guarantees that the filtered water will be free from odor, clear and free from matter in suspension and color visible to the naked eye; that 95 to 97 per cent of the bacteria in the raw water shall be removed; and that the filtered water shall contain no unrecipitated coagulant and no more iron or aluminum than the applied water. It shall not show an acid reaction, or an alkalinity, greater than the raw water.

The council Monday evening instructed the water committee to secure the services of an expert hydrolic engineer for the purpose of experting, investigating and reporting upon the conditions of the proposed water power plant, as to amount of water in the Palouse river and the power capable of being developed. This matter will probably be taken up at a meeting to be held next Monday evening, the committee having secured the services of Otto A. Weile of Spokane, who comes highly recommended. Mr. Weile arrived in Colfax yesterday and is at work with the water committee.
