Reclamation of Valuable Arid Lands.

About nine months ago, The Snake River Irrigation Co., a corporation composed of prominent Portland people, began the development of an enormous water power at Five Mile Rapids on Snake River, for the purpose of raising water by means of large centrifugal pumps, connected to huge water wheels by which to raise water to reclaim valuable arid lands. The construction of the gigantic undertaking is rapidly nearing completion, and under one of this company's ditches, is opening up the town of Five Mile.

The town of Two Rivers is beautifully located five miles north of Wallula, in western Walla Walla county, Wash. The townsite is laid out about half way between the Northern Pacific and the O. R. & N. tracts, near both roads. It derives its name from its close proximity to two of the largest rivers in the United States, viz., the Snake river and the Columbia, being situated one mile distant from the latter.

A hotel, livery stable and several residences are finished and occupied, and other dwellings are under course of construction. A large school will be erected in the near future; business interests of all kinds will soon be represented, which is the natural outgrowth of a large settlement of this nature, to accommodate the people who will occupy the lands which are selling in tracts of 5, 10, 20 and 40 acres.

The completion early this spring, of the big ditch, the Snake River Irrigation Co., will reclaim some 13,000 acres of the choicest lands of the northwest, which will furnish an unending supply of water throughout all time. This fact needs no confirmation to anyone at all familiar with the rapidity and depth of Snake River. Water will be turned on the entire length of the ditch at an early date.

The soil is rich, volcanic ash, free from stones; varying in depth from three to fifty feet; resembling in character that of Lewiston and Clarkston, which has made those districts so famous. The warm, sandy, fertile soil, lying as it does, with southerly slope, insures very early crops: such as apples, peaches, plums, cherries, apricots, grapes, and all berries and other fruits of the temperate zone, as well as early vegetables. Alfalfa grown on these lands yields from five to six crops a year, owing to the unusual length of the season, in some instances producing twelve tons per acre. In point of productiveness the soil is unsurpassed. A five acre tract in this beautiful valley, will, in a few years yield a handsome income and insure a competency for life.

With reference to transportation, there is no place in the world more favorably located than the Two Rivers district, the value of which is of paramount importance to fruit and vegetable growers. Situated as it is between two transcontinental lines of railroad, and with easy access to practically all the large markets of the east and middle-west, the products will meet with ready sale and command the best prices.

The altitude of these lands is from 350 to 400 feet above sea level. The winters are short and mild. Snow and ice are seldom seen. The summers are warm and the nights are cool and refreshing.

A more desirable or salubrious climate cannot be found in the west.

The wonderful possibilities of these lands are seen by all who visit this locality; particularly those who are acquainted with the history of the Lewiston and Clarkston vicinity, of which Kennewick is an object lesson. Lands which sold at $250 per acre are now selling at from $1000 to $1500 per acre.

The low price of the lands at Two Rivers and the easy terms upon which these lands can be purchased, places them within the reach of all, and is attracting scores of settlers. Excursion parties are arriving from all parts of the country, and the lands are being rapidly bought up. The O. R. & N., and the N. P. R.R. Co. are providing round trip tickets at one and one-third fare, from all points along their lines. This is a rare opportunity to obtain fine orchard lands at a nominal figure.

You can find it at only one place in Colfax. What? Watt's Squirrel Poison. Elk Drug Store.

ELEVEN BILLIONS IN 14 YEARS.

Total Value of American Farm Products Sent Out of Country.

Washington, March 5.—The department of agriculture has issued a report on foreign trade in farm and forest products in 1904, compiled by the division of foreign markets. It shows that the balance of trade in farm products in each year from 1890 to 1904 was in favor of exports. There was a distinct gain in 1898, when the exports balance increased to $555,000,000, a gain of $257,000 over the preceding year, and for six successive years beginning with 1898, the annual export balance for farm products exceeded $410,000,000.

The statement shows that the domestic exports of farm or agricultural products for the year 1904 were $19,000,000 less than in the preceding year, and $6,000,000 less than the annual average for 1899 to 1903. The total value of exports in 1904 was $856,160,264. The exports of forest products in 1904 aggregated $60,500,430, and was an increase of $17,000,000 over 1903, and $36,000,000 more than the annual average for 1894 to 1903. For the period, 1890 to 1904, the total value of domestic exports of farm products aggregated $11,000,000,000.

Imports of Farm Products.

Total imports of farm products in 1904 were $461,434,851, an increase of $5,000,000 over 1903, and of $54,000,000 over the annual average for 1899 to 1903, and of forest products $79,610,296. The value of imports of forest products exceeded the previous year by $8,000,000, and the annual average of 1899 to 1903, by $19,000,000.

The value of the cotton exports increased $55,000,000 for 1903 to 1904, although the quantity exported in 1904 was 479,000,000 pounds less than in 1903. A decline of $72,000,000 in domestic exports of grain and grain products is attributed to a diminution in quantity without a corresponding rise in price.

Meat and meat products exports declined from $178,000,000 to $174,000,000.

Items of Farm Imports.

The farm imports in 1904 included $73,000,000 of sugar and molasses, $71,000,000 in animal fibers, $70,000,000 in coffee, $52,000,000 in hides and skins, and $45,000,000 in vegetable fibers. Lumber exports aggregated $39,000,000, an increase of $7,000,000 over the previous year. Naval stores exported increased from $13,000,000 in 1903, to over $16,000,000 in 1904. Alcoholic liquors imported declined $500,000.

$160,000 FOR THE COLLEGE.

The Joint Appropriation Committee Recommends that Amount.

Pullman Herald: A letter received last night from Representative Peter M. Gregor, at Olympia, announces that the joint appropriation committee of the house and senate has agreed upon $160,000 as the total amount to be given the State College for the next two years. Of this amount, $150,000 is for maintenance, and $10,000 for improvement and equipment of the Mechanical engineering building.

The requests of the various state institutions for new buildings were all refused at this time, the demands for cash for the different state departments being so great that it was impossible to allow them.

The appropriation for maintenance this session is $40,000 over that given two years ago, when it was but $110,000. This increase is made necessary by reason of the great growth and development of the institution, and that the appropriations are not keeping pace with the college.

This state appropriation, in addition to the funds from the national government, will give the college some $240,000 to carry it through the coming two years.

There is also a separate appropriation of $5,000 for conducting farmers institutes, to be expended under the direction of the college.
