RATLIFF'S BLOODHOUNDS.

Two Fine Specimens From Draper's Kennel at Spokane.

Sheriff Fred S. Ratliff received his two bloodhound pups, of which we made mention last week, Saturday evening. In the meantime he had a substantial kennel made for them, the work being done at the shops of J. R. Goode & Co. It consists of a house 4 x 8 feet, four-foot walls in the clear, with partition in the middle and a good floor. The kennel is an artistic as well as a substantial structure, and adorns a plot of ground in court house block, surrounded by a neat and substantial picket enclosure, all kept under lock and key. This place is visited daily by the curious, the ladies particularly being desirous of seeing the progeny of Draper's celebrated bloodhounds.

The pups are four months old and are still "pups." They are not more than half grown. One is a dark bay, if that color can be applied to a dog, while the other is a bay and white spotted. The ears of each measure 17 inches across from tip to tip. They have all the actions of the hound, and their heavy barking is a reminder of Scott's "Lady of the Lake" when the "deep-mouthed bloodhound's heavy bay resounded up the rocky way, and faint from farther distance borne were heard the clanging hoof and horn." The difference being that Ratliff's hounds are expected to run down horse thieves and crooks instead of following the fleet footed deer.

It must not be expected that Mr. Ratliff's latest purchase are now capable of doing service. Quite the contrary, they must be taught, a process that requires skill and patience. But they will undoubtedly learn. The instinct is imbedded and once having learned the will of the master the work will be easy. The manner of teaching the bloodhound to follow the scent is an interesting process. As told by Mr. Draper, who has four working dogs, it forms an interesting story. Like the child who is first taught his A, B, C's, the young hounds are given simple tasks at first, such as following the scent of a piece of meat dragged on the ground for a mile or more before breakfast, when the appetite is keen. They soon learn to take the scent of anything desired and are as eager for the chase as the most enthusiastic man hunter.

Livingstone Heard From.

We heard Tuesday from General H. W. Livingstone, who has been in Boise several weeks renewing old acquaintanceship and incidentally watching the Haywood trial. It seems that the general is once more on the move, leading for home, but like Don Quixote is in search of adventure and may not reach here before the idea of next fall. He left Boise for Weiser; thence took the Pacific, Idaho & Northern for Council; from Council by stage he reached Meadows, where he took horse and over the snow-girt mountains and through the wilds of Idaho, via Warrens, down the Clearwater expects to reach Lewiston some time in the future, although the exact date cannot be set. When he emerges from the wilderness he will have been discovered, and having been discovered will be found.

CAIRNS' TOP-HEAVY DRAY.

Turns Somersault on Main Street and Spills Big Load.

James Cairns' big dray, loaded to the burriane deck with an assortment of merchandise from pickles to limburger cheese, met with a peculiar accident Monday morning on Main street. We have heard of wagons toppling off a grade or turning over on a steep hillside, but never till last Monday saw a vehicle turn a somersault, hang the horses in midair at the end of the tongue, all on a macadamized street on a dead level. It took an artist to do that trick, but Colfax has the man who can do it, and the proof is forthcoming. Cairns' driver came up from the freight depot with all the bags, boxes and kegs he could pile on, intended for two or three different places. He first drove in front of Harpole's, where he made a swing, intending to back against the curb. The twist in the wheel and a heavy jar caused the top-heavy load to shift, pulling the vehicle and its contents completely over, the tongue standing straight in midair, where the horses dangled, held by the harness, with possibly their hind feet touching the ground. The driver saved himself by jumping. By cutting the harness the horses were quickly untangled, but what wreck strewed the sidewalk! Several kegs of pickles burst their hoops, and pickles and vinegar mingled their sour and brine with the dust. However, little other damage was done, the rig was soon righted and reloaded and the goods delivered to their proper destination. But those pickles!

House Destroyed by Fire.

An alarm of fire was sounded Tuesday afternoon at 3:45, to which the fire boys responded with promptness and did effective work. A vacant dwelling on Dean way, in the rear of E. B. Smith's house, was discovered to be on fire, and was nearly consumed before it was extinguished. It was one of the oldest landmarks in the city, known as the Lansdale house, Ben Burgunder being the agent. The strange feature of the case is that the house has not been occupied for several months, and the question is, How did it get on fire? We will not attempt to theorize. The bald statement is made that the house caught fire and was nearly consumed. The loss is not heavy.

Morgan-DeLong Wedding.

D. W. Morgan and Mrs. Mary DeLong were married at the residence of John Codd, Colfax, Tuesday evening, Rev. G. H. Newman officiating. A wedding march was played by Miss Elizabeth Codd. Only a few of the immediate friends were present. After the ceremony the company partook of a splendid repast prepared by the Misses Codd. Mr. Morgan has been in Whitman county for a long time and has a fine farm near LaCrosse. The bride has lived in the county for two years. They have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

CITY COUNCIL GATHERS.

Routine Business Transacted—Street Sprinkling Up Again.

City council met Monday night, Mayor Pattison in the chair. Present: Councilmen Davenport, Esam, McCall, Perrine, Plummer and Van Schoede. U. L. Ettinger appeared for St. Ignatius hospital in re the water meter ordered placed in the hospital at last meeting of the council. He presented a contract signed by the city in 1892, whereby the hospital was to have water for all time free of charge, that being one of the conditions for the establishment of the hospital here. Action of last meeting in regard to the matter ordered annulled. The Colfax Brewing & Malting Co. appeared and protested against the rates charged them for water last month. Referred to water committee.

J. T. Brown appeared for Dr. Ferguson in matter of removal of city pound and urged that petition be granted. It was carried that poundmaster be instructed not to confine or kill dogs in the city pound. Where the poundmaster will do the confining and killing is more than can be told from the above. The mayor appointed the street committee a committee to adjust the street sprinkling, to report at next meeting.

Firelight Photographs.

A photographer in London is taking portraits in a new way. He poses his subjects sitting by the fire and reproduces the scene with all the cozy glow of a drawing room in autumn before the electric lights are switched on. The photographs are costly, but a bill of something like $30 a dozen does not dismay the woman who admires originality and has a long purse or unlimited credit.

The Soft Coiffure.

No matter whether a woman's face is thin or fat, long or short, she invariably looks better with her hair dressed softly. Hair that is drawn back tight from the face would tax the good looks of the prettiest woman ever seen.

Whether it is arranged high or low, however, depends entirely on the shape of the head and the lines of the face.

New Star in Old Glory.

The admission of Oklahoma to the Union as a state has raised a dispute as to how the additional star should be placed in the flag without disarranging the present pattern. There is no dispute, however, in regard to the intrinsic value of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases of Stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders. In fact it is universally acknowledged to be the best medicine ever compounded for such disorders and for proof, it is only necessary to point to the thousands of cures it has made during the past 53 years. We believe it is the medicine you need to make you well again, and that's why we urge you so strongly to try a bottle at once. It cures poor appetite, belching, vomiting, cramps, diarrhoea, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, female ill or malaria. Insist on having Hostetter's. It's absolutely pure.

Rich Women Make Dirt Fly.

As an object lesson to dilatory highway commissioners the women of Venice, Cal., recently turned out with picks and shovels and smoothed the wrinkles out of Washington boulevard. In the army of roadmakers were the wives and daughters of millionaires. Dirt began to fly early in the day, and holes which have been the bane of travelers along the thoroughfare were filled and given a high finish. At noon lunch was served under the trees at the roadside. Auto parties which passed along the road cheered the women shovellers.

Sex and Brain Power.

The Columbia university department of psychology in a series of tests on the male and female students has found that the women surpass the men in visual memory, rate of perception and sensitiveness to pain, while in auditory memory and speed of movement the man is superior. As to fatigue, perception of weight and logical memory, the men and women were found to be about equal.
