Crape Paper Canoes Are Unique and Decorative.

BRILLIANT RIBBONS USED.

Old Fashioned Crystal and Glass Individual Salt Dishes Much Sought After by Collectors—Another Style Resembles Old Time Fruit Stands.

When in doubt as to what kind of dishes to use for serving salted almonds or any of the little luncheon and dinner sweets and appetizers which now have an important place in the menu one can always resort to odd little conceits made of paper. These are easy to fashion, or they can be made to order, and then the chance for displaying original ideas and arrangements gives a certain zest to the hostess who likes to surprise and please her guests. Little crape paper canoes bearing the college pennant are unique and decorative, and if one wants a complete fleet or to suggest a regatta fete then these small craft should be made in different shapes and decorated with various colored colors.

Simple little cups covered with fancy paper and tied with ribbons are not new, yet they are always pleasing and go well with almost any pattern of china or style of crystal. This season the ribbons are in brilliant contrast to the paper, and often tied in with the knot is a little souvenir or perhaps a flower. By using the smallest size of paper shell one can place this in the center of a handsome paper flower which lies flat on the table. It is wisest not to choose a flower which has a number of petals, as they make the dish fill too large a space.

Many women are collecting old fashioned crystal and glass individual salt dishes and even small cup plates, which were made in glass as well as china, for almond dishes. They are most attractive and are more economical than the colored paper ones in the end. Just now these dishes are quite inexpensive, but the supply grows smaller daily, so that it is well to begin collecting promptly if one fancies them at all. A quaint old set of rather deep salt dishes had fluted rims and little glass knobs all over their squatty sides. Another style had small pedestals, making them look like miniature old fashioned fruit and cake dishes. Even when they do not match they go together if they are of the same size and either all made with stems or all perfectly flat.

Arranging a Divan.

Every one does not know that a wide divan is made more comfortable by having at its back two huge, hard pillows that will support the softer ones.

It is usual to heap up a great variety of these extra soft ones on a large divan so that any one sitting or reclining may arrange them according to one's comfort.

These are needed, it is true, but they also need a support. The wall is usually too far back from the front edge of the divan to serve. The two large pillows made of the material which covers the divan are not only comfortable, but artistic.

They may be stuffed with excelsior into coarse muslin or ticking, then covered with the chosen fabric. They look better with a heavy cord around the edging.

If the end of the divan is against the wall as well as its side a third pillow may be added to give an added framework to the little pillows.

This is not an expensive trick, but if a housewife ever tries it she will never let the divan go without this part of its equipment.

Washing Brushes.

It is best not to put one's heavy backed silver brush into common use for their hair, at least not in cities where the soot laden atmosphere leaves a coating of itself on the hair each day.

This is caught by the bristles of the brush, which makes it necessary to wash it at least twice a week, if not oftener.

This constant washing ruins a brush that has an expensive back. Therefore a brush should be used that has an ordinary wooden handle and back with good stiff bristles to withstand the softening action of water and borax.

IN CASE OF A FIRE.

How to Gather Up and Save Household Goods.

Having had experience in several fires, the writer of the following article has learned many things that would be well for every one to remember when a house is on fire. Be sure no child or pet animal is shut in any room. Save, first of all, the money and valuable papers unless they are in a fireproof safe. Next in importance is the wearing apparel. The easiest way to save it is to tie up bundles of clothes in the quilts from the beds. Empty the closets and bureau drawers in this way. It is quickly done, and the bundles are convenient to carry. In each bundle some breakable object, such as a clock, mirror or picture, may be placed and will usually escape unbroken. Empty satchels and bags are handy to gather up the silver in, and if the keys happen to be with them so much the better.

If you have valuable bric-a-brac, take a clothes hamper or basket into the parlor and pack the delicate things between the cushions that are always plentiful about the house. Choice bits of cut glass or china may be hastily packed in a basket between tablecloths and napkins. Pillows, mattresses and rugs can be thrown from the upper windows and carried away by those below, thus saving time. Books are difficult to save on account of their weight unless you are so fortunate as to have sectional bookcases, when two careful people can carry them out unharmed.

How to Make Columbia Cake.

To make a Columbia cake, mix in the usual way four ounces of butter, one pound loaf sugar, three-quarters pound of flour, a cupful of milk, three eggs, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and half a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda and then divide the mixture into two portions. Divide one part again into two portions and bake in two shallow round tins. Add to the other half a cupful of raisins, seeded and chopped, a tablespoonful of golden syrup or good molasses if procurable, one-quarter pound citron and one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg and allspice and an additional spoonful of flour. When well mixed pour into a round buttered tin the same size as the others and bake. The plain portions will require about fifteen minutes in a fairly hot oven and the fruit portion a few minutes longer. When all are done and while still hot, place the fruit cake between the two plain layers, spreading a little currant jelly on the top of each. When cold cover with white icing and ornament according to taste.

How to Care For Goldfish.

The secret of success in caring for goldfish is to keep the water they are in fresh and sweet. Their globe should be emptied and its water renewed as often as every second day. Lift each fish out gently in a glass full of water, empty the globe, wash it out, then put in fresh water and put the fish back again. Clear, sweet rainwater should be used, and its temperature should be raised to 75 or 80 degrees by warming a part of it. Sparkling well water is too cold for the fish to thrive in and too pure, for the animalcules of rainwater form an important part of the food of these fish. They need no other sustenance than a very few bread-crumbs sprinkled in their water daily, for overfeeding will kill them very quickly.

STOMACH DISTRESS

And Indigestion Misery Ends Five Minutes Later.

Almost Instant Relief From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble Is Waiting for You.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50 cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take one triangle after supper tonight. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your pharmacist, waiting for you.

These large 50 cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of dyspepsia or indigestion.
