

You Can Do Better at The Fair

THIS is what you hear in the town as well as the country. When you show your neighbor something you have bought at one of the stores that tell you they would rather have your account than your cash. And the reason is that we sell for cash only and lose no accounts and don't have to make you help pay for the goods some one else bought and did not pay for. Don't overlook the fact that our regular prices are at all times per cent less than the credit stores. And at the sale now going on at The Fair the savings are much more. Read what we have to offer and come in and see if we are not telling you the truth.

20 to 33 $\frac{1}{3}$

THE FAIR

COLFAX, WASHINGTON

THE HALLOWEEN PIE.

A Jack Horner Center-piece For Table Decoration.

JACK HORNER PIE IN HALLOWEEN DRESS.

A Halloween party without a Jack Horner surprise pie would be Hamlet with the Dane and Ophelia and even the ghost left out, so barren would the good old day be without this standby. Made of crepe paper and holding little prizes and favors, this novelty is sure to be a success with children and grownups alike. In the pie illustrated each little witch, with her bright white spotted dress and apron, red cardboard hat and tiny broom, is attached to a string at the end of which is a suitable favor. Weird red "devils" and ugly black cats are perched on the handle of the basket.

College Training For Women.

Rev. Marlon Leroy Burton, the new president of Smith college, who has recently returned from a year's travel abroad, during which he studied European educational institutions at close range, is enthusiastic over the more universal demand for college training for women.

"No one can say how much greater Abraham Lincoln would have been had he had the advantages of a college education," said President Burton.

"I believe that in this modern age every boy and girl should be trained for college. It is a fallacy to assert that in many instances valuable time is lost in college. That is not and never can be true.

"The women of foreign lands are realizing more and more the value of a college training and in common with college women everywhere are progressing in the desire for better physical training, realizing that with good health comes the power to work mentally. The women on this side have their college sports just as the boys and girls are trained for college from early youth, while abroad a college course is more in the nature of an event."

Yabbergrass!

"G'f'e him some yabbergrass, missis," was the advice of an old rag and bone man recently to a mother whose child was ailing in a mid-Derbyshire village. The remark was puzzling until Ophelia's "There's rue for you; we may call it herb of grace o' Sundays" came to mind. Rue, it seems, is still called "herb of grace" in Derbyshire.—London Family Herald.

Friction and Velocity.

When one solid body glides over the surface of another the coefficient of friction diminishes as the velocity increases and nearly vanishes when the velocity attains a certain critical value. This diminution of friction is due to the air which partially separates the two bodies at low relative velocities and separates them completely at the critical and all higher velocities.

A Barnum Story.

A story is told of the meeting of Matthew Arnold with P. T. Barnum, the great showman, in America. Mr. Arnold when introduced said how proud he felt at making the acquaintance of a man with a worldwide reputation. "Ah, Mr. Arnold," said Barnum, "we are both public men, but the difference between you and me is that you are a notability, while I am only a notoriety."

The Phrenologist and the Grocer.

Phrenologist—Here is a man out of his proper sphere. His head betokens high intellectual and spiritual qualities, yet he is spending his time behind a grocer's counter. Sir (to the grocer), I wish to ask you a question. Have you any aspirations?

Grocer (calling to clerk)—John, have we any aspirations?

Clerk—All out, sir; have some in the last of the week.

A Traveler's Tale.

The early explorers of the Brazils brought back some strange tales. One of the most curious of those which Mr. Guy Rothery recalls in his book on "The Amazons" is of a race of men "whose feet were turned the wrong way round, so that if any one attempted to follow in their tracks the pursuers were misled, actually receding from those whom they desired to catch up."
