ASKS BOUNTY ON RABBIT.
Young German Learns to Distinguish Wild Animals.

Scalps and hides of all kinds have been presented to Auditor McCroskey within the last week for the bounties offered by the county. A young German, over from the old country less than a year and still unable to speak English, appeared at the office a few days ago with a coyote skin and received his $1 bounty. The following day he appeared with a fresh jack rabbit skin and was apparently much chagrined when informed by an interpreter that no bounty was offered on rabbits. Evidently he had been the butt of a joke by some of his acquaintances or had gained the idea that he was entitled to a bounty on any wild animal.

The ability of the auditor to distinguish between the skin of a coyote and that of a timber wolf was brought into use Monday when J. H. Dickey appeared with four pelts which he claimed were timber wolves and entitled to $15 bounty. Mr. McCroskey was unable to see how they differed from coyotes and asked the opinion of several buyers in town. All expressed the belief that the animals were coyotes. Dickey refused to accept the coyote bounty and said he would take the hides to the State college at Pullman to have the question settled.

PIONEER AMONG PIONEERS.
Paid $1.00 for First Copy of the Gazette.

S. D. Woodward, the Sunset hardware merchant, visited St. John last Sunday. Mr. Woodward is a pioneer among pioneers of the Palouse country and if the county records should ever be destroyed he could supply a large part of them from his well-stored and retentive memory. When he can free his mind for a few minutes from matters of such immediate moment as hardware and harness, he talks very interestingly of the early days when one could ride all over these hills without encountering any other sign of human occupation than, possibly, a roving band of range cattle. Forty years ago he assisted at the birth of Whitman county and was one of the early county officers. He helped fit up the first newspaper office in the county—that of the Colfax Gazette—in 1877 and paid a dollar for the first copy of the Gazette that came from the old Washington press. Among his freshest recollections is the memory of Cashup Davis, the "Daniel Boone of the Palouse" who built the ranch house now known as the "St. John house," which formed the nucleus of our thriving town.—St. John Advocate.

CRONE OUT ON GOOD BEHAVIOR
Passed Bad Check, Is Released in Custody of Former Employer.

After passing a worthless check for $75 on E. J. Peschau, proprietor of the Leader, Chris N. Crone was arrested after he had boarded an inland train with a ticket for Spokane in his pocket. This was about three weeks ago. Since then he has been in the county jail waiting trial on the charge of forgery in the first degree. This week he went before Judge Thomas Neill and entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to one year in the state reformatory at Monroe.

Later Dave Luther, Crone's former employer, agreed to take him back and sentence was suspended. Crone had worked for Luther for several months near Wilcox and was considered an industrious reliable farm hand. He had been sending part of his wages to his mother at Hayden Lake, Idaho, and it was partly on account of his mother and younger brother and sister that he was released.

CHILD SETS BED ON FIRE.
Small Damage from Blaze Started With Electric Light.

An electric globe on a long cord in the hands of a two-year-old boy was the cause of a fire which called the department to the J. M. Baker residence in the South End Thursday morning. Claude Swegel and family are occupying the house this winter while the Bakers are in California. The little Swegel boy was playing with the electric globe Thursday morning and after turning on the light left it on the bed and went away. When discovered the covering, mattress and wooden bedstead were on fire. It was extinguished before the department arrived.

Wilcox people are roused to the need of a better school and have petitioned the county superintendent for the consolidation of districts No. 11, No. 135 and No. 92. Their plan is to provide a four-year high school and also to secure several acres of land and conduct a practical agricultural school. The proposed consolidated district would probably contain about 125 pupils. Superintendent Mattoon fixed February 24 as the time for a hearing on the petition. The hearing will be held at the office of the county superintendent.

A petition has also been received from Pine City asking for the consolidation of districts No. 45, No. 63, No. 133 and No. 131. The proposed district will have about 150 school children. The time for hearing on this petition has not been named.

Miss Winnifred Windus Stars in "A Rose O' Plymouth Town."

"A Rose O' Plymouth Town," the seventh annual play given by the members of the Websterian Debating Society of Washington State College, will be presented in Colfax next Friday evening, February 9th.

This 4-act romantic drama of the days of Captain Miles Standish, scored the biggest hit as well as the largest crowd of any college play ever presented in Pullman. As six or eight college plays are given there each year, this fact alone stamps it as a production of high order.

The new style clasp was first made two years ago for the use of his own children and has had a thorough test.
