The electric lights made the scene bright as day.

"Who is he?" asked the woman at my side—Mrs. Sandys.

She was looking at the man in that carriage—there were four, but there was no mistaking him. He was seated, was giving not the slightest heed to the cheering throng. His soft black hat was pulled well down over his brows; his handsome profile was stern, his face pale. If that crowd had been hurling curses at him and preparing to tear him limb from limb he would not have looked different. He was smooth-shaven, which made him seem younger than I knew him to be. And over him was the glamour of the world-that-ought-to-be in which he lived and had the power to compel others to live as long as they were under the spell of his personality.

"That," I replied to Mrs. Sandys, "is Senator Scarborough of Indiana."

"What's he so stern about?"

"I'm sure I don't know—perhaps to hide his joy."

But I did know, and my remark was the impulsive fling of envy. He had found out, several weeks before, what a strong undercurrent was running toward him. He was faced by a dilemma—if he did not go to the convention it would be said that he had stayed away deliberately, and he would be nominated; if he went, to prevent his nomination, the enthusiasm of his admirers and followers would give the excuse for forcing the nomination upon him. And as he sat there, with that ominous tumult about him, he was realizing how hard his task was to be.

His companions pushed him a passage through the crowds on the sidewalk and in the lobby, and he shut himself away in the upper part of the hotel. When we left, half an hour later, the people were packed before that face of the hotel which displayed the banner of the Indiana delegation, were cheering Scarborough, were clamoring—in vain—for him to show himself.

"But won't he offend them?" asked my wife.

"A crowd loves like a woman," said I. "Indifference only excites it."

"Oh, I never loved that way," protested Mrs. Sandys.

"Then," said my wife, rather sourly I thought, "you and Mr. Sandys have something to live for."

And so we talked no more politics. There may be American women who really like to talk politics, but I never happened to know one with so little sense. It's a pity we men do not imitate our women more closely in one respect. In season and out of season, they never talk anything but business—woman's one business. When other things are being discussed, they listen, or rather, pretend to listen; in reality, their minds are still on their business, and how they shall contrive to bring it back into the conversation with advantage to themselves.

Next day the convention adopted a wishy-washy platform much like Burbank's—if anything, weaker. I saw Goodrich's blight upon it. But the victory cost him dear. That night the delegates realized what a blunder they had made—or thought they realized it after Merriweather and his staff had circulated among them. Few of them had been trusted by Beckett with the secret that, with that platform and with Simpson as the nominee their party would have the interests behind it, would almost certainly win. They only saw ahead a dull campaign, and no real issue between the parties, and their candidate; if he was Simpson, much the less attractive personality of the two.

The following morning the voting began; and after seven ballots Simpson had 39 votes less than on the first ballot. "It was like a funeral," was the verdict of my disappointed guests that evening. A night of debate and gloom among the politicians and other delegates, and on the opening ballot Merriweather sprung his trap. The first big doubtful state in the alphabetical list of states is Illinois. When the secretary of the convention called for Illinois' vote, it was cast solidly for Scarborough.

There was straightway pandemonium. It was half an hour before any one could get a hearing. Then Indiana was called, and Pierson, attorney general of that state and chairman of its delegation, cast its vote as in the other ballots, for Hitchens, its governor. From my box I was watching Scarborough and his immediate friends going from delegation to delegation, and I knew what he was about. When Iowa was called and cast its vote solidly for him, I knew he had failed.

Tenders were opened at North Yakima last week for the construction of the Kachess dam in the Cascade mountains, four miles from Easton, bidders being represented from Tacoma, Seattle and Oklahoma. The lowest figures submitted were from the Far West Construction company, of Tacoma, $351,730 for the hydraulic method and $375,730 for the alternate process. Bids for the building of the spillway ranged from $37,400 to $64,102.

The county commissioners of Bonner county, Idaho, have expressed themselves favorably upon the proposed bond issue of $750,000 to take up the county indebtedness and construct two highways across the county, one from Granite to Port Hill and one from Newport to Cabinet. The board figures that the two highways could be constructed for $500,000 to $600,000 and that the remainder could take up the county's outstanding warrant indebtedness.

Stallion and Jack Registration Law

An Act relating to the registration and licensing of draft stallions and jacks, providing for the fees therefor and fixing the penalties for a violation of the provisions hereof. Chapter 99, Laws of Washington, 1911.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Washington:

Section 1. Every person, firm or company, owning any draft stallion, or jack, for sale, exchange or for public service in this state shall cause the name, description and pedigree of such stallion or jack to be enrolled by the department of animal husbandry of the State College of Washington, and procure a certificate of such enrollment from said department, which shall thereupon be presented to and recorded by the auditor of the county in which said stallion or jack is used for public service.

In order to obtain the license certificate herein provided for, the owner of each stallion or jack shall file a certificate of soundness, signed by a veterinarian registered to practice in the state of Washington and shall forward the veterinarian's certificate, together with the stud book certificate of registry of the pedigree of the said stallion or jack, and other necessary papers relating to his breeding and ownership to the department of animal husbandry of the said college.

The presence of any one of the following named diseases shall disqualify a stallion or jack for public service:

Bone spavin, ringbone, sidebone, navicular disease.
Bog spavin, curb with curby formation of hock.

Glanders, farcy, maladie due coit; urethral gleet; mange; melanosis; and the department of animal husbandry is hereby authorized to refuse its certificate of enrollment to any stallion or jack affected with any one of the diseases hereby specified and to revoke the previously issued enrollment certificate of any stallion or jack found on investigation of the department to be so infected.

Section 2. The professor of animal husbandry of the said college whose duty it shall be to examine and pass upon the merits of each pedigree submitted, shall use as his standard for action the stud books and signatures of the duly authorized officers of the various horse or jack pedigree registry associations, societies, or companies recognized by the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., and shall accept as purebred and entitled to a license certificate as such, each stallion or jack for which a pedigree registry certificate is furnished bearing the signature of the duly authorized officers of a government recognized and approved stud book.

Section 3. The owner of any stallion or jack used for public service in this state shall post and keep affixed, during the entire breeding season, copies of the license certificate of such stallion or jack, issued under the provisions of the next succeeding section, in a conspicuous place both within and upon the outside of every stable or building where the said stallion or jack is used for public service at his home or elsewhere.

Section 4. Subdivision 1. The license certificate issued for a stallion or jack whose sire and dam are of pure breeding and the pedigree of which is registered in a stud book recognized by the government department of agriculture shall be in the following form:

The State College of Washington, Department of Animal Husbandry.
Certificate of Purebred Stallion or Jack No. ....

The pedigree of the stallion or jack (name).....
Owned by.....
Described as follows:

(Color)..... (Breed).....
Foaled in the year..... has been examined at the State College, and it is hereby certified that the said stallion or jack is of pure breeding and is registered in a stud book recognized by the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

(Signature).....
Professor of Animal Husbandry.

Subdivision 2. The license certificate issued for a stallion or jack whose sire or dam is not of pure breeding shall be in the following form:

The State College of Washington, Department of Animal Husbandry.
Certificate of Grade Stallion or Jack No. ....

The pedigree of the stallion or jack (name).....
Owned by.....
Described as follows:

(Color).....
Foaled in the year..... has been examined at the State College, and it is found that the said stallion or jack is not of pure breeding and is, therefore, not eligible for registration in any stud book recognized by the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

(Signature).....
Professor of Animal Husbandry.

Subdivision 3. The license certificate issued for a stallion whose sire and dam are pure bred, but not of the same breed, shall be in the following form:

The State College of Washington, Department of Animal Husbandry.
Certificate of Cross-Bred Stallion No. ....

Owned by.....
Described as follows:

(Color).....
Foaled in the year..... has been examined at the State College and it is found that his sire is registered in the..... and his dam in the.....

Such being the case, the said stallion is not eligible for registration in any stud book recognized by the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

(Signature).....
Professor of Animal Husbandry.

Subdivision 4. The license certificate issued for a non-standard-bred stallion shall be used in the following form:

The State College of Washington, Department of Animal Husbandry.
Certificate of Non-Standard-Bred Stallion No. ....

The pedigree of the stallion (name).....
Owned by.....
Described as follows:

(Color).....
Foaled in the year..... has been examined at the State College, and it is found that the stallion is not eligible for registration as standard-bred, and for the purpose of the license is not pure bred, although recorded in a non-standard department of the American Trotting Register.

(Signature).....
Professor of Animal Husbandry.

Section 5. Each bill and poster issued by the owner of any stallion or jack enrolled under this act, or used by him or his agent for advertising, shall have such stallion's or jack's certificate of enrollment printed in boldface type, not smaller than long primer, on said bill or poster, and the first mention thereon of the name of the stallion or jack shall be preceded by the words: "Purebred," "grade," "cross-bred," or "non-standard-bred," in accordance with the wording of the certificate of enrollment; and it shall be illegal to print upon the poster any misleading reference to the breeding of the stallion or jack, his sire or his dam, or to use upon such bill or poster the portrait of a stallion or jack in a misleading way; and each newspaper advertisement printed to advertise any stallion or jack for public service shall show the enrollment certificate number and state whether it reads "purebred," "grade," "cross-bred," or "non-standard-bred."

A fee of two dollars shall be paid to the department of animal husbandry of said college for the examination and enrollment of each pedigree and for the issuance of a license certificate, in accordance with the breeding for the stallion or jack as above provided, and a renewal license fee of one dollar shall be paid to said department every second year from the date of the issuance of the original license certificate.

Upon the transfer of the ownership of any stallion or jack enrolled under the provisions of this act, the certificate of enrollment may be transferred to the transferee by said department upon submittal of satisfactory proof of such transfer and upon payment of the fee of fifty cents; and a fee of fifty cents shall be charged for a duplicate license certificate issued where proof is given of loss or destruction of the original certificate.

Section 5 1-2. Any person, firm or corporation bringing any stallion or jack into the state shall within sixty days thereafter procure the license certificate provided for in section one.

Any person, firm or corporation offering any stallion or jack for sale for breeding purposes shall first procure the license certificate provided for in section one.

Section 6. Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars and for each and every subsequent violation of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars.

Section 7. When a complaint is made to the department of animal husbandry that a stallion or jack is unsound, and, on investigation, an examination is by the department deemed necessary, such examination shall be made by the state veterinarian or his deputy; but the owner of the stallion or jack shall have the right to select some registered veterinarian to act with the state veterinarian, and in case these two shall fail to agree they shall appoint a third registered veterinarian to act as referee, and his decision shall be final.

Section 8. All moneys collected under the provisions of this act shall be expended by the professor of animal husbandry under the direction of the board of regents, in carrying out the provisions thereof, and such officer shall take vouchers for all moneys received and shall keep an account of all moneys received and disbursed and shall make an annual report thereof, which report shall be published with and as a part of the annual report of the agricultural experiment station of said State College. If, at the expiration of any fiscal year, there shall be on hand moneys in excess of the disbursements made under the provisions of this act for the preceding year, such moneys shall be transmitted to the state treasurer and placed in the general fund.

Passed by the senate February 7, 1911.

Approved by the governor March 17, 1911.

Note—This law goes into effect June 8, 1911.

WILD WEST SHOW

IN PULLMAN, JUNE 3

Bucking Contests, Horse Races, Barbecue and Big Dance Will Be Features.

A Wild West show and a barbecue are the latest forms of excitement promised for residents of the Inland Empire.

Guy Stambaugh, of Spokane, a student of agriculture at W. S. C. has been selected to manage the Wild West show, which will be held Saturday, June 3. The big feature of the show will be the broncho busting contest. Mr. Stambaugh has promised a real live contest, with some of the best riders in the state taking part. With this idea in view Mr. Stambaugh has invited a number of well-known cowboys to participate, and is scouring the Inland Empire for outlaw horses.

Arthur Powell, a well-known rider of the Asotin country, and Twaen Clemons of Tuscon, Ariz., a rider of reputation, have agreed to participate. In addition to these, a number of riders from the Ephrata country and other cattle districts have been invited. As an inducement to the contestants, a prize of $50 will be offered for the winner.

The Wild West show will also include, as features, horse races and obstacles races, such as hurdles and cross-country riding. Another feature will be a roping contest among the cowboys. The whole plan of the roping and riding contests will be in accord with the old-time round-up of the golden days of the west.

In the evening of the day of the Wild West show the domestic economy students will give a big barbecue and feed. The girls have made elaborate plans for the entertainment of the guests, and a real old-time barbecue dinner is promised. Later in the evening bonfires will be lighted and an Indian dance and other scenes suggestive of the early days of the west will be given.

Fruit Conditions Good.

There are varying reports from fruit growing sections throughout the Inland Empire as to the damage accruing from frosts, which were general in most sections during the earlier periods of last week. So far as quantitative figures are concerned, an estimate is made by President Fred Thompson, of the Thompson Fruit company, North Yakima, that the Baker Bottom, which last season shipped about 4400 carloads of fruit, will have an export of barely 1100 cars this year, of which 500 cars will be apples. From other sections the reports are less pessimistic. It is stated that the Snake river valley, which crop was at first believed to have been practically destroyed, will have a normal yield, while later advices from all sections are far more favorable than initial reports. In many districts, it being shown that the killing of blossoms will not be really serious, acting to prevent the overloading of the trees, and there are good indications of a heavy export surplus from the season's product.

The Chehalis river fish hatchery, four miles above Montesano, is doing much to perpetuate the fish supply of Chehalis county. The hatchery has 80 troughs, and 500 egg racks. Between September 1, 1910, and March 11, 1911, the following results have been secured at the institution: Eggs set, 5,406,000; eggs lost, 48,000; fish hatched, 4,000,000; fish lost, 81,000; fish turned loose, 1,850,000; fish in troughs, 3,000,000.
