

The Harvest Season hath come,
The Promoter cometh out
To show the farmer how to get rich quick,
And the Peddler peddleth about,

And if all the promises made by these Promoters and Peddlers came true, wouldn't the country be full of money?

But regarding that money you worked for—the proceeds of your toil for the past year. Wouldn't you rather have it in "The Home of the Palouse Dollar," the bank that helped you make it, with interest at 4 per cent, while you are not using it and the safe and sure return of it for use in your own business when needed, than to have to borrow money to handle next year's crop and painfully wait five hundred years for the promises of the Promoter to materialize? Did you ever think of it in that light?

VOICE YOUR SENTIMENTS

Every voter in Pullman, whether male or female, who is interested in the welfare of the city, should attend the big massmeeting called for the purpose of discussing the merits and demerits of the commission form of government, which will be held in the city hall tonight (Friday). Whether you are opposed to the commission form of government for Pullman or in favor of it, it is your duty to be present and advance your arguments. No voter will be debarred from the discussions and your opinions will bear just as much weight as the other fellow's. The Chamber of Commerce desires to ascertain the position of the voters in regard to the matter, so be there and tell them what you think of it. Don't wait until it is decided whether or not to circulate petitions asking for the election to determine whether the commission form of government will be adopted by Pullman, and then kick on the decision, whichever it may be, but be on hand when the opportunity is given you and discuss the proposition on its merits.

BOY SCOUTS.

Few movements intended to affect the life of boys and youth have equalled in rapidity the growth of the one known as the boy scouts. Originating in England with Sir Robert Baden Powell, the early appreciation and approval of it by Ernest Thompson Seton were the cause of its taking root in the United States, where it now has an enrollment of nearly a half million members. They come from the slums and from city palaces, from suburban vilas and village cottages. So large has been the tide of boyhood and youth, seeking guidance and rushing into the movement, that a doubling of the advisory and administrative staff has been necessary and the inspiring dimensions of the work have had the natural effect of enlisting a larger calibre set of officials than otherwise would have volunteered.

The main virtue of the form of organization is its military utilization for civic ends of the natural craving in all normal boys to co-operate with others. In this organization the boy is corralled for a process of discipline that unconsciously in most cases, develops him mentally, morally and physically, while he thinks that he simply is having a good time. He is taught the duty of obedience and of truth telling. His powers of observation of nature and discerning human peculiarities and eccentricities are sharpened. He is pledged to and made to live up to ideals of chivalry and of service to those in special need. He is given simple but fundamental lessons in patriotism and citizenship in the guise of homely instruction that teaches him a side invariably with enforcers rather than with breakers of law, a lesson that city youth much need to learn.

No one who knows the moral limitations and hazards encountered by the pampered and coddled boy of suburbia, with his every wish gratified and nothing in the way of work to do, or who is aware of the effect upon a boy brought up in the city tenement or apartment house of his exclusion from actual touch with nature, can study the methods of this organization without realizing that it has come at a timely hour to give relief, and that its mixed system of outdoor and indoor discipline is admirable.

It is the foe of sloth, softness, over-emphasis on book learning, snobbishness, impurity and aimlessness. It must inevitably increase the number of men who will love nature as a friend. Its old fashioned code of chivalry must in time bring about a renaissance of good manners and of deference to women. It will furnish the school pupils with more zest for work and a keener desire for useful knowledge. We can trust it will lay foundations in civics upon which school and state can build a better fabric than in the past. —Wenatchee World.

EWARTSVILLE

Mrs. Emma Kellogg this week moved into the Comstock house just above the Congregational church in Pullman, where Vera will attend the Emerson school, and Glen the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McManama, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reinhart, of near Colfax, visited at the Chris Naffziger home last Thursday.

Frank Murray is at home again, after his recent operation.

Chester Young had the misfortune last week of losing a fine horse. The horse had been working on Mr. Paulus' combine.

Oscar Kincaid called at the C. H. Kincaid home Monday. Congratulations on the "Van Dyke," Oscar.

Ewartsville, Ontario, and Bryant schools started Monday with Mrs. W. A. Lybecker, Miss Zadie Burk, and Miss Ellen Luty, as their respective teachers. The number of pupils enrolled the first day were 13, 13, 14, respectively. Several others are expected to enter within the next few weeks.

Miss Minnie Story has been quite ill but is recovering.

A valuable mule, owned by Chas. Price and driven by George Dunning, had its front legs badly cut Tuesday morning by falling through a hole in a galvanized culvert, on Wilbur gulch.

Phone 39 for your meat, etc., and have it delivered with your grocery order.

A CHECK ACCOUNT

IF YOU have a check account in a good bank you will never want to be without its convenience and safety. Should your check be lost a duplicate can be obtained, and the money is safe. In addition, in paying by check you obtain a positive receipt and take a step forward in business custom by carrying a bank account. The time required to make deposits is well spent, for the time saved in keeping track of your affairs by the bank's keeping your books and the ability to give the exact change in writing your check more than offsets the time lost going to bank. Money in the bank will not be spent readily for the things you do not need, so that a check account surely is an aid to thrift.

Everybody knows something about Lumber values

these days, but the homebuilder who listens to the cry of "wait until lumber is cheaper" is not apt to be any nearer his goal on his deathbed than he is today.

The Government recommends TIMBER CONSERVATION and this alone is proof that lumber has a fixed value.

Now's the Time to Build.—If you contemplate a new home we want to talk with you—we have all grades of lumber. The lowest quality starts at good and goes up. Give us a call and learn the facts about these lumber values.
