ALL EXPENSES PAID AND MONEY LEFT

Nearly Forty Dollars Remains in Hands of Hog Show Committee—Pullman Keeps Most of Prize Money

After paying all expenses connected with the third annual hog show, held this month, a balance of $31.09 remains in the hands of the committee which had the big show in hand, according to a report which has been submitted to the Chamber of Commerce. A total of $727.50 in cash was raised by popular subscription to defray the expenses of the hog show, and only $693.41 was expended for cash prizes, labor, materials, judges' expenses, etc., leaving a neat little balance to place to the credit of next year's display of porkers.

A total of $242 in cash aside from the silver cups, ribbons and other premiums, was distributed among the exhibitors, and of this amount $146 remained in Pullman, having been won by local exhibitors. The largest individual cash winners were J. K. Smawley & Son, who, with their prize-winning Berkshires, won $38 in cash as well as two grand championship prizes and innumerable ribbons. D. S. Bridgefarmer of Palouse was second high cash winner, with $26 to his credit.

HOME WEDDING

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Peterson home at Staley, Wednesday, December 30, at 2 o'clock when Clara Petersen became the bride of Ross Hedglen, a young farmer of the Staley neighborhood, in the presence of about 50 guests. The home was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens and a bridal arch constructed of native fir. Promptly at the appointed hour, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom, preceded by Mr. Petersen, a brother of the bride, and Miss Hedglen, a sister of the groom, entered the large parlor and took their position under the arch, where the Rev. Harley Jackson, pastor of the First Christian church, said the words that made them husband and wife. After the ceremony a bounteous luncheon was served, after which the guests departed for their homes, all wishing the happy couple a long and prosperous life.

ANOTHER PIONEER ANSWERS LAST CALL

William J. Buckley, Territorial Day Settler, Passes Away in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Wednesday Morning

William J. Buckley, who established Pullman's first lumber yard in the fall of 1888, died at his home in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, early Wednesday morning. Mr. Buckley located in Pullman nearly 30 years ago, and engaged in the carpenter business, later doing a general lumber business, and still later engaging in gardening and fruit raising on his property just west of Pullman. Several of Pullman's oldest residences were constructed by Mr. Buckley before there was any thought of asking for the establishment of the State College here, and while Pullman was still little more than a hamlet.

Several years ago Mr. Buckley removed to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, and for two months past has been in poor health. Although almost a constant sufferer from asthma, he was strong and hearty until his last illness. Besides his wife, Mr. Buckley leaves several grown children, all former residents of Pullman. One son, Isaac Buckley, is now located here, and left with his wife for Coeur d'Alene Wednesday morning upon receipt of the message announcing his father's death.

MRS. MARGARET MORRELL LAID TO REST MONDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret O. Morrell, wife of Charles O. Morrell, Pullman pioneer, were held Monday afternoon at the Congregational church, in charge of the Eastern Star and W. R. C. organizations and the Rev. C. H. Harrison. Many friends of the esteemed lady paid their last respects over the body. Mrs. Morrell died in Los Angeles, Cal., and her remains were accompanied to Pullman by her husband. Interment was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

MISS MARIE SAVAGE WEDS C. A. THOMPSON

Pretty Wedding Occurs Christmas Day at Home of Groom's Uncle in Spokane—Will Reside at Mossy Rock

Miss Marie Savage, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Allen of this city, on Christmas day became the bride of Charles A. Thompson, a 1914 graduate from the State College of Washington. The wedding occurred at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson, in Spokane, and was performed by the Rev. Mr. Thompson, who is an uncle of the groom, at high noon.

The Yuletide suggestion was given in the decorations, the dining room being done in a color combination of red and green and the living room in white and green. Following the wedding the Christmas dinner was served. Covers were placed for more than a score of relatives and friends.

The "Lohengrin" wedding music was played by Miss Lois Thompson and little Miss May Thompson walked before the bridal party, carrying the ring in the heart of a rose. The bride was given away by her stepfather, G. C. Allen. Her gown was of white satin, with a long tunic of hand-embroidered chiffon. Her bouquet was of bride's roses. Miss Ella Thompson of Pullman, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and his cousin, Chandler Thompson, was best man. Miss Thompson wore a gown of silk mulle.

The bride is one of Pullman's most popular young ladies, and has hosts of friends who extend their heartiest well wishes. She is a graduate of the Pullman high school, where she won an enviable reputation as a declaimer. Mr. Thompson is the son of C. F. Thompson, formerly a resident of Pullman but now located at Valleyford, near Spokane, and received his degree in agriculture with the class of last June. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will be at home in Mossy Rock, near Tacoma, where the groom is head of the mathematics and manual training departments in the high school.

Happy New Year

May the year Nineteen Fifteen bring you health, prosperity and happiness; may it be filled with the joy which results from good will to your fellows, and the satisfaction of doing your best to improve yourself, better the condition of the community in which you reside and add to the pleasure of your friends and neighbors; may it bring to you the contentment and the peace of mind which springs from the faithful performance of every duty and the cheerful sacrifice of self when necessary to advance the public weal, is the New Years wish of

VARIED PROGRAM FOR WHEAT CONVENTION, JANUARY 5-6-7

Every Phase of Farming Operations Included in Comprehensive Program Prepared by Professor Severance

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 5, 6 and 7, will be gala days for the farmers of the Inland Empire, who will gather at the State College to listen to and participate in the most comprehensive program ever arranged for the annual wheat conventions. The program has been completed by Professor George Severance, secretary of the Washington State Grain Growers, Shippers and Millers association, which has the wheat convention in charge, and includes a discussion of every phase of farming by competent authorities and practical farmers. The railroads have granted rates of one and one-third fare for the occasion, and a large attendance of farmers is anticipated. The entire program for the three days' session will be as follows:

Tuesday, January 5

Afternoon Session—1:30 p. m.—President's annual address. "Possibilities of More Diversified Cropping and Its Advantages in Controlling the Dry Belt Problems," M. A. McCall, Lind. "Practical Results in Hog Raising in the Dry Belt," Roy G. Adams, Ritzville. "The Silo in the Dry Belt," A. M. Richardson, Waterville. "Successful Tillage Methods for Dry Land Farming," C. E. Moody, Lind; Ernest Jolly, Mold. Evening Session—8:00 p. m.—Address, C. E. Arney, Industrial Agent N. P. Ry. Co. "The Extension Movement and the Smith-Lever Bill," President E. A. Bryan, Pullman. "Grain Standardization," R. D. Jarboe, state grain inspector, Tacoma.

Excellent Sleighing Result of Snowfall

The merry tinkle of sleighbells and the shouting of the significant word "track" by many lusty throats have been much in evidence this week, due to the public spirit and extreme forethought of the weather man in providing a substantial blanket of snow just at a time when the people could enjoy it. The roads are frozen hard, and were worn smooth before the snow came, and the sleighing is better than it has been for several years. The West Main street hill provides excellent coasting facilities for the younger element, and some of the older, too, and each evening large parties enjoy the sport.

The moisture is hailed with delight by the farmers, the snow pro-

Wednesday, January 6

Morning Session—9:30 a. m.—"Results of Co-operative Experiments in Growing Peas, Clover, Alfalfa and Corn," Professor E. G. Schafer, Pullman. "How Forage Incidental to Grain Production Can Walk Off the Farm Instead of Being Burned or Hauled Off," Professor Wm. Hislop, Pullman. "Opportunities in Dairying in the Palouse Country," J. D. Carson, Pullman. "Some Factors That Affect the Profits in Farming" (illustrated with lantern slides), Byron Hunter, Pullman. Afternoon Session—1:30 p. m.—Report on smut investigations, Director I. D. Cardiff, Pullman. Demonstration of a smut explosion, Geo. A. Olson, Pullman. Experiences with Smut (by practical farmers), Hon. R. C. McCroskey, leader of experience meeting. Evening Session—8:00 p. m.—"What Effect Will the Panama Canal Have on Wheat Prices?" J. T. Bibb, Tacoma. "To What Extent and How Permanently Will the European War Affect Grain Prices?" R. T. Lord, Spokane. "What Influence Will the Present Rise in Grain Prices Have on Diversified Farming?" A. L. Rogers, Waterville.

Thursday, January 7

Morning Session—9:30 a. m.—"Report of Progress in Cereal Investigations," E. F. Gaines, Pullman. "Report on Investigations of Factors Affecting Milling Qualities," Geo. Olson, Pullman. Business meeting. Afternoon Session—1:30 p. m.—"Results of Experiments in Tillage and Cropping Methods," C. C. Thom, Pullman. "Advantages of Co-operation," Hon. L. C. Crow, Pullman.

Elbert Kincaid went to Colfax Monday to attend a meeting of the democratic county executive committee, of which he is a member. The committee endorsed E. J. Byrne for postmaster at Garfield, George H. Johnson for postmaster at Oakesdale, and Martin J. Maloney for the position of collector of customs for the district of Washington.

GRAIN QUOTATIONS STILL ON UPGRADE

There has been no letup in the general advances in grain prices during the past week, and the fortunate farmer who is still holding his 1914 output can sit by and watch his fortune grow by leaps and bounds. Little the grain has changed hands during the week. Yesterday's prices were as follows:

Red Russian wheat	$1.10
Club wheat	1.12 1/2
Fortyfold wheat	1.13
Oats, per cwt.	1.30
Barley, per cwt.	1.10

BAKER RE-UNION

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Baker of 202 Spaulding street, celebrated the Christmas holidays with a homecoming re-union of their family, there being present their daughter Mabel and her husband, Arthur Hooker, of Calgary, Alberta; their son, Henry L., and his wife, Madeline Salem Baker, of Spokane; and their daughter, Grace. Henry L. Baker and wife have returned to Spokane, where Mr. Baker is manager of the Grandview waterworks. Mr. Hooker left Thursday for Spokane and Calgary. He is secretary of the International Irrigation Congress and while at Calgary will close the offices there and ship the records to Sacramento, Cal., where the congress meets next September. Mrs. Hooker will visit with her parents in Pullman until the return of Mr. Hooker. They expect to leave for California early in February.

Miss Gladys Waller, who has been spending the holidays with her parents, leaves tomorrow for Sunnyside to resume her school work.

Walker & Struppler report the sale of the J. S. Clark tract at the corner of South and Spring streets to W. B. Channel, who is planning to build a house on it as soon as the weather will permit. The consideration for the tract was $420.00.

EASTERN STAR AND MASONS INSTALL

Elaborate Banquet Precedes Annual Installation of Officers of Affiliated Orders

One of the most comprehensive, elaborate and successful gatherings of Whitman Lodge No. 49, F. & A. M., and its auxiliary, the order of Eastern Star, was that of Tuesday evening, when, following an elaborate banquet served at six o'clock, the officers for the two organizations were installed. Covers were laid for 174 at the banquet, and not a chair was vacant. George H. Watt, past master of the local Masonic lodge, and representative-elect from this district, was installing officer for the Masons, and was assisted by William M. Porter, also a past master. The officers installed were as follows:

Worshipful master—Alvin E. Olson. Senior warden—George A. Olson. Junior warden—C. R. Dutton. Treasurer—N. E. J. Gentry. Secretary—U. G. Lawler. Chaplain—W. N. Phillips. Marshal—T. F. Monroe. Senior deacon—R. P. Cope. Junior deacon—Earl Miller. Senior steward—C. R. Lewis. Junior steward—H. M. Beck. Tyler—H. N. Benton.

Officers-elect for the Order of Eastern Star were installed by Mrs. Frank Henderson, assisted by Mrs. Mattie Quarels, and were as follows:

Worthy matron—Mrs. D. R. Campbell. Worthy patron—Frank Henderson. Conductress—Mrs. Ella Brock. Associate conductress—Mrs. Nora Sampson. Treasurer—Mrs. C. F. McCarthy. Secretary—Mrs. Anna Clyde. Chaplain—Mrs. H. N. Benton. Adah—Mrs. Minnie D. Ageton. Ruth—Mrs. Cella Olson. Esther—Mrs. A. N. Bryant. Martha—Mrs. W. H. Miller. Electa—Mrs. A. F. Brownell. Warder—Mrs. Penelope Swain. Sentinel—C. R. Lewis. Organist—Mrs. Irene Gass.

WINTER SCHOOL HAS VARIED ATTRACTIONS

W. S. C. Farmers Winter School, January 4 to February 12.

Farmers and Housekeepers Week, February 1 to February 6.

Annual Convention of the Washington Grain Growers, Shippers & Millers Association, January 5-6-7.

Graduate School for Veterinarians, January 25-30.

Practical demonstrations in lieu of class room lectures and text book assignments will be the keynote of the approaching Winter School for Farmers at W. S. C. and the change, which is in line with the agricultural "demonstrations" which are encouraged throughout the United States by the recent Smith-Lever legislation, will be very marked. In earlier stages, the instruction included in farmers' winter schools in Washington as well as other states, was much the same as that offered to long-term students, so far as method is concerned. It consisted of lectures, in which note-taking, and text book assignments were leading features.

The more recent movement in agricultural extension does not entirely dispense with the formerly used methods; but it recognizes a new principle, learned after years of experience, namely, that the quickest and most effective way to reach the farmer is the appeal, not wholly by oral argument, but by showing him. Students of the approaching Winter School at Pullman will therefore be invited to forego the luxury of steam heated class rooms, and in lieu thereof will attend class in the stock pavilion, the poultry house, the bull barn, the farm machinery building, the dairy barn, the milk house, the seed curing room, the hog houses, and when the weather is not too near the zero point, out in the orchard where pruning will be taught.

A herd of 23 dairy cows is being groomed for the approaching occasion, and their performances will be one of the valuable, practical lessons which will be offered to dairymen. Angel, quite properly, is the best one in the herd. She is now in her ninth month of milk, and the first three months gave as high as 97 pounds a day—eight pounds constituting a gallon; and is now giving 65 pounds a day. Her milk tests 3 1/2 per cent butterfat. Idle White is a big Holstein, a fact somewhat belied by her name—for she is not white, but black. She is giving 65 pounds of milk daily and it runs a little richer than the milk of Angel. Pieterje gives 45 pounds of milk a day, and has run within a hair of this production every day for nine months, rain or sunshine notwithstanding. She is a two-year-old heifer of the Holstein breed. Duchess and Copia, Holsteins, are giving 60 pounds a day.

Gertie is the best Jersey in the bunch. She is a two-year-old, gives 30 pounds of milk a day, which averages a little under seven per cent butterfat.

The heavy producing cows are milked three times daily—at four in the evening, at midnight, and at eight in the morning. Two students who are earning their way through college sleep in the dairy barn and get up at midnight to do the milking. The others are milked twice daily—at four in the morning and four in the evening. The grain ration of the cows consists of oats, barley, and bran in equal parts, 10 pounds daily of which is fed to the Holsteins and five to eight to the Jerseys. They are given corn silage, of which the Jerseys get 30 pounds daily and the Holsteins 40; and, in addition, each cow is given all the alfalfa hay she can clean up, the amount running from 10 to 15 pounds daily.

The above system of daily management supplemented by the necessary lectures, explanations, and demonstrations will be laid out in practical terms for the benefit of the Winter School—the work of which includes equally practical demonstrations in dairy manufactures—ice cream, butter, cheese, and so on. On an equally practical basis will be the work in other phases of animal husbandry. The hog houses are well stocked with pigs of several breeds and of all ages. There are Poland Chinas, (Continued on page four)
