

STATE COLLEGE TEAM CONTINUES TO WIN

O. A. C. Falls Easy Prey to Coach Dietz's Wonderful Team—Final Score Is 29 to 0

Coach William H. Dietz's wonderful team of football men added another scalp to its belt Saturday afternoon at Corvallis, Ore., when they won handily from the touted O. A. C. team, mentioned as the strongest in the conference by many experts, and piled up 29 points to a goose egg for the O. A. C. men, in one of the best games ever played on the Oregon field. The perfect interference of the W. S. C. men, and the wonderful system of body blocking taught by the new mentor, were salient factors in the success of the Crimson and Gray, and Coach Dietz is deserving of all the honor he receives for turning out a team in a few weeks practice that is undoubtedly the class of the conference. The Evergreen, the state college student publication, sent its editor, William V. Nessly, to Corvallis to report the game, and his deductions are here reprinted:

When the W. S. C. team emerged from the contest, battered and bruised, but immensely happy, 3000 ardent supporters of the Orange and Black acknowledged freely that their team had fallen before a vastly superior machine. Not a person was heard who even suggested that the victory was unearned, but all joined in giving to the O. A. C. eleven credit for having played a clean, fighting game that at once earned them a commendable reputation and detracted from the disappointment of the defeat.

W. S. C. Men Suffer

It was a costly victory for the state college for "Hack" Applequist, playing his fourth year at tackle, suffered internal injuries which, according to a Corvallis physician, will prevent him from entering another game. Other doctors consulted could not agree as to the results or extent of Applequist's injuries. One declared the liver was injured, another that two ribs were broken and a third stated that a cartilage on the right side was torn loose from the ribs. Benton Bangs, the smashing halfback, who has been playing in all-Northwest style, came out of the game with his face beaten almost to a pulp, the result of several blows squarely in the face. Bangs, however, is much improved and probably will not be kept out of other games by his injuries.

The field that W. S. C. players, coaches and rooters were praying for was found at Corvallis. The weather was warm and the field dry and fast. Had there been a muddy field the O. A. C. eleven would have had a great advantage, which probably could not have been overcome.

Entire Team Works Together

A gratifying feature of the game was the great co-operation between members of the team. The line worked in wonderful manner to open holes for the backs and in every case of danger held with bulldog tenacity. There were no individual stars, but the accomplishment of every player was due in some measure to his team mates.

Not too much can be said of the work of Bangs, Doane, Dietz, and Durham. The backfield hit savagely, picked holes with precision and carried the ball in a manner suited to beget the utmost confidence. Durham won much admiration and confidence with his drop-kicks, putting three over with great accuracy out of as many trials. Doane hit hard and low and seldom failed to gain. Bangs was called upon repeatedly when the O. A. C. team was fighting its hardest but there was no stopping the little half. Dietz made dozens of yards while he was at full-back and when he was shifted to end he performed just as creditably there. Boone, at full, showed greater ability to pick holes than he exhibited in the previous games and time after time he went straight through for from five to 10 yards. In the line Langdon played rings around Bissett at center and repeatedly went through to grab the runner behind the line. Applequist, Herried and Brooks handled their men safely, save on occasions when the O. A. C. team took a new lease on life and fought and plunged their way through with their great weight. Zimmerman and Loomis, at ends, were down on every punt and assisted in forming the best interference seen at Corvallis in years.

Durham Scores Early

The game started badly, with Durham fumbling the ball on the first down following Laythe's kickoff to Boone, who returned the ball 20 yards. On the second down Bangs gained but two yards and Dietz punted 40 yards. About the middle of the quarter the Crimson and Gray eleven fought their way to the 25-yard line and Durham placed a neat drop-kick between the uprights. Following the kick Durham fumbled the ball again and Allworth recovered. Three penalties on W. S. C. and a number of short gains through the line gave O. A. C. three first downs and placed the ball on the 20-yard line. Abraham dropped back for a place kick, but three men pierced the line, blocked the kick and recovered the ball.

In the second quarter O. A. C. failed to gain through the line and resorted to repeated passes, which were incomplete. Bangs, Dietz and Doane carried the ball 30 yards. Dietz kicked to Billie, who fumbled, and Zimmerman recovered the ball on the 10-yard line. Bangs gained two yards and Doane, with 10 seconds left to play, plunged over right tackle for a touchdown. Durham kicked goal.

In the third quarter O. A. C. failed to stop the plunges by Washington backs and first down was made four times. From the 35-yard line Durham put over another drop-kick.

In the last quarter the Washington backs gained steadily and a penalty on O. A. C. for illegal substitution put the ball on the 11-yard line. Bangs, Boone and Hanley took it 10 yards and Hanley went over for the second touchdown. Following this Bangs, Boone and Hanley carried the ball to the 25-yard line again and Durham placed his third drop-kick. O. A. C. got away with two nice forward passes and were going strong. On the next attempt, however, Zimmerman intercepted the pass from Smyth intended for Billie and raced 60 yards for a touchdown. Durham's kick was a little wide.

Abraham a Star

Abraham was undoubtedly the star of the O. A. C. team and the big fellow was relied upon many times by the eleven in times of danger. He was ably supported by Billie and Smyth, but the O. A. C. line succumbed to the fierce attacks of the Washington men.

Injuries were frequent and O. A. C. lost a number of players. Loomis was injured in the leg and had to retire, but his injury is not serious. Time was taken out many times, but there was little wrangling and quarreling, the game being conducted in an admirable manner from the spectators' point of view.

NANCE O'NEIL, THE EMPRESS OF STORMY EMOTION

Nance O'Neil, with her vital personality and compelling magnetism, is beyond question America's most prominent emotional actress. She has been proclaimed as such by no less a master of stagecraft than David Belasco, in whose drama, "The Lily," she electrified New York audiences into perfect storms of noisy enthusiasm. The enterprise of William Fox, the president of the Fox Film corporation, in securing for the screen the services of this gifted actress, was amply demonstrated in "Kreutzer Sonata," the William Fox production in which Miss O'Neil made her photoplay debut. She now appears in the wonderful character of Princess Romanoff in the William Fox feature, "Princess Romanoff," based upon Victorian Sardou's greatest play, "Fedora."

All over the world, for she has played by popular demand in every civilized country on earth, Miss O'Neil's marvelous rendition of the character of "Fedora" is known and acclaimed. "Princess Romanoff," as adapted for the screen by Clara S. Beranger and produced by Frank Powell, director of the William Fox successes "A Fool There Was" and "From the Valley of the Missing," is an infinitely more powerful drama in every way than the stage version of the Sardou play. The scope and latitude afforded by the camera and the innumerable opportunities to enlarge upon and intensify the dramatic qualities of "Fedora," makes it a screen drama which exceeds in power and stirring interest anything hitherto seen in the photo drama.

FREE UNTIL 1916

Have you subscribed for the Youth's Companion for 1916? Now is the time to do it, if you are not already a subscriber, for you will get all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1915 free from the time your subscription with $2.00 is received.

The 52 issues of 1916 will be crowded with good reading for young and old. Reading that is entertaining, but not "wish-washy." Reading that leaves you, when you lay the paper down, better informed, with keener aspirations, with a broader outlook on life. The Companion is a good paper to tie to if you have a growing family—and for general reading, as Justice Brewer once said, no other is necessary.

If you wish to know more of the brilliant list of contributors, from our ex-presidents down, who will write for the new volume in 1916, and if you wish to know something of the new stories for 1916, let us send you free the Forecast for 1916.

Every new subscriber who sends $2. for 1916 will receive, in addition to this year's free issues, The Companion Calendar for 1916. The Youth's Companion, Boston, Mass.
