N. W. CONFERENCE TO REMAIN THE SAME

Pacific Coast Organization Formed,
However, With Four Schools
in Membership

Though the Northwest conference, including W. S. C., the U. of W., U. of Oregon, U. of Idaho, O. A. C., and Whitman college, will remain unchanged, a new conference consisting of the universities of Washington, California and Oregon and Oregon Agricultural college was formed at the conference meeting in Portland last Friday. The action came in a secret meeting held by delegates from the four schools after the entire day had been spent in attempts to solve the problem of the relations of the schools already in the Northwest organization. By the formation of the new conference three schools, the universities of Washington and Oregon and O. A. C. are included in both organizations. These schools will play the regular schedules in the Northwest conference, but each will play the University of California and the four institutions will bar Freshmen from the teams when playing among themselves. The use of Freshmen by the Northwest conference teams will not be interfered with.

Throughout the deliberations the Washington State College delegates held the whip hand. The entire argument centered around the adoption of the proposed anti-Freshman ruling. During the day the W. S. C. delegates refused every proposition to change to the no-Freshman rule, though it was proposed that all of the five schools but Whitman and Idaho agree to the rule, leaving the two small schools free to act as they pleased. The W. S. C. representatives remained firm in their decision to stand by the small schools and the four institutions were required to form an organization of their own.

Plan of U. of Washington

The proposal of the anti-Freshman rule was made by the U. of W. delegates, who went to the meeting instructed to schedule games only with the schools who would agree to bar Freshmen. Their uncompromising attitude was not shared by the other delegates and as a consequence Washington State will meet every team in the conference next year save the U. of W. The attempt to dictate terms of agreement to the other schools were turned down flat when the U. of W. representatives revealed their hands.

Washington and California universities were both in favor of the Freshman rule, but neither of the Oregon schools sanctioned it voluntarily. The necessity of their joining the organization for prestige is believed to have been the only factor influencing their action.

That the Washington State delegates really held a favored position in the deliberations is shown by the number and importance of football games offered the W. S. C. team. Seven games have already been agreed to and it will keep the team on the go to carry out the schedule as arranged. Week after week the games follow one another throughout the season, every conference team save that of the University of Washington being played in 1916. Though the Seattle delegates were instructed to schedule no games with teams which would not bar Freshmen, an effort was made to arrange a U. of W.-W. S. C. game for next season. The lack of open dates, however, prevented the scheduling of the contest.

It is probable that the 1916 season will start with a game against Gonzaga, though that game has been scheduled for November 25. Games were arranged with the O. A. C., Michigan A. C., Montana, Oregon, Idaho and Whitman.

Conference Meet at Pullman

The schedule makers again granted Pullman the conference track meet for June 3 of next year. The meet was held here two years ago and for the first time in history the contest did not result in a financial loss. The new Rogers field, probably the finest in the Northwest, was dedicated by the meet and as a fitting result some $25 was added to the treasury of each school, the annual deficit being eliminated for the first time.
