AUTOMOBILE HITS BOY

Vernon Stephenson, son of George Stephenson, was painfully injured yesterday afternoon when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by an automobile at the corner of Main and High streets. The boy was thrown from the bicycle and a deep gash was cut in his chin, requiring several stitches. He was rendered unconscious but regained consciousness soon after being taken home. It is not thought that he was injured internally. Bystanders allege that the automobile was driven by C. D. Barnett, a local contractor, and that the driver was not complying with the traffic laws.

SAYS HORSE UNFIT FOR WORK

Protesting against the alleged action of the owners in driving a horse to a heavily loaded wagon when the animal is well past the prime of life and in no physical condition for hard labor, Mrs. George B. Miller has addressed a communication to the city council. The correspondent demands that the council take action forthwith and that the animal, described as an antiquated relic of bygone days, with bulging ribs and uncertain step, be either "condemned as unfit for use, shot or pensioned." It is probable that action will be taken in the matter.

MAY GET CHEAPER RATES

Pullman citizens may enjoy the privilege of reduced rates on water during the summer months as a result of a request made to the city council Tuesday evening by J. M. Palmerton. Mr. Palmerton represented a large number of property owners, and asked that reduced rates for irrigation purposes be given for the months of June, July and August. The matter was referred to the water committee and a report will be made at the next meeting of the council.

SPOKANE MAN BUYS QUARTER SECTION

B. L. Sharp of Spokane bid in a quarter section of the Geo. A. Conrad holdings, six miles north of Pullman, at the sale held Wednesday, the price being $77 per acre. The quarter section is unimproved with buildings. Eighty acres is in wheat, the balance summer fallow land. Mr. Conrad himself bid in the other quarter section, which is improved with modern buildings, at $92 per acre, after $84 had been offered. The livestock and farm machinery brought only fair prices.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF CANDIDACY

I hereby announce my candidacy for the republican nomination for county commissioner from the Second district, subject to the will of the voters at the primary election.

J. B. SANBORN.

PULLMAN BOYS WILL GO TO REFORMATORY

Donald Laney and Thomas McKenzie Plead Guilty to Burglarizing Students Store—One to Five Years Each in Training School

Upon pleas of guilty to burglarizing the Students Book store in Pullman, Donald Laney and Thomas McKenzie were given indeterminate sentences of from one to five years each in the state training school. The boys were arrested last Friday and taken to Colfax by Mayor Harley Jackson. They are said to have admitted their guilt to the officers at once and pleaded guilty to the crime as soon as they were given the opportunity. Pending the hearing they were held at Colfax in default of $2500 bonds.

The arrest of the two boys probably clears the mystery surrounding a number of burglaries in Pullman as well as one at Rathdrum, Idaho. During the past winter and early spring eight burglaries were committed in Pullman, the students store being the victim on three occasions. Other places burglarized were Watt's pharmacy, the Golden Rule store, Thorpe's Smoke House, the N. P. lunch counter and the Model bakery. In each case small amounts of cash were secured, although so far as known the stocks of goods were not molested. This spring the two boys went to Rathdrum, Idaho, and while there a bakery was broken into and a small amount of cash taken. It was evidence in connection with the Idaho burglary that led to the arrest of the boys and their subsequent confession of guilt.

The McKenzie youth is 18 years of age and his companion one year younger. They are both of well known Pullman families.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED SUNDAY

Arthur Johnson and Miss Ella Thompson Made Man and Wife at Home of Bride's Father in Valleyford

Two well known Pullman young people were married at Valleyford last Sunday when Miss Ella Thompson became the bride of Arthur Johnson. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's father, Samuel Thompson, by the Rev. C. W. McLaughlin, of Aberdeen, brother-in-law of the bride, in the presence of the relatives and a few invited friends. The happy couple returned to Pullman the same evening and will make their home here.

The bride was a resident of Pullman until last year, and for three years attended the Pullman high school. She made hosts of friends through her charming personality and was prominent in high school social circles. Mr. Johnson, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Johnson, has been a resident of Pullman since childhood. He is interested in the Pullman Bottling & Manufacturing company. Both the young people have many friends who extend heartiest congratulations and well wishes and welcome them to Pullman as husband and wife.

A reception in honor of the newly wedded couple was given last night at the home of the groom's parents on West Main street, when a large number of friends extended well wishes.

FREE UNIFORMS FOR STATE COLLEGE CADETS

New Army Bill Signed by President. Will Prove Boost for State College Military Department

The new army bill, recently passed by Congress and signed by President Woodrow Wilson, will prove a big boost for the military department of the state college. The bill provides that all students entering the State College of Washington will be provided with a complete uniform free of cost. The students have formerly been obliged to pay for their own uniforms.

The outfit will consist of a coat, breeches, hat, cap, outing shirts, leggings, gloves and shoes.

Another feature of the bill affecting state college men is the one which grants approximately $75 each school year, in addition to the uniforms, to juniors and seniors if they continue military work beyond the two years required at college.

Upon graduation seniors who have shown aptitude for military science may enter the regular army for six months as temporary second lieutenants, receiving about $150 a month in pay and allowances and at the end of this time return to a civil profession.

FORMER STUDENTS WILL WED

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of James A. Williams, '14, now deputy sheriff of Whitman county, with offices at Colfax, and Miss Eva Smawley, '14, of Pullman. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kemp Smawley, at 1711 Star Route street, on Thursday, June 15.

While in college Mr. Williams was an active student, being president of the A. S. S. C. W., a successful debater, and a letter man in track. He is a member of Delta fraternity. Miss Smawley is a member of Sigma Beta Pi, and during her four years, was active in literary and social affairs.

MUST PUT IN SIDEWALKS

An order requiring all the property owners on West Main street, from the State street intersection to and including the property of A. R. Boyd, to lay cement sidewalks at once, was adopted by the council Tuesday evening. Unless the improvements are made within a reasonable period of time the work will be done by the city and the costs assessed against the property benefited. An order for sidewalk construction on East Main street was also made.

BOYS BREAK WINDOW

Two young Americans, engaging in a friendly scuffle, Sunday afternoon broke one of the large plate glass windows in the front of the Emerson store. The glass was replaced Wednesday and the boys will have to save their pennies for many days to make financial amends.

ADOPTING BULK SYSTEM.

Those who gathered at Spokane the 6th of the month to discuss the relative merits of bulk and sack methods for handling grain may be interested in knowing that they are not by any means alone in their efforts to dispense with sacks. The correspondent for the Price Current Grain Reporter, writing from London states a movement is on in New South Wales which calls for the expenditure of two million dollars on country and terminal elevators. A committee for South Australia has recommended the installation of elevators to handle thirty million bushels of wheat. The committee reports an estimated expense of $5,128,675 to complete the work. They also calculated a saving in bags alone of $1,250,000, while other savings, they estimate, will run the total to $2,375,000 each year. The report contemplates the building of 120 country elevators and four at terminals. The country elevators are to consist of sixty-four 40,000 bushels capacity, thirty-four 50,000 bushels, and twenty-two 60,000 bushels each. The four terminal elevators are to be 500,000 and 820,000 bushels capacity each.

Australia is a white wheat country, their wheat being very much the same as the white wheat grown along the Pacific coast. In Argentina, the correspondent writes, the first elevator was erected in 1881, but the extension of the system has been hampered by the opposition of certain interests. He further states that the country is committed to a program involving the construction of country and terminal elevators with a storage capacity of 150,000,000 bushels. You will be somewhat surprised to know that India, the home of the jute bag, is agitating handling grain in bulk. This is surely going after the bag system with a vengeance. If India is not pleased with jute for a granary surely other parts of the world, thousands of miles distant from the source of supply of material from which bags are manufactured, are not to be blamed for a like dissatisfaction. An experimental elevator has been erected at Lyallpur. It has only been a few years since Russia abandoned the bag method of handling grain. Formerly bags were used on the farms but were emptied at terminals and exporting was done in bulk. An agitation caused the erection of interior elevators and bags were done away with entirely.

It will be seen from this that Washington is not the only spot that is giving the matter serious thought, but that grain growers in all parts of the world are working their little hammers overtime in whacking the sack system of handling grain.

R. D. JARBOE,
 Chief Grain Inspector.

The library has recently received a very valuable gift consisting of a complete file as is obtainable of all the publications of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. These publications constitute one of the largest and best collections of scientific research material in existence, and are given to only a few of the larger libraries of the country. In addition, the library has been placed on the mailing list of the Rockefeller Institute and will receive all of the publications that may be issued in the future.

YELLOWSTONE PARK

Yellowstone park will be the subject of the Department of Interior's first book of a series to be published exploiting government parks and announced several weeks ago. Several thousand copies will soon be ready for free distribution throughout the country.

This work, a description and narrative of the Yellowstone, comprises 24 pages beautifully bound, and including several illustrations.

When Secretary H. F. Lane of the Interior Department determined to bring the scenic features of the United States' reservations before the public, he solicited the aid of railroad companies. The Northern Pacific railway was one of the first to promise its co-operation and bought outright several thousand copies of the Yellowstone park edition which it, as well as the government, expects to distribute.

One passage of the first edition of national parks books has the following to say of "The Land of Wonders," as it calls the Yellowstone: "This is the largest and most widely celebrated of our national parks. It is associated in the public mind with geysers only, having more of these within its borders than are to be found in all other parts of the world combined. There never was a greater mistake, however, for were there no geysers, the Yellowstone watershed alone, with its glowing canyon, would render the reservation worthy of being called a 'national park.'"

COLFAX TO HELP IN CLUB MOVEMENT

County Seat Boosters Pledge $50 Toward Relief of Pullman Chamber in Boys' and Girls' Club Work

Assistance to the extent of $50 will be given by the Colfax Commercial club to the boys' and girls' club work in Whitman county. This amount was pledged by unanimous vote Wednesday when a committee from the Pullman Chamber of Commerce, attending the meeting for the purpose of extending an invitation to the Colfax people to visit Pullman next Tuesday, presented the matter for the consideration of the county seat organization. In order to assure the financial assistance of the extension department of the college and the state department of education, the Pullman chamber pledged itself to raise $250 toward the work, which covers the entire county. One hundred and fifty dollars of this had already been subscribed by the various commercial clubs of the county, and with $50 more promised by the Colfax club, Pullman will be required to pay but $50 toward the work. The matter was presented by George H. Watt and John W. Mathews, and a motion by William Lippitt to appropriate $50 toward Pullman's relief carried unanimously.

J. W. Mathews did further missionary work while on the visit by enlisting the support of the Colfax chamber in the movement to have an adequate system of sign boards provided and placed by the county commissioners. The law provides that the commissioners shall place sign boards at all principal road crossings and the Colfax club pledged its support to the Pullman chamber in the request to the commissioners to comply with this provision.

BLOAT

State College of Washington, June 7—Bloating is the result of the rapid formation of gas in the paunch. There is always more or less gas formed in the paunch by the action of bacteria upon the coarse parts of the food. Under ordinary conditions this gas is taken into the circulation as rapidly as formed; but when large quantities of easily fermented green food are taken into the paunch gases are formed more rapidly than the blood can take them up and bloat results.

While there is no certain method of preventing bloat, it is possible to greatly lessen the danger from this source. Before the herd is turned onto alfalfa or clover pasture for the first time, the animals should be given all the hay they will eat, or be allowed to fill up on a pasture of mixed grasses. Then when they have eaten all they will of this other food turn them into the clover or alfalfa. Then keep on clover or alfalfa continually as they are much less apt to bloat when they take their feed often and in small amounts than when they eat a large amount in a short time.

If the animal is severely bloated when found the surest remedy is tapping. This is best done with a trocar at a point half way between point of the hip and the last rib, pointing the "trocar" slightly downward. The trocar is then removed, leaving the tube or canula in the opening to allow the gas to escape.

When the bloat is reduced give as a drench two ounces of turpentine in a pint of raw linseed oil or one quart of warm milk. If the raw linseed oil is not used it is well to follow the milk and turpentine in a short time with one pound of Epsom salts.

If the case is not severe when found either of the following remedies may give relief. 1. Tie a rope or wooden gag in the mouth. It is best to have this gag well coated with pine tar. This gag helps to start belching of the gas. 2. Pour cold water over the loins. 3. Give two ounces of turpentine in one pint of raw linseed oil or one quart of warm milk. 4. Give one to two ounces of baking soda in water as a drench. It is best to follow any treatment with one pound of Epsom salts unless some other physic has been used in the treatment given. Stand the animal with the front feet considerably higher than the head. This will relieve the pressure on the lungs.—James N. Price, Extension Specialist in Dairying and Livestock.
