CLARK ADDS TO FARM HOLDINGS

Girard Clark, pioneer farmer of the Albion district, this week added 392 acres of farm land to his already extensive holdings when he purchased the E. V. Cunningham farm of 290 acres and the M. J. Cunningham 102-acre tract adjoining, paying $1600 per acre for the 290-acre farm and $70 per acre for the 102-acre tract. Possession will be given this fall, the new owner to get one-third of the present crop, which includes 135 acres of fall wheat and 125 acres in spring crop. The new purchase gives Mr. Clark some 1600 acres of Palouse soil near Albion. The deal was closed by the Hazen & McClaskey Realty Co.

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

"Never saw better crop prospects at this time of the season than right now" is the way all the old-timers of this vicinity are summarizing the crop conditions. Fall sown grain has made a thrifty growth, with plenty of moisture in the ground to insure an excellent yield. Conditions have also been good for spring planting, although there is more fall wheat this year than for many years past, due to the ideal planting conditions last fall. Everything considered, it appears that an excellent yield is assured, with the best of prospects for a record-breaking crop. With a price already established that meets with the approval of all the farmers nothing short of a miracle can forestall a period of great prosperity for the community.

Money Thrown Away

What would you think of a man that would take five $10 bills and throw them away?

That's exactly what you are doing when you throw your good clothes away because they don't happen to fit you or are out of style.

It may require only a small alteration and cost you very little expense to save the price of a new suit.

Why not ask Zalesky, the tailor, what he can do with it, or bring it down to his shop and ask his opinion and price of remodeling that suit?

We will assure you that workmanship will be right.
