BIG CLASS GRADUATES FROM PULLMAN HIGH

Thirty-eight Students Awarded Diplomas at Commencement Exercises Last Night

Under most auspicious conditions the 38 graduates from Pullman high school were awarded diplomas denoting the completion of the four-year high school course at the commencement exercises held last night at the college auditorium. It was the largest graduating class in the history of the school, including 22 girls and 16 boys. The address to the class was delivered by Dr. E. H. Lindley, president of the University of Idaho. The program opened with a piano solo, "War March of the Priests," by Miss Bernice Metz, and the Rev. John G. Law of the Methodist church pronounced the invocation. The girls' chorus sang Edward Elgar's "Fly Singing Bird," with Margaret Jones and Clarence Nash accompanying on violins. The high school male quartet, including Philip Bradbury, William Steiner, Melvin Plaskett and Orwin Wiggins, sang "Old Friends So True," by C. B. Adams. The diplomas were presented to the graduates by Judge Thomas Neill, president of the school board.

Baccalaureate Service

The commencement activities opened last Sunday, when the Rev. C. N. Curtis of the Federated churches delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates in the Methodist church. The Rev. H. J. Reynolds of the Christian church presided. A. A. Eustis sang a solo which was followed by a prayer by W. E. Monbeck of the Baptist church. The high school chorus sang "Ave Maria" and the baccalaureate sermon followed.

In introduction Mr. Curtis congratulated the members of the graduating class on their achievement and assured them that they had just begun. They had tasted of the fountains of learning—the fires of vision had been kindled: "Follow the Gleam."

In substance his address was as follows:

I am thinking of your life as a building. Have our lives not been called "The temples of the living God"? We shall find some helpful suggestions if we note what is occurring in the new college buildings. The girls are waiting the completion of the new building, ready to leave the old. You will find life a constant process of reconstruction. Do not tear down the old. Grow out of the old into the new—be fearless to build.

How are you to build? I noted three things in the construction office. (1) There was a completed building already on paper. (2) There were plans showing the details of the structure. (3) The contractor constantly referred to the plans.

Two things are necessary if the completed building is to correspond to the complete picture: (1) First there must be competent workmen; (2) a perfect plan.

There are two reasons why men fail in the building of this temple of life: (1) There is a lack of the personal qualities of faithfulness; (2) the absence of a perfect pattern or the presence of a wrong one.

I take it for granted that you have acquired skill and that you mean to add to it faithfulness. But if you have not a perfect plan you will not succeed.

I wish therefore to speak to you concerning the blueprint of life. I use as a text Hebrews 8:5, "For see, said God, that thou make all things according to the pattern showed to thee on the mount."

Moses was given a plan. He was to make the ark according to that plan. He was to realize in that ark God's idea. Universalize this thought and it gives us the loftiest conception of human life. In the rearing of this temple of life our task is to realize God's plan, so that his wondrous purpose may be achieved. Have you gone alone with God and gotten the pattern for your (Continued on page five)

Brothers, Though Years Divide

The tie that binds these veterans is the flag that has never been hauled down! Memorial day this year brings this feeling uppermost in the minds of all true Americans.

Pullman to Honor Its Soldier Dead Next Monday

Business Will Cease While Citizens Pay Just Tribute—Entire Program is Mapped Out—Procession at 1:45

Pullman's business will be at a standstill next Monday while the citizens of the community pay honor to the memory of the fallen heroes of the three wars. All the business houses and banks will remain closed all day and the college classes will be dismissed at noon. The entire community is asked to assemble near the chamber of commerce building at 9:30 in the morning preparatory to the cemetery service. The service, "To the Dead," will be conducted at the I. O. O. F. cemetery, to be followed by the decoration of the graves of the deceased comrades and others.

The parade units for the afternoon activities will assemble at 1:30, and the procession will start at 1:45, halting on the East Main street bridge for the services in respect to the sailor dead. Ernest E. Henry, as marshal of the day, will head the parade, which will include in the order named, the W. S. C. cadet band, W. S. C. cadet corps, G. A. R., W. R. C., Spanish-American war veterans, American Legion, Legion Women's Auxiliary, speakers of the day, Music Study club chorus, school children and citizens. Members of the local Boy Scout troops will police the entire line of march.

Arriving at the city park the parade will break ranks and the program of the day will be given, opening with a prayer by Father Philipp of the Catholic church. Following the singing of "America" by the audience, Professor H. W. Cordell will address the audience. The school children will sing "Memorial Day" and Miss Huffman will give two readings, "Vive la France" and "Flurette." The Music Study club will sing and Miss Musser will read the "Perfect Tribute."

Judge Thomas Neill will deliver a patriotic address and the American Legion will sing "We Will Never Let the Old Flag Fall." The program for the afternoon will conclude with "The Star Spangled Banner" by the Legion band.

It is the desire of the committee in charge of the arrangements that every business house and every residence display the national colors, with such other patriotic decorations as are possible. Quantities of flowers to decorate the graves of the fallen heroes are needed and persons who have flowers are asked to leave them at White's Drug store.

BUYING ASSOCIATION ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

E. F. Gaines Named President of Co-operative Buying Association—Two Hundred and Thirty-five Buy Stock

Two hundred and thirty-five citizens of Pullman and the adjacent communities have already made application for stock, at $25 per share, in the local co-operative buying association, for which a permanent organization was effected Saturday. The stockholders in session Saturday afternoon elected a board of trustees including F. A. Hodges, J. S. Klemgard and E. F. Gaines representing the grange, Dr. A. L. Melander representing the teachers' associations, and W. L. King, house manager for the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, as the representative of the student groups. The trustees elected Mr. Gaines as president, Mr. King as vice president, Dr. Melander as secretary and Mr. Klemgard as treasurer.

Will Everett of Spokane was present at the meeting and advised regarding the legal side of the incorporation. The newly elected officers will proceed with the incorporation of the company at once and it is expected that goods will begin to arrive early in June.

SMALL FINE AROUSES IRE OF TRAFFIC COP

County Traffic Officer Arthur Henry is "up in arms" because of the alleged inadequate fine assessed against Ted Erb, of Moscow, Idaho, who was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. According to Officer Henry Mr. Erb pleaded guilty to the charge at Colfax and was assessed a fine of $5 and costs, upon the alleged recommendation of the prosecuting attorney. "The fine is a travesty," said Mr. Henry. "A score of drivers have been fined $15 and costs for speeding, and they had it coming. The intent of the traffic laws is to afford safety to law-abiding drivers, and a drunken driver is a far greater menace to public safety, I believe, than a sober speeder, and the fine should be in proportion to the seriousness of the offense, without favoritism."

LEGION BAND TO PLAY AT GARFIELD

Local Musical Organization Contracts for Garfield Picnic, June 2, 3 and 4

Pullman music will be much in evidence at the ninth annual Garfield picnic, to be held June 2, 3 and 4. The Maynard-Price post band this week closed a contract with the management of the picnic to furnish music throughout the three days, while a six-piece orchestra, composed of Legion men, will play for the bowery dances.

The program for the ninth annual picnic is one of the most enticing ever arranged and includes a wide variety of entertainment. Among

The five-cornered prep. track meet staged on Rogers field Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Pullman high school developed into an exciting race for second honors between Lewis and Clark and North Central high schools of Spokane. The State College freshmen had first place cornered from the start, but the battle between the two Spokane schools was an interesting one, with the balance of advantage wafting from one team to the other as the events were announced. When the final event, the relay, was called, the North Central athletes were leading the Lewis and Clark men for second place by a single point, but the latter took second place in the blue-ribbon event, while North Central was crowded to fourth place by the Walla Walla sprinters, and Lewis and Clark had a one-point margin.

PULLMAN WILL PLAY HOST TO MANY VISITORS

Big Delegations Coming From Spokane and Walla Walla Friday and Saturday

Pullman will play host to hundreds of visitors this week-end, big delegations being expected from Walla Walla and Spokane in addition to the large number who will come for the Northwest conference track meet Saturday. A delegation of between 200 and 300 is expected from Walla Walla this afternoon, to remain over tomorrow. These will include business men and farmers who come upon the invitation of the extension service of the college to inspect the college and experiment station. Joint invitations from the college and the chamber of commerce have been sent to over 200 prominent business men of Spokane to visit the college and the city Saturday, and it is believed that the big majority of these will avail themselves of the opportunity to inspect the college and witness the big track meet.

Arrangements for taking care of the visitors are being made and every spare bedroom in the city will be necessary to provide sleeping quarters for the Walla Walla delegation Friday night. All residents who have a spare room are asked to telephone C. C. Stewart, secretary of the college Y. M. C. A., at the earliest possible moment, and list the room.

At least 50 automobiles will make up the caravan from Walla Walla and the problem of providing these machines with gasoline for the return trip may prove a big one. Secretary C. A. Isaacs of the college at the chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday urged the local automobilists to curtail their gasoline demands as much as possible that a sufficient supply for the visitors might be available.

ADDS TO MEMORIAL FUND

Maynard-Price post of the American Legion Tuesday evening set aside another $200 toward its rapidly growing Memorial fund, which now amounts to $700. The post completed plans for its participation in the Decoration Day services next Monday and arranged for a farewell social occasion for the student members prior to their departure. The social will be given on the evening of June 5, and will include a dance and other attractions.

CHAMBER ELECTS TRUSTEES

The chamber of commerce, at its semi-annual election last Tuesday named the following nine trustees to comprise the board for the ensuing term: C. A. Isaacs, Dr. A. A. Rounds, Rev. C. N. Curtis, J. S. Klemgard, A. R. Metz, F. C. Forrest, W. C. Kruegel, F. F. Nalder and Robert Neill. The newly elected board will meet at the chamber rooms next Tuesday at 11:30 to organize and elect officers. Professor C. A. Isaacs, who has served as vice president during the past six months, will in all probability be the choice for president.

GAS SHORTAGE SERIOUS

Pullman, along with all other Inland Empire towns, is experiencing a serious shortage of gasoline which threatens to assume even more complex proportions. None of the local dealers are able to get a sufficient amount to supply the demand and the fluid is being sold only in limited quantities. H. L. Hathaway, local manager for the Standard Oil company, states that, while gasoline will continue to arrive in Pullman at frequent intervals, present indications point to a shortage throughout the summer. He urges all automobile drivers to limit their consumption in order that all may have enough to supply their actual needs. Under the plan of rationing adopted by the supply stations nobody will be permitted to "hog" gasoline. Several Pullman people who drove to Spokane this week experienced difficulty in getting enough gas for the return trip.
