

AGED PIONEER IS CALLED TO REWARD

Henry Thomas Johnson Succumbed at Home of Son at Age of 81 Years—Body Interred at Moscow

Funeral services for Henry Thomas Johnson, 81 years of age, who had been a resident of Washington since 1886, were held Tuesday afternoon from Kimball's chapel, in charge of the Rev. J. G. Law of the Methodist church. The aged pioneer succumbed to cerebral hemorrhage at the home of his son, M. S. Johnson, near Almota, last Sunday. The body was taken to Moscow, Idaho, for burial, where it was laid to rest beside the remains of his wife, who died some 16 years ago.

Deceased was born in Noble county, Ohio, in October, 1840. His boyhood was spent in his native state and there he was married to Alice Davis. The family continued to reside in Ohio until the death of the wife and mother in 1880. To this union were born eight children, six of whom survive, as follows: Mrs. Belle Moore, Cleveland, Ohio; M. S. Johnson, Almota, Wash.; G. A. Johnson, Mrs. C. E. Denny, Park-water; Mrs. H. B. Keith, Tacoma; C. S. Johnson, Marcus. After the death of his first wife, Mr. Johnson was married to Martha Frakes and to them were born two children, one of whom, J. A. Johnson of White Bluffs, survives. The second wife succumbed some 16 years ago, since when deceased has made his home the greater part of the time with his children.

For many years Mr. Johnson operated a farm in the Wawawai district and enjoyed a wide acquaintance throughout the county, especially among the early pioneers. He served throughout the civil war and retained the spirit of the soldier and the pioneer until his death. He was a man of generous heart and with his family he would gladly give to his own denial. He was a man of hatred against dishonesty and unfairness. A man of independent life, his strength of will sustained him far beyond the ordinary span.

WHEAT GROWERS HAVE EUROPEAN SALES AGENT

With the arrival in England of H. Hanno, European representative and sales agent for the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, the co-operative marketing bodies are enabled to announce the first step in establishing a chain of agents in foreign nations which import wheat from the United States.

Mr. Hanno was employed by the associations in August and has just recently arrived in London to take up the work there. Results of his operations may not be made public at the time of sales according to officers of the associations, but complete information will be ready for all members after the selling operations of the pool have been completed.

Negotiations with British and Continental importers already are under way, however, as the result of Mr. Hanno's activities.

Mr. Hanno was secured to represent the associations after a complete canvass of men who were available for the position seemed to determine him the most highly qualified. He has spent many years in the grain trade in Europe, having been a member of the London corn exchange and the Berlin grain exchange. For many years he conducted a large grain importing establishment in Hamburg, which suffered with all other business establishments from the war.

Mr. Hanno is widely known in financial and grain trade circles on the Pacific coast. He has represented coast exporters in Europe, and has also spent considerable time with grain concerns in America.

"The establishment of foreign sales agents is one of the big things made possible by the co-operative movement," declared Roy V. Perring, one of the directors of the Washington association, discussing the appointment of Mr. Hanno. "Who would have guessed 10 years ago that today we farmers of the Northwest would have our own men in Europe now looking up markets for our products?"

"Of course this step does not mean that we are not ready and willing to sell to exporting firms in this country. But it does mean that we are going to make sure, if such a thing is possible, that we don't have to sell to speculators and gamblers.

"Last year, according to figures brought out in a hearing at Washington, the process of getting wheat from America to Europe cost $300,000,000 more than it did the year before—more than $1 a bushel. Part of this was due to increased handling costs and increased transportation costs. But maybe part also was due to increased profits taken by some exporters.

"The opening of a sales office in London is a movement of very great possibilities. It may be the beginning of a new epoch in the marketing of wheat. It leaves no room for the speculator and grain gambler to break into the wheat business and absorb the cream of the farmer's profits. It will be the orderly selling of wheat in the way that the other commodities in human affairs are marketed. It is the farmer's plan of getting away from the grotesque spectacle of having the price of wheat fixed in the great gambling house known as the Chicago wheat pit."—The Producer, Spokane.

COLLEGE FILMS POPULAR

As far north as Alaska (and they could not go much farther that way) and east into Montana, the moving picture films of the extension division of the State College of Washington are proving to be much in demand. A large number of new films of great interest have just been bought, including a dozen illustrative of various sections of Canada. One is "Talking to the Tall Timber" in the lumber industries of Vancouver Island; another, "A Party on the Roof of the World" shows the Alpine club on an outing. Others are: "Apple Blossom Time in Evangeline Land," "Old French Canada," "Moose Back Riding" (thrilling adventure on a New Brunswick lake), "Hook, Line and Sinker" (salmon fishing in the same region), "The Rediscovery of French River" (beautiful scenery), "Wild Westing de Lux" (Guy Weadick's ranch in Alberta), "By the Still Waters" (on Okanogan river), "On the Way to Lake Windemere" (in the Selkirks), "Where West Meets East" (Vancouver and Victoria), and "The Lake of the Hanging Glaciers" (Selkirks).

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks to the friends who remembered us with their sympathy and flowers in our late bereavement.

Mrs. Kate Pope and family.

There are two things to swat: flies and roosters.

The home should teach children the dignity of labor.

Everybody is talking about cutting down expenses. The farmer can do this by culling his chickens, testing his cows and making every animal do its best.

Dress forms can be used in winter as well as in summer.

Somebody said don't can fruit for it will be poison, but the careful housewife need not worry.

Culling the flock doesn't only mean chickens, but sheep as well.
