KAREL HAVLICEK, VIOLINIST DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE

The program given at vespers last Sunday by Karel Havlicek, violinist, was one of the most enjoyable of the year. Mr. Havlicek is an artist of high rank and the music department is to be congratulated upon securing a man of his ability as an instructor. The same program, if given by Albert Spaulding or some other of the violinists brought here for concerts, would have completely satisfied.

The program was opened by a sonata for violin and piano by H. Eccles, played by Mr. Havlicek and Mr. Butterfield. This is one of the earlier sonatas and is not well known, although the standard of pure beauty conveyed in it is unusually high.

The second number was "Concerto Pathetique" by H. Ernst, which is one of the most difficult concertos for the violin. Mr. Havlicek played it remarkably well. The long series of difficult passages with double stops were played with perfect intonations at all times. Four numbers comprised the last group. The "Caprice Brillante" by Wienlawski proved very popular with the audience. In the "Praeludium" by Bach-Kreisler, Mr. Havlicek displayed unusual violin technique. While playing at a terrific speed, he neither failed in clearness nor lost sight of the opportunities to bring out the larger designs of the composition.

The "Caprice No. 24" by Paganini David brought the taxing program to a brilliant close. However, in response to the enthusiastic applause, Mr. Havlicek played the "Cradle Song" by Schubert.

F. C. Butterfield proved an excellent accompanist in a program which required a pianist of real ability.

WILL SHOW CANCER FILM JANUARY 14

Moving Pictures Used to Educate the Public Against Dreaded Disease

The American Society for the Control of Cancer, co-operating with the North Pacific Surgical society, is now engaged in conducting a vigorous campaign of enlightenment against cancer. It is a very progressive body, composed of public-spirited men and women, which sends out pamphlets and circulars by the thousands in order to inform the people concerning the means of preventing the spread of the red plague. It has lately undertaken a more ambitious program and is utilizing the popularity of the moving pictures to disseminate information.

Dr. M. J. Beistel has obtained this film from the North Pacific Surgical society for Pullman people. This cancer film will be shown at the Liberty theatre Saturday, January 14, matinee and evening.

There are a few facts concerning cancer which everyone should know. They are—

- (1) Many deaths are preventable, since cancer is curable if recognized in the early stages.
- (2) Cancer begins as a small local growth which can be removed by surgery or, in certain cases, by radium or X-rays.
- (3) Cancer is not a communicable disease. It is not inherited. It is not a blood disease.
- (4) Every persistent lump in the breast or innocent appearing mole or wart is a danger sign. Any sore about the mouth that does not heal may be the beginning of cancer.
- (5) Persistent indigestion in middle life with loss of weight and change of color calls for thorough and competent examination by the family physician.

COLLEGE GRANGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

With Ruth Schwartz as installing officer, State College Grange seated its newly elected officers at the meeting Monday evening. Following the installation an oyster supper was served. The new officers are as follows:

- Master—F. J. Stevenson.

- Chaplain—L. O. Dana.
- Secretary—Edith Barbee.
- Treasurer—B. F. Dana.
- Steward—E. F. Gaines.
- Ceres—Mary McKillip.
- Flora—Dorothy Doerner.
- Pomona—Xerpha Gaines.
- Assistant steward—W. Ralph Singleton.
- Gatekeeper—G. W. Ellis.
- Lady assistant steward—Mae B. Zundel.

The Grange will entertain the short course students at its next regular meeting, January 23.

GOOD TIMES AHEAD

In last week's paper I said I'd tell you why conditions were improving and how I knew. I'm not telling you this just to complete my rhymes. But to prove we're on the eve of more prosperous times.

Twelve months ago there was a scramble for loans On notes and farms and the finest homes, But there wasn't enough money to supply the demand And the pessimists saw farmers losing their land.

They talked hard times until they would almost cry— Just sat back with a frown and watched the world go by. To loan money to a man, would be a joke, Who was continually saying the country'd gone broke.

They soon saw that business moved right along, That there was nothing at all so radically wrong. Then when everyone felt that things were all right Money and credits weren't nearly so tight.

Now there is plenty of money for gilt-edge loans On good Palouse farms and well improved homes, And at a lower rate of interest than a year ago. If that isn't a good indication, I'd like to know.

People are making payments on accounts past due. Until they'd produced another crop we didn't expect them to. Victory Bonds have been above par the last few days, And giving money to help Europe has been the craze.

The Federal Reserve has large amounts To handle your bank's rediscounts. The Farm Loan Bank of the Spokane Branch Will make a 34-year loan on your old wheat ranch.

President Harding called a conference, for he wants to know Why farmers' products remain so low. This conference meets within the next 30 days— It's to help the farmer, so he says.

When all these things are being done to help us along, We shouldn't say the whole world has gone wrong. We should recognize the improvement I've outlined to you, Put our shoulders to the wheel—do our bit, too.

"It's the songs ye sing and the smiles ye wear That makes the sun shine everywhere."
