KIWANIANS APPRECIATE SERVICES OF CAPTAIN SCOTT

A unanimous vote of appreciation for efficient services which made possible the placing of the State College of Washington on the "distinguished" list of colleges maintaining military departments by the War Department was Monday accorded Captain W. T. Scott by the Kiwanis club of Pullman, of which he is a charter member. This is the second time that this signal military honor has come to the State College and the four officers and five non-commissioned officers who comprise the staff in charge of the R. O. T. C. are being warmly congratulated upon the showing made by their infantry and engineering corps at the recent federal inspection, which resulted in the placing of the State College in the distinguished class. First news of the honor came from General William M. Morton, commander of the Ninth corps area.

TWO DRAMATIC RECITALS AT COLLEGE THIS WEEK

Prof. Ray K. Immel of the department of public speaking of the University of Michigan will give two dramatic recitals at the summer session this week. Friday morning at assembly hour, 9:15, he will read "The Evil's Disciple" by Shaw and Saturday evening at 8:15 he will read "The Servant in the House." Professor Immel is highly recommended as a dramatic reader and has selected two very interesting plays.

There will be no charge for admission at either recital and the people of Pullman and vicinity are cordially invited to attend. Those who come are requested to be in their seats at the times stated above, as it is necessary to begin promptly.

DELLPLAIN'S BROTHER GETS COVETED DEGREE

Carlos W. delPlaine, a brother of Archer T. Dellplain of this city, was the only student to be graduated as civil engineer from the Minnesota College of Engineering this year. In addition to the degree of bachelor of science, a degree of civil engineer requires five years of actual experience and a thesis on some subject of practical value. It is an unusual coincidence that each of the brothers is president of the Cosmopolitan club in his respective institution.

WILL REPAIR PAVING

Superintendent Amberg of the Standard Asphalt Paving company appeared before the council Tuesday evening in regard to damage to the pavement laid by the company last year which has resulted from heavy truck traffic and stated that his company, while maintaining that the damage cannot be attributed to faulty workmanship, will repair the damage without cost to the city. The committee on streets and highways was instructed by the council to employ the same company to make the needed repairs on other streets of the city.

STRUPPLER LANDS JOB IN STATE LEGION WORK

Local Adjutant and Finance Officer Will Serve as Department Service Officer

Harry A. Struppler, adjutant and finance officer of Maynard-Price post, No. 52, American Legion, left Sunday for Seattle, where he will enter upon his duties as department service officer of the American Legion for the state of Washington. Mr. Struppler will maintain headquarters in the department offices, at 315 University street.

The appointment came as a complete surprise to Mr. Struppler and is a merited recognition of his efficient services as adjutant and finance officer of Maynard-Price post. Department officers have repeatedly made the statement that Mr. Struppler is the best post adjutant in the state of Washington. The local post feels it a signal honor to have a state Legion officer chosen from its membership.

Mr. Struppler's appointment is for the three summer months and he has obtained a leave of absence from the White drug store for that period. He is a charter member of the Pullman post and is now serving the post as adjutant and finance officer for his fifth term, as well as being the first adjutant and finance officer of the Whitman County post. The appointment carries a salary of $200 a month and traveling expenses. Leonard W. Hooper, this week elected local post commander, will take care of Mr. Struppler's work in the local post during the latter's absence.

CHILDREN'S LIBRARY OPENED THIS WEEK

The children's library was opened on Tuesday afternoon and will now be open on Tuesday's and Fridays from 3:00 to 5:00, with a story hour every Friday at 4:00. A short program was given, including a group of songs by eighth grade girls, a piano solo by Grace Sargent and a vocal solo by Margaret Chalfant. Miss Mary Smith of the college library, in a most happy way, showed the boys and girls the way to treat books, urging them not to put pencils in them for bookmarks or lay them flat with the pages down, and not to fail to bring them back on time. Dr. Merriam of the University of Missouri, lecturing in the summer school, gave a very brief talk on the importance of cultivating a taste for good literature in children. It is hoped they can hear Dr. Merriam at greater length another time, as he is an authority on children's reading. Mrs. Erickson held the children spellbound with the story of "The Chinese Nightengale." It would have made anyone's heart rejoice to see the children crowding around the desk, getting books. The new books were arranged on a separate table for display and after the program were eagerly seized by the children and taken to the desk. There are three large bookcases filled with books arranged by grades for easy selection. These cases were made or remodeled by Smith & Bassford and Mr. Linn Jinnett, to whose generosity and public spirit all are deeply indebted.

The story telling hour on Friday will be conducted by Mrs. S. C. Roberts and all children are urged to attend.

PRETTY SHOWER FOR EDYTHE GREENAWALT

Miss Edythe Greenawalt, bride-elect, was honored with a shower given by Miss Grace Troy at her home on Monroe street yesterday afternoon. The hall, living and dining rooms of the Troy home were attractively decorated with yellow roses and daisies.

During the afternoon the ouiji board gave an important message to Miss Greenawalt. It ordered her to look in a certain box in the living room, in which she would find a letter and she was to open the letter and follow its directions explicitly. The letter ordered Miss Greenawalt to another part of the house and after quite an extensive search she found her gifts buried in a basket of roses in the hall.

Miss Troy was assisted in entertaining and serving by her mother, Mrs. A. M. Troy, and the Misses Jean MacGregor and Margaret Troy. Guests invited were the Misses Edythe Greenawalt, Mary Porter, Zylpha Eaton, Gladys Henry, Hazel Baird, Lucile Shaw, Ada Shirk, Esther Reese, Grace Greenawalt, Winifred Rodrick, Jean MacGregor, Janet Kennedy and Margaret Collins of Moscow, and the Mesdames Greenawalt, Roberts, Moss and Swenson.

Buy or build in College Park.
