THE KING CAN DO WRONG.

The horrible tragedy encompassing the death by assassination of the king and queen of Serbia, while reprehensible as to the act, is an indication that the world is advancing, and stands as a warning that rulers of nations must be men and women in the true sense. "The king can do wrong" is an expression that will be no longer tolerated in the face of an evil administration. That those placed in the highest positions in the gift of nations or monarchies must possess all the attributes of true manhood or womanhood is emphasized by the Servian tragedy.

King Alexander of Serbia, lowbrowed, round-headed thick-necked, was what his physiognomy proclaimed him to be—brutal, tyrannical, obstinate. The woman to whom he gave title of Queen of Serbia was unworthy the respect even of the Servians. The people rebelled against being ruled by so immoral and tyrannical an administration and attempted to force an abdication of the throne. The killing of the king and queen was not a part of their arrangements. That sad denouement was only incidental and was brought about by circumstances probably not taken into consideration.

Clothing Co.

Editor Robertson of the Republic has sent in his resignation as secretary of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition for this state. Mr. Robertson gives his reason for resigning so honorable a position as follows: "I think the recent removal of Superintendent Westendorf of the Chehalis school, whom I have known for many years and with whose work I am familiar, apparently to provide a place for a political henchman was an act of injustice to a good man and an efficient public servant and I cannot uphold such a cause. Some of the governor's friends here thought, as one of his appointees, I ought not to express such opinions. As I do not wish to outrage their sense of propriety any further and prefer to feel entirely free to express my opinions, if I desire, I have thought best to resign."

The cloudburst at Heppner, Ore., Sunday evening forms one of the most heart-rending chapters in the history of disasters that have visited various sections throughout the country during the past year. A town of 1500 inhabitants was practically destroyed without any warning, and probably 400 people perished in the rushing waters. The sympathy of the whole nation goes out to the survivors of the disaster, and deep sorrow is expressed on every hand for the untimely cutting off of hundreds of lives without any warning, and for the destruction of so much valuable property.

While the east, south and middle west have suffered from cyclones and floods, we of the coast states have been prone to congratulate ourselves that we were out of the range of such disasters. The Heppner horror of Sunday in which hundreds of lives were lost and millions of dollars worth of property destroyed puts a damper on these felicitations and demonstrates that there is no portion of this terrestrial sphere absolutely immune from elemental disaster.

Newcomers to this valley who have been told that electrical disturbances and thunderstorms were practically unknown here, must not jump to the conclusion that Yakima people are all parivators. Never before in the memory of the oldest inhabitant have such storms as were witnessed Sunday and Monday nights visited this section.

The anti-gambling law which went into effect last week is being rigidly observed in this city. The click of the slot machine, the whirr of the roulette wheel and the rattle of "chips" are now only memories, and to some they are sad memories.

An All Shoot at the Traps.

The Yakima Rod and Gun Club held a very successful trap shoot last Sunday in which crack shots from the central part of the state participated. The day was very windy and exceedingly disagreeable, notwithstanding this, a very good score was made by some of the gunners.

The shooters began the fusillade about 9:30 a. m., and shot continually until 6 p. m., with an hours rest for lunch. The highest average for the whole shoot was made by Warden Dryden of the State Penitentiary at Walla Walla. Mark Pennington of North Yakima came second with Stacy, Rice Dickson, Deyo, all tying for third place. Dryden and Pennington also won more money than the other individual shooters.

The home boys made a good showing before the visitors, and the visitors were warm in their expressed appreciation of the reception accorded them by the Gun Club.

Following are the names of the visiting shooters: Dryden, Kershaw and Knettle, Walla Walla; Rice Dickson, Shaw, Wright, Zetsche, Steven or Pease, McDonald, Ellensburg; Morgan, Attleson, Sides, Homer, Roslyn; Wende Sunnyside; Williams, Toppenish.

A Word of Appreciation.

Editor Herald:—Permit us through your columns to express our thanks and appreciation of the services rendered our daughter, Leah, during the six weeks' sickness she is now recovering from, by the Sisters of St. Elizabeth hospital. They have been constant in their ministrations to the wants of the little sufferer and it is largely due to their vigilance and care that she is on the rapid road to health.
