

SIXTY-NINE GET DIPLOMAS

pects them to give from their training.

"The citizens of Yakima have paid for your education," he said, "and women who have never seen you have cheerfully contributed their share, for there is no tax that the American pays so cheerfully as that which goes to support the schools."

"The community expects you to do something. Pick out your vocation, and get to work. Don't drift. Do something."

Mr. Sicksels emphasized the need of selecting the right calling, saying that 85 per cent of all men were misfits, and that it pays to take time enough to select the work to do.

In addressing the girls among the graduates, Mr. Sicksels said he was old-fashioned in his ideas, and believed that there was no nobler calling than that of wifehood and motherhood.

"But," he continued, "if you want to work, don't get the foolish idea that your work must be something easy, something that won't soil the hands and will bring you returns."

Women Should Vote

Honesty in business relations was emphasized by Mr. Sicksels, and the necessity of all doing their political duties to the state.

"I am not a strong believer in woman's suffrage," he said, "but I do believe that when the state has given to woman the privilege of voting, it is her duty to exercise the privilege. It is not a right, it is a responsibility. The state of Washington has placed on women the responsibility of voting, and I believe the state will be the better for it."

Hearty applause greeted these statements, and again at the close of his address, Mr. Sicksels was well applauded, both by the audience and by the graduates.

Give Diplomas

Immediately after the address of Mr. Sicksels Genevieve Thompson, a member of the class, sang a solo, and responded to a vigorous encore.

Principal A. C. Davis then arose, and was enthusiastically greeted by the audience. He presented the class, recommending to the superintendent that they be awarded their diplomas. Superintendent Sterling spoke briefly and then, taking the bundle of diplomas, called the names of the class members who were as their names were called, and received them. Margaret Coffin and Ruth Truitt assisting in their distribution.

Class Memorial

Harry Webber, president of the class, then arose and made a brief but effective talk, speaking of the feeling of the class for the school and of the appreciation of the opportunities enjoyed. He presented, on behalf of the class, a large rug for the stage and a handsome set of books.

Principal Davis accepted in a few words for the school.

Rev. W. C. Whitney then gave the benediction, and the audience dispersed to the hall, where they were met by their relatives and friends for half an hour.

Award Prizes

Prizes for written and oral English, offered by some public-spirited citizen and contested for several weeks ago by the English classes of the high school, were awarded by Principal A. C. Davis during his talk.

In the contest for written English the first prize of $15 went to Margaret Coffin and the second prize of $10 to Dale Eyer.

In the contest for oral English, the first prize of $15 went to Francis Perry and the second to Ruth Truitt.

Honor Students—Doris Scholten, Mabel Wood, as one of the honor students of the class, was awarded a scholarship in Whitman college, Walla Walla. Edith Boden, another honor student, was given a scholarship in Puget Sound university, Tacoma, as was also Clara Kortmeyer, a third of the honor students.

Mentioned for Influence

Superintendent Sterling in his talk before presentation of diplomas gave the names of several members of the class who, he said, had been recommended for honorable mention by the faculty on account of their good influence in the school and the work they had done for the school. These were Dorothy Coffin, Curtis Gilbert, Ayers Johnson, Clara Kortmeyer, Helen Marian, James Thompson, Walter Tuesley, Harry Webber and Roland Woodruff.

Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday

Rev. S. J. Kennedy of the First Presbyterian church preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning from the topic "The Supreme Art," which the speaker argued was the art of making the best of one's opportunities from the duties nearest at hand. Forcefully and clearly this lesson was impressed upon the members of the class and the members of the large audience that filled the church to its fullest capacity during the services.

Give Mock Senate

As the last effort of their school career the members of the 1912 class gave a mock senate before a crowded auditorium Monday afternoon. They were coached for the presentation by Hon. L. O. Meigs, formerly speaker of the house of representatives of the state.

First on the program was the entrance of the members and of the chief justice, Fred Clark, who seated himself on a carefully prepared chair of justice and got up from the floor without disarranging his dignity or his gown.

The members of the senate, consisting of both boys and girls, were then sworn in and proceeded to give a life-like imitation of the real body in action.

The exciting debate of the session was precipitated by the introduction of a bill by Senator Rolland Woodruff to repeal the provision of the constitution allowing women to vote. Senator

WOODRUFF ELOQUENTLY DEFENDED HIS MEASURE

A witty speech in favor of the measure, which frequently brought down the house with its sallies, was made by Senator Wendell Gridley.

Ruth Truitt made a strong plea for retention of the amendment, and others were strong in its support, with the result that on the final vote the amendment was allowed to stand.

MANY YAKIMA SHEEP ARE AT LEAVENWORTH

Mrs. Vessey, George Jackson and Others Are Grazing Their Flocks There This Year

The annual migration of sheep to mountains of the forest reserve surrounding Leavenworth began within the past few days, says the Leavenworth Report, and will continue for two or three weeks until the ranges are filled to their utmost capacity. They come in bands of from one to three thousand head from the winter pastures around the Ellensburg, Yakima and Quincy districts, and even as far away as Oregon, and remain in the mountains until the threat of snow in the fall drives them back to the lowlands.

Visits Forest Supervisor

Each herd is accompanied by two or three men and a like number of dogs, whose duties are to keep the sheep together, frighten off predatory animals, and prevent their herd from trespassing on private property. On arriving here the men in charge visit the office of Forest Supervisor Sylvester, pays in his grazing fees and gets his permit for summer pasturage, located within certain prescribed limits.

Ten or twelve herds have already made their appearance with about twenty more following on the trail. The estimated total number is 64,000 head, for which the grazing fees charged by the forestry department will amount to $1423. Of this amount $355 will be turned over to the county road and school fund, which, by the way, never received a cent of revenue from the sheepmen until the organization of the forest reserve.

Following is a list of the sheepmen, with the amount of fees paid by each:

LOSES GOOD BIRDS IN A SUNDAY FIRE

Mrs. E. S. Hill of the Moxee Is Most Unfortunate With Her Fancy Bred Chickens

North Yakima friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hill of the Moxee will greatly regret to learn that fire Sunday destroyed two new chicken houses on their ranch and killed several pecks of choice barred and buff rock chickens. It was with the greatest difficulty that the Hill home was saved from destruction by the flames, but the volunteer work of neighbors effected that end. Mr. and Mrs. Hill have but recently moved their home to a new property which they have been filling up as they wanted it and among their new buildings were chicken houses 12 by 60 feet, which were modern in every way. Mrs. Hill is widely known as an expert chicken fancier and has been a prize winner on many occasions at the Yakima state fair and other shows. She has been in ill health for a long time but this year had succeeded in establishing her flocks at a point for which she was aiming and this loss of birds has been a great discouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill had gone to visit friends Sunday and their attention was called to the smoke at their home. They returned instantly and found the neighbors fighting to save the house. The fire had started from ashes thrown out by a hired hand.

Sent Sheep West

George Prior and son shipped out from North Yakima Monday to U. S. Dittman a cartload of sheep which have been grazing on the Prior property in the Ahtanum.

FECHTER CASE MUCH ARGUED

fore the board, many of the signers of which had personally asked that the prayer of the petition be not granted. Moreover, he said, there was no knowing how many slight hundreds of voters of the district there are who would want the board to accept the resignation of Mr. Fechter. He had already received many telephone calls on the present matter.

Richard Strobach, who was present, in answer to this said that was a violent assumption as no one had petitioned to the contrary and, moreover, the number of names on the petition was about equal to an average vote at a school election.

Reflection on Others

Mr. McAulay pointed out that it had been feely stated, on the street and in the press, that because of the finances to be expended it was necessary to have Mr. Fechter as a member of the school board. This, he thought, was somewhat of a reflection on the other members and as such he did not like it. He said: "I wonder if you really know why Mr. Fechter resigned?"

Mrs. Strobach immediately replied: "We do not want to know. We came here to assist in pouring oil on the troubled waters. What has taken place is another matter. What we desire is harmony and, as the petition says, if each will yield a little we will have it."

Watt Favors Speedy Action

There was considerable other discussion, one way and another. Mr. Watt declared himself as favorable to action at once and moved that the resignation be not accepted. This Mrs. Wilson seconded. Mr. Knerr asked that action be deferred. He wanted Mr. Fechter to have a chance for voluntary action on the petition presented to him. "We are told that he was out of town and could not receive the petition. No doubt he went out of town on purpose so as not to get the petition. If he does not take action before the meeting of Monday next I will support this resolution. It is his duty to withdraw since he is petitioned to do so."

Newspapers All Wrong

Mr. Knerr suggested that none of the ladies or other petitioners had ever been at the school board or become acquainted with the facts. The newspaper reports made it appear that the minority, as it was called, never had a look-in in the proceedings, whereas the records of the district would prove otherwise.

On arising here the men in charge visit the office of Forest Supervisor Sylvester, pays in his grazing fees and gets his permit for summer pasturage, located within certain prescribed limits.

Fly Protection

An Iowa correspondent writes: "What is the best thing to put on cows to keep off flies?"

Most of the proprietary remedies advertised are good. Those who wish to make their own fly repellent may use the following, as recommended by the Kansas experiment station:

"Resin, one and one-half pounds, laundry soap, two cakes; fish oil, one-half pint; enough water to make three gallons. Dissolve the resin in a solution of soap and water by heating; add the fish oil and the rest of the water. Apply with a brush. If it is to be used as a spray, add one-half pint of kerosene. The cost is 7 to 8 cents per gallon. About one-half pint of the mixture is sufficient for one application for a cow. Give two or three applications per week until the flies become coated with resin. Afterwards retouch those parts where the resin is rubbed off."

YAKIMA BEATS ELLENSBURG

Tigers Take Sunday Game From the Kittitas Team, 12 to 5

Nissen's wallop over the center field fence for a home run was the longest hit ever made on the Ellensburg grounds, according to spectators who saw the game.

Russell's first base play was a sensation. He accepted 17 straight chances, only to fall down on the 18th, for the completion of a double play in the ninth inning for the 27th out. A young lady in the grandstand remarked: "He is so good in an addition to his holding Russell set the pace in batting and knocked out four safe hits out of five times up."

THOUGH WATERS ROAR CAMPERS GET READY

The fishing season is at hand. It is true that those sportsmen who were out Sunday did not find much sport but it is also true that the experts and the enthusiasts and the diletante crowd as well as preparing to go to the streams and lakes for the summer camping irrespective of whether the conditions are ripe for fishing or not. Because of the consistent cold nights of the spring season together with the warm days and nights of the past week the streams are high and foilly. There are no pools or backwaters and consequently poor fishing possibilities.

Many Out On Sunday

Several parties were out Sunday some on the Ahtanum, some on the Wenas, some on the Naches, but none of three reported any great catches. The average was less than ten fish to the pole, perhaps much less, if proper allowance is made for the stories told, but some of the experts who stayed with the same early and late, did better than this, though not so much better, all things considered. One old timer reported that worms are much better bait than the most tasty salmon eggs.

Go to American River

Walter Tuesley and family expect to leave this week for the junction of the Bumping and American rivers, where they will pitch their tent and will be in a position from which they can work either the Bumping, American or Naches rivers or through at any time to Bumping Lake for the sport there. There is every indication, at this time, that Lake Keechelus will be the most popular Yakima resort this year, but Fish Lake and other sections will divide the honors.

For weak back, backache, rheumatism, urinary and kidney troubles, use Foley Kidney Pills. They help quickly. For sale at the North Yakima Drug Store.

BAKING BREAD FROM SAWDUST

In Berlin Food for Horses Is Made by Mixing in a Little Rye Flour

In the city of Berlin there is a bakery that turns out daily 12,000 loaves of sawdust which serve as food for horses. The composition of these, however, is one-third rye flour. It is said that in case of famine such "bread" would be sufficiently nutritive for human beings and not at all disagreeable.

Indeed, "sawdust bread" is not in its ingredients, perhaps, very different from certain food that savages extract from the bark of trees. The marrow of the sago palm furnishes a kind of white bread or flour. In Lapland a great delicacy is a little round cake made of the rind of the pine tree very finely pounded and cooked in a frying pan. In Kamtschatka this rind serves the purpose of bread, as does also that of the common birch.

In Siberia bread is made of a kind of moss which grows on the trunks of the fir. After this has been sprinkled with water it commences to ferment and forms a ball the size of a man's head, and is then cooked in deep ovens made of stones, the walls of which are first well heated. Travelers who have eaten this food say that it is not unpleasant to the palate.

SPUDS SENT TO THE EAST

Forty Carloads Have Gone From Yakima Town Within the Past Thirty Days

CHICKENS STILL LOWER AND NO HOPE IN SIGHT

That the Town and Valley Are Buying Heavily of Outside Products Is Shown by the Carlot Arrivals From the South

L. L. Iles returned to North Yakima Monday from Oregon, where he has been buying potatoes for eastern shipment. He says the spuds there are not cheaper than those in Yakima but they are better for his needs, which are shipped to markets south and east from this state. Within the past month there has been a movement of potatoes east from Yakima which is an aggregate of forty cars or more. Selah, Moxee, North Yakima, Sunnyside, Outlook, Toppenshaw and other points joining in through the dealers there, and Kansas City and St. Paul have been the point of destination of the greater proportion.

Conditions Just Right

It is not often that the conditions are such as to permit of eastern shipments of potatoes. When they do not permit of it the argument is that the west has produced more than it can consume, that the price here is low, below $15 a ton, and that the east has a scarcity and that the price there is such that the potatoes can bear a freight charge of about $13 a ton and still sell for the market at a profit. That is the condition this year. Last year at this time the potatoes were coming west from the east.

Hay Harvest is on.

Hay harvesting is on in full force. In fact it is reported that in some sections, Moxee, for example, the cutting has been done and that stacking will be the order of the day. There is every reason to expect, this season, a splendid harvest of excellent quality hay. That is the present report.

Grain and feed prices continue to be high. Oats are quoted at $41.50, corn at the same figure, bran at $26.50 and shorts at $23.50.

Chickens are Cheap Food.

Chickens, as has been the case for some time past, are the cheapest food that one can eat now, in the meat line. Butchers are offering to produce eight cents a pound for live hens, and seven cents a pound for live roosters, while authentic spring chickens are bringing 18 cents a pound. Last year at this time the old birds were selling at 18 cents a pound and thereabouts, but this year the supply not only in this valley, but around Tacoma, Seattle and other points, is so heavy that the bottom is out absolutely from under the market.

Town is Buying Heavily

That Yakima is buying heavily outside is shown by the fact that on Saturday this market received from the south a carload each of lemons, oranges and bananas and on Monday received a carload or onions, the last from Stockton, Cal.

Through the berry supply from the home growers appears to be undiminished there has arrived here a number of consignments of berries from Auburn and that section of the west side, sent on consignment by Japanese growers. They are in excellent shape and have found a ready sale.

Word About Hops

In the hop market trade has very nearly come to a standstill, and the trend of values, both on 1911 and the coming crop, is clearly downward. It says an Oregon report. One contract for 20,000 pounds of the new crop at 22 cents was reported closed yesterday, but no other business of importance came to light. For the time there seems to be very little demand for either spot goods or futures, buyers showing a disposition to wait for further developments. In a more or less nominal way 1911s are quoted at prices around 35 cents.

What old hops will sell for between now and the opening of the new crop season will depend wholly on the ex-
