"The Tale of Old Tahiti"

The magnificent reproduction of an episode which happened in Tahiti about seventy years ago, depicting the love of a South Sea maid for an European sailor. Wonderful tropical settings, entirely new to the people of this country. A feature containing an educational worth seldom found in photo play, as it brings a Christianized race of man-eating cannibals from the darkest corner of the earth, showing their manners and customs as they were found by the producer, The Gaston Melies Co., on their "Round the World Tour." Don't miss it.

TRADES COUNCIL.

Council called to order at 8 o'clock by Vice-President Francois.

The credentials of J. Cavanaugh of the tailors were accepted and delegate obligated and seated.

Communication read from the International office of the laundry workers asking that supplies of defunct union be gathered up and returned to headquarters. Secretary ordered to comply with request.

Communication was read from U. S. Senator Wesley L. Jones, acknowledging receipt of letter concerning money trust investigation. Letter filed.

Communication read from joint legislative league urging continued support of labor measures pending in the legislature. The delegates were again urged to have their local secretaries instructed to stand ready to telegraph or write to Olympia at any time.

Special committee reported that they had seen Rev. Switzer in regard to arranging for a public meeting to be addressed by Rev. Harry Ward, on the 26th inst. Bro. Switzer was present and told the delegates of the work Mr. Ward was doing to bring the church and labor closer together in social uplift work. The committee was retained to work in conjunction with the McDowell Brotherhood of this city in arranging for such a meeting. The high school auditorium has been decided upon and every member and friend of organized labor is asked to bear in mind the date, Wednesday evening, February 26, at eight o'clock.

The amendment to the constitution of the State Federation of Labor sent out for referendum was voted on and carried 12 for, and 8 against.

A committee was appointed to draft a set of resolutions to be forwarded to the State Tax Commission, protesting against the arbitrary action of that body in setting aside the single tax vote taken by the voters of Everett at the last general election.

The resignation of Treas. E. J. Edney was accepted and A. E. Crandall, of the carpenters, elected to fill the vacancy.

Special committee was appointed to audit the books of the secretary and treasurer.

Bro. Burns, organizer for the iron molders, was present and addressed the council. He stated that the soon hoped to have an organization in Everett, which would affiliate with the council and be a credit to the movement. He spoke in the highest terms of the work of the label league and reminded the delegates that it was their duty to help the label work along.

Bro. F. C. Rowe, of Seattle, was present in behalf of the broom makers and union made brooms. He stated that it was almost impossible to interest local merchants in the product of the Seattle factory and urged the delegates to get busy and create a demand for union made brooms made in our own state.

Report by unions:
Brewery Workers—Special meeting to remove boycott from Van Valey and Everett Bottling firms.
Cigar Makers—Three by card.
Engineers—One initiation.
Linemen—Good meeting.
Tailors—One initiation; 1 by card.
Teamsters—Three initiations; two union drivers at Krieger's laundry.
Bartenders—Two initiations; 2 applications.

"GRIPE NUTS" POST QUITTS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Information has come to the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor that our old and erratic "Gripe Nuts" friend, C. W. Post, has decided to cease his open hostility to the organizations of labor. For a number of years he has spent large sums of money in advertising his very various brands of wares and incorporating in these ads fulminations against the labor organizations. As a matter of fact he put thousands of dollars into the pockets of union printers for which the Typographical union was duly thankful. Then he conceived the brilliant idea of organizing a model labor union, which went by the euphonious name of the Trades and Workers' association. When this skeleton was reared to view, with great acclaim, Post offered to amalgamate with the American Federation of Labor, but his offer was politely declined. In order that the Trades and Workers' association might be provided with an appropriate headquarters, Post donated a spacious building (with a string on the donation), used formerly as a sanatorium. Unlike other unions, a real estate broker was made president of the Trades and Workers' association, and "gripe nut" funds furnished for an organizing campaign. The real estate broker, however, did not prove to be a successful organizer, and finally, as the story goes, Post has taken back the sanatorium, disbanded the Trades and Workers' association, which consisted of the real estate broker and Post, and has hung out a "to let" sign upon the former headquarters of the Trades and Workers' association. It is not contrary to custom to end the chapter of a book or article by the words Selah or Amen, but in this instance we'll use the appropriate phrase—"There's a reason."

ASSUMES RIGHT POSITION

Washington, Feb. 20.—In a recent issue of Collier's the following editorial note appears under the caption "Tell Us Another": "There are certain phrases that the world is tired of hearing; certain excuses and smooth, condescending statements from the powers that be that are not as convincing as they once were. During the New York garment strike a contractor who sent out a large amount of his work in subcontracts made this statement: 'Our tenement-house workers can easily make $7 a week. If they worked in the shop, they could make $9 or $10, but they prefer to take their work to their homes, so that they can attend to their household duties and work whenever they please.' In the light of what we know of the difference that $2 or $3 a week makes to a tenement family, and the relation that home work bears to 'household duties,' such a remark causes laughter that is very like to wrath. In the same strike the New York Clothing Trade association printed a large statement in the leading papers, beginning: 'An Unjustifiable Strike.' "The clothing strike was started by a handful of self-seeking agitators and against the real interests of the workers.' Agitators may precipitate trouble, but they cannot make it. Tens of thousands of people—hard-working, much-worried—do not lay down their means of livelihood in the bitter weather of early January and face the most biting privation for an undetermined time unless there is a much better reason than 'a handful of self-seeking agitators.' All sympathy is due to those business men who are trying to work out the difficult problems that face them honestly and well, but this sort of animosity only antagonizes the public which it is intended to placate."

The 1913 Indian Motorcycles are now in, $215, single; $265, twins. Bicycles and Motorcycles sold o' ninstallments at Arthur Bailey's Sporting Goods & Hardware Store.

The stockholders are having a private office built in the Labor Temple a convenience long needed. No, the building secretary isn't getting swell-headed and the door won't be locked very often.

Things will hum about the first of March in the timber industry. From all reports the men working in the woods and combination mills are eagerly waiting for a chance to join the new organization of shingle weavers, saw mill workers and Woodsmen. Public meetings in various localities will be the order of the day and the work of organization pushed as rapidly as possible.

THE BRAVE MEN.
HERE'S to the men who laugh
In the face of grim despair,
Who gather the tares and chaff,
But sow with a cheerful air.
Here's to the smiling man
Who, giving, can take a blow
And rise to the fight again
When others have laid them low.

Here's to the men who grin
When plans that they build go wrong
And straightaway new plans begin
With courage and purpose strong.
Here's to the glad, brave men
Who, battling, expect a bruise
And rise to the fight again,
Undaunted by fights they lose.
Here's to the men who smile
With faith in the morning light
And bravely await the while
Till victory crowns their fight.
Here's to the fighting men
That always need not succeed
To rise to the fight again—
The brave in defeat we need.
—Detroit Free Press.

OLD FASHIONED WINTER.

SAME old snowstorm,
Full of wrath,
Same old snowdrifts
In the path;
Same old shovel
For the work;
Same old loafer—
Wants to shirk.
SAME old pavement,
Smooth as ice;
Same old slipup
In a trice;
Same old tumble,
Fit to kill;
Same old surgeon—
Same old bill.

SAME old zero
Skulking round;
Same old hoar frost
On the ground;
Same old blizzard,
Fierce and bold;
Same old winter—
Mighty cold.
—Chicago News.

GROWING UP.

WHEN May and I were nine and ten
We shared our every grief and joy—
Played, quarreled, made it up again,
As if she, too, had been a boy.

BUT when we reached fourteen or so
I seldom let her join my play,
"You're nothing but a girl, you know,"
With frank contempt, I used to say.

THE years went by. At seventeen
The girl was older far than I.
She laughed at me with scorn serene,
For I was just a kiddie shy.

BUT when we came to twenty-three
I more than settled all arrears.
She then had due respect for me
And quite ignored our equal years.

AND Time, the obdurate to men,
Can spare his scythe, it seems, at will.
My little son is almost ten,
While May is three and twenty still.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TILL EVENING'S HOUR.

THOU shalt not praise the day till
Night is falling,
However fair its dawn and noon
May be.
 Ofttimes at eventide come storms
Setting the lightning and the thunder free.

Thou shalt not blame the day till it is ending,
Though it has brought thee flood and hurricane.
Full oft at nightfall comes deep peace descending
In sunset gold and roses, glorious gain.

Praise each fair morn that calls thee up
from sleeping,
And through the hot day work with all thy might;
Then leave the evening hour in heaven's keeping,
Which sent both winter cloud and summer light.

—From the German of Gerok.

TRADE UNION BRIEFS.

The strike of the Yonkers street car men resulted in a victory for the union. The San Francisco Barbers' union has indorsed a measure which requires the examination and licensing of all barbers.

Eleven hundred ballots were cast at the last meeting of the San Francisco Riggers and Stevedores' union for officers who are to serve for the ensuing term.

The free employment bureau for unskilled migratory labor has been established in San Diego, Cal., under the auspices of the Federated Trades and Labor council.
