Just Some Smoke From the Great Sport Pipe

Bob Fitzsimmons was not slow in bestowing credit where it was due when he got back to Chicago. Those who saw the fight know what Billy Delaney did for the old man. He nursed Bob through the little question but for the sake of advice Delaney passed on Gardner would accept a dollar for his services, so when Fitzsimmons said: "It was the good, sound advice that Delaney gave me after the fifth round that steadied me and enabled me to go the limit. I was in terrible shape and his words always rang in my ears," he was only bestowing credit where it was due. But every fighter is not willing to do this.

"Connie Mack is up against a queer proposition for next season," writes one of the Athletics to a Milwaukee friend. "He has agreed to pay Rube Waddell $5000 for his work with the Athletics. That the Rube must pitch 40 games to get the money, and that as soon as the 40 games are pitched the Rube is free for the rest of the year. Well, you know Rube. He will make Connie's life a burden trying to get those 40 games in a hurry. He will hang around and offer to pitch every day, and when there's a double-header he'll insist on pitching both games. Just watch the fun next year when Rube is earning those $5000 bonus."

Joe Gans refused to box Jack Blackburn next week before the Washington Sporting club of Philadelphia. The claim is made that Blackburn is too tough a customer for a six-round bout. Blackburn is willing to meet Gans at 15 rounds, but wants the lightweight champion to get down to 135 pounds.

Jack Root thinks he can reverse the beating George Gardner gave him last Fourth of July at Fort Erie. He has challenged the Lowell boxer to meet him for any number of rounds before the club that will give a suitable purse.

Jack "Twin" Sullivan is looking for another match with "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien in the near future. He wants to meet O'Brien in Boston, where they can go 12 or 15 rounds, and says O'Brien will be compelled to make weight.

Manager Williams Then Would Be Satisfied with Life

The office boy supplies the following: "The other day I heard Williams singing. If I only knew the present bunch would make good, and sweat the ball with fierce and mighty licks; and pile up runs in six or seven figures so that the fans would cut out all the kids. If I only knew we'd clinched the long sought pennant; if Butte would only go way back to the mines; if we only earned a million in a season, then I know that I'd be satisfied with life."

Did it ever strike you that with the valuable assistance of Rully, who will act as field manager, Spokane should have a better team than last year?

Manager Williams intends to spring some new jogs on the bunch in a very short time—not such a joke, either, when it is considered it is a brand new player who is a cracklerjack. Several old faces will be seen on the new team as planned by Manager Williams.

Did anybody ever notice ex-Manager Garrett when you talk baseball? It's the hardest sort of a stunt for him to remain out of the game.

"Home Run" Joe Marshall is growing a mustache—don't look had, either. When the season opens it will be sacrificed along with Joe's complexion.

It's up to Charley Eisey to be in the finest kind of shape when the season opens up. He is now assisting Manager Patton in running the Coeur d'Alene alloys and his bowling keeps him in excellent trim for the baseball grind.

Ferris is still holding his own with the lawbook. He looks to be in trim to go into the game any day.

Nordyke is still here—getting a little fleshy is all, but Nordy can get rid of that in a few jumps around the block.

Hi-hat! This is a joke, you know. Billy Dammann, the favorite snout-paw of the Pacific National league, is on strike. Perhaps you don't know Billy belongs to the plumbers' union, but he does and is a good union man, at that.

Turkey is to Be Prey For Knights of the Pins

Turkeys will be the offering for the prize at the Christmas eve bowling matches at the Coeur d'Alene alloys. Many of the members of the club are looking forward especially to these some being so confident they will capture one of them they claim if they don't they will go without their Christmas dinner. Going without is all right, but that will do to tell.

Another Def Sent. And now there is a new light thrown on the proposed match between the Tumwaters and the Dutch Jakes. The latter now say that if the Tumwaters do not lose the scratch pretty soon and decide upon the date for the match at cocked hat they will issue an open challenge to play them with three men against five. Henry Seifert has not been heard from as yet. He is organizer of the Tumwaters.

Lou Bertonneau and Latham played a match game with Dutch Jake and Colonel Tom Smith last night. Both claim to have won out. Smith says Bertonneau don't play fair because he never knows when he will make a strike. "Ze zecretite, you know."

Championship Medal. Bowling for the solid gold medal offered by the Coeur d'Alene club will be commenced immediately. Fifty games are to be bowled by all who wish to place their averages as the high one winning the medal. The individual having the highest average for 50 games will be the winner of the medal and obtain the title of champion ten-pin bowler of the city and county. Anyone in the county may bowl for the medal if he chooses.

It looks as if Root and Jim Flynn are to get together again and that in the near future in Pueblo. The unsatisfactory ending of their last bout left Flynn's friends in doubt, and he wishes to try again. The contest will take place in Pueblo before the bowling club some time in January.

Lou M. Houseman had an additional proposition by agreeing to let Root meet Flynn and Morgan Williams on the same night. He asks that they each meet Root 10 rounds and with an hour's rest between the bouts.
