Candidates for Governor

Tomorrow is the day you should vote. The Press is an independent newspaper, it has no axes to grind, but hundreds of inquiries have been received by the Press asking which candidate for governor would be most likely to serve the people.

Albert E. Mead was nominated by a republican convention that was dominated by the Hill and Morgan railroads. Representatives of these roads practically caused his nomination.

George Turner was nominated by a democratic convention that was dominated by the Rockefeller and Harriman railroads. Representatives of these roads practically caused his nomination.

If you believe Rockefeller will do more for the State of Washington than Hill, then cast your vote for Turner.

If, on the other hand you believe Hill will do more for the State than Rockefeller, vote for Mead.

But do not get the foolish idea that either of these men favor a railroad commission for they do not.

If Turner is elected there will be no railroad commission.

If Mead is elected there will be no railroad commission. It is a case of heads they win; tails you lose.

The Coming of the Automobile

Is the horse to go? Is it possible that a rushing, tooting, man-maiming combination of steel and gasoline odor is to take the place of the noble animal that is not only admired but loved by humanity?

Perhaps not so bad as that, but the automobile is past the experimental stage, has become a useful and economical beast of burden, and in France, at least, is responsible for a decrease in the number of horses.

Figures just made public show that in France the number of automobiles has increased from 2897 to 12,984 in four years. In the same period there is a decrease of 22,000 in the number of horses and a decrease of over 200,000 in the number of horse-drawn vehicles.

And the popularity of the automobile is just begun. In the near future the public is to see it not so much as a racing machine or by means by which the rich can rid themselves of their money, but more than ever a utility.

Perhaps it may solve the problem of good roads. Centuries of horse using have left America with disgraceful public highways. Since the coming of power-propelled road vehicles there has been more agitation for proper roadways than ever before, and the entire country is bent on securing improvement.

It is not too much to expect that some day the farmer will carry his hay to market on an automobile; that the milkman will stop his gasoline vehicle at your door; that the bulk of the country products that are now hauled in clumsy wagons over humps and through ruts and sloughs, will eventually pass over macadam streets in autos more simple and efficient than any now in use.

And this will not be because of a fad, but for reasons of economy.

The automobile is no longer a fad, but a business convenience.

COMING RULER OF AUSTRALIA

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—The most talked of person throughout the dual empire at the present time is Archduke Francis Ferdinand, nephew of Emperor Francis Joseph and heir presumptive to the throne. Attempts are no longer made to conceal the fact that the venerable emperor is fast sinking, and that it is only a question of months and perhaps weeks before the Archduke will be called upon to ascend the throne of the Hapsburgs and take on the difficult task of maintaining order in the conglomerate empire and prevent it from falling asunder.

Put on Ayer's and be proud of your hair

A little pride is a good thing. Then why be contented with thin, scraggly hair? faded, gray hair? Put on Ayer's Hair Vigor and have long, thick hair; beautiful hair, without a single gray line in it. Keep young.

NEW YORK AWAITS RESULTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—New York, in common with the rest of the country, is on edge in anticipation of tomorrow's election. Never in the history of the metropolis has a national political campaign been followed with more intense interest or results more eagerly awaited than in the case of the campaign just closed, the wide spread talk of general apathy to the contrary notwithstanding.

moving forces of the campaign throughout the entire country have been directed from the political headquarters in this city. During the last month or six weeks, the heaviest oratorical artillery of both the democrats and republicans have been brought to bear on this city and state, and almost nightly Madison Square Garden, Carnegie Hall and other big meeting places of Greater New York have echoed with campaign oratory and the spouts of the enthusiastic partisans. To the lively interest manifested in the national campaign has been added the fierce intensity of the conflict for state offices, together with the oratorical henchmen of both parties, have been heard in various quarters of the metropolis, from Staten Island to the Bronx, stump speakers have been heard on every corner and bands and fireworks have been used to the limit.

Today all this campaign activity has ended and candidates and party managers are resting on their oars awaiting the results of the battle at the polls. The national committee headquarters are practically deserted, the leaders from out of town having departed for their homes to vote, leaving the local managers to finish the work and close up shop. Few of the leaders of authority or prominence could be found today to give a forecast of the results of the election. Those who were to be seen contented themselves with repeating the confident predictions which have emanated from headquarters for weeks past. The republican leader went over the same array of figures which prove to their satisfaction that Roosevelt will be re-elected by an overwhelming majority and that Higgins, the republican candidate for governor of New York, has a walk-over for the place. The same feeling of confidence in the result pervades the democratic atmosphere. Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, appears sure of Herrick's election to the governorship and says that all signs point to the election of Judge Parker to the presidency. But, as the New York Herald points out, the people will have to decide, and tomorrow will tell the tale.

CURED CONSUMPTION. Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said that he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago. Since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We can not do without it. For coughs and colds, it has no equal. 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Hargall & Co."

MARRIAGE OF FORMER KING

PARIS, Nov. 7.—A dispatch from Algiers says that Prince Hamngli, formerly king of Annam, and the daughter of Judge Laoh, the chief judicial officer of Algiers, announced of whose engagement was made some weeks ago were married today. The ceremony was performed by the archbishop of Algiers.

New York motormen object to taking jobs in the subway because they do not want to miss seeing the dogfights and shooting scrapes that take place in the streets. Now it is easier to understand how so many people get run over by the street cars in New York.

BEST LINIMENT ON EARTH. Henry D. Baldwin, superintendent city water works, Shullsburg, Wis., writes: "I have tried many kinds of liniment, but I have never received much benefit until I used Ballard's Snow Liniment for rheumatism and pains. I think it is the best liniment on earth. 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Hargall & Co."
