

"DOCTOR" FREDERIC BELL WANTS TO "LICK" PREACHER CRUZANS

"Dr." Frederic Bell, who announces himself as the pastor of "Humanity's church," is on the warpath. Either the "doctor" is real mad or else he hasn't achieved sufficient notoriety to bring in the shekels.

Up to a late hour neither the "doctor" nor the preacher had reached the firing line. Sunday the "doctor" is to also give a "plain, unvarnished talk" on "Modern Journalism" and he announces it will be "with special reference to the pencil pushers."

He declared Armour made $25,000,000 a year on traffic charges alone.

HABEAS CORPUS

(Scripps News Association.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Senator Patterson, Colorado, asked the supreme court today for permission to file an application for a writ of habeas corpus for Thomas Shepherd and Charles Miller, Denver election judges, now in jail for contempt for disobeying the injunction of the state supreme court. He argued the prisoners are held without due process of law.

ANTE-BELLUM COLLARS AND CUFFS

One of the prettiest fancies ushered in with the fashions of the late winter or very early spring, is the deep wide collars and cuffs of the ante-bellum days. These are worn both indoors and upon outside coats, and give a festive air to the plainest of costumes.

While the handsomest of these sets are of Irish lace, yet attractive ones are created out of mull and muslin. The collars are round in shape, and where the face is one that will stand it, are worn without any other collar. The cuffs are of the same depth as the collar, and turn back toward the elbow. Very beautiful sets are of Irish guipure, while the Irish crochet is also fashioned into these bits of feminine adornment.

The girl with the truly clever nimble fingers can concoct these bits of vanity with small expense. Muslin, that will launder should be chosen, and then dainty delicate lace should be used as a finishing touch. These may be used plain, or pleated.

The girl is indeed fortunate who, searching among the treasures of grandmother or grandaunt, discovers yellow aged collars and cuffs of this shape, embroidered long before the days of the rebelion. There are dozens upon dozens of such sets hidden carefully away, the pattern being simply round holes done long ago in the buttonhole stitch by busy fingers. The maiden who hunts up this old finery and has it tenderly bleached and laundered will have a set that will make her the envied of the envied among her feminine friends.

FAMOUS 3-CENT FARE FIGHT MAY END

Mayor Johnson's spectacular fight for 3c street car fare in Cleveland, hotly kept up for four years, is about to come to an end. Steps toward a compromise upon something like 4-cent fare have been taken.

HON. TOM L. JOHNSON.

The methods by which the mayor and the railway president have been got together and the method proposed for finally fixing the fare are as extraordinary as any other feature of the long fight. Tom L. Johnson had been for years one of the leading street railway magnates of the country, when, in the spring of 1901, he sold out all his interests, mostly in eastern cities, returned to his home and former field, Cleveland, announced his candidacy for mayor, and was elected by a large majority.

Senator Mark Hanna was a heavy holder of Cleveland street car stock, and the battle became one of giants. The fight got into the courts and into state politics. Every move of the mayor's was met with an injunction. But the time has come when the street railway company must ask extension of its franchise at the hands of Mayor Johnson's city council. President Andrews has held that nothing less than 5-cent fare could afford a profit and good service. Mayor Johnson has stood flat-footed for 3-cent fare. And thus they faced the crisis of expiring franchises.

At this point a Cleveland newspaper, "The Press," called upon Mayor Johnson to make the company a compromise proposition, and upon the company to receive the mayor's proposition not with flat refusal but with a fair experimental trial.

Mayor Johnson promptly responded through the "Press" with a proposal that 3-cent fare be actually tried on the line running through the most densely populated section of the city or that a general trial be made of the rate of fare "as advantageous to the public as a straight 4-cent fare."

President Andrews immediately accepted the overtures and asked permission from the city council to make a trial on 3-cent car fare in the more densely populated sections of the city.

Mayor Johnson agrees that if the test does not prove that lower fare so stimulates traffic as to afford profit and better service, he will publicly admit his error. President Andrews agrees that if the test results according to the mayor's expectation, he himself will gladly admit that he has been mistaken.

Medical Lake Salt Mfg. Co., Spokane, Wash.: Gentlemen—about a year ago I was troubled with inflammatory rheumatism in my feet and was compelled to go about with a cane, and suffered a great deal during that time. A gentleman told me of Medical Lake Salts, which he said were good for that disease. I tried the Salts for six days and found it to be successful. I bathed my feet once every night in hot water in which the salts had been dissolved and then wrapped my feet in woolen cloths. I did this for six days and on the sixth day was able to walk without a cane. I can recommend it to anyone for that purpose and appreciate the fact that it helped me. Yours truly, JNO. N. BLACKBURN, Room 9, Ricardo.

MOTORMAN EXONERATED

Coroner Witter and a jury held an inquest today at Smith's undertaking parlors over the body of little Alice Margaret Bonett, the little girl who was killed by a car of the Washington Water Power company last Friday.

The coroner summoned the following jury: A. C. Ware, W. S. Moore, E. J. Hyde, John W. Graham, G. L. Taft and A. H. Cramer. The jury returned a verdict of death by unavoidable accident and declared that blame attaches to no person or persons. The jury visited the scene of the accident and also went to St. Luke's hospital and took the testimony of Mrs. Christianson, who drove the buggy which was struck.

Mrs. Christianson testified that she was at fault in attempting to cross in front of the car. It appeared that she crossed safely after getting in the buggy and, finding some teams on the opposite side, made the attempt to recross the tracks.

The evidence presented to the coroner showed that Motorman F. B. Holland did all he could to stop the car. The funeral of the little girl will be held at Smith's parlors at 10 o'clock tomorrow.
